Allies Order Hegira in Mid-Winter

BY HENRY WALES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, Nov. 21—A forced mass migration of 12 million German men, women, and children this winter was agreed upon today by the four power control council. The shift involves 3½ million from Poland, 3¼ million from Czechoslovakia, Austria, and Hungary, and more than 5 million from East Prussia and other amputated areas of the reich.

Altho the Potsdam agreement envisaged the hegira next spring, agitation in the nations taking over the German territory to be rid of all Germans immediately, has forced the western allies to permit the gigantic transfer of population during the freezing winter months, despite a lack of fuel and the critical shortage of rolling stock with which to move them.

The program provides that 10 per cent of the people involved be moved in December, 5 per cent in January, 15 per cent in March, 20 per cent in May and June, and the balance in July.

U. S. Zone to Get 3,250,000

The American zone will receive 1,750,000 from Czechoslovakia and 1,500,000 from Hungary; the Russian zone will take 2,000,000 from Poland and 750,000 from Czechoslovakia; the British zone will admit 1,500,000 from Poland, and the French zone will take 150,000 from Austria.

Germans from East Prussia will be scattered thruout the four zones on a basis not yet decided.

The four powers will make the German "government" responsible for the physical condition and health of the deportees and for transporting, feeding, and lodging them in concentration camps at the various detraining points along the zonal boundaries.

Valued at 5 Billions

The United States made the first allied contribution toward the reparations pool today by surrendering to its war partners the I. G. Farben industry, the largest single industrial organization in Germany with the bulk of its manufacturing plants located inside the American zone.

The Farben holdings have an estimated value of 5 billion dollars and the various factories are to be dynamited or dispersed and shipped to Russia or allocated to the British, French, and other allied reparations claimants.

7 Cars Pile Up as Auto Is Hit in Snowstorm

Appleton, Wis., Nov. 21 [Special]—An eight coach Chicago and North Western passenger train, north bound from Milwaukee and crowded with passengers trying to reach their homes for the Thanksgiving holiday, piled up after hitting an automobile at a grade crossing near here tonight, killing two persons and injuring 47.

The locomotive, tender, and one coach overturned and two other coaches broke loose and plunged into a fence along the right of way. Four of the remaining five coaches left the rails but remained upright.

Those killed were two of three occupants of the automobile, which skidded onto the rails in a blinding snowstorm.

Two of Three in Car Killed

The injured were taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital here, where it was said one of the train passengers may die and that several have serious injuries, including fractures and cuts.

The dead were Forrest Jabas of Appleton and his son-in-law, M. A. Wichman, also of Appleton. Mrs. Wichman, found at the scene of the wreck in a dazed condition, said she had been in the automobile with her husband and father at the time of the crash, but had been thrown from the car by the impact. She was uninjured but suffering from shock.

Slides on Icy Highway

Mrs. Wichman said they were returning from a trip into the country where they had purchased chickens for their Thanksgiving dinner. She said her father was driving and that the windshield was covered with ice and sleet. He tried to stop the car at the crossing, she said, but the car slid on the icy highway and halted in the path of the train.

Hospital authorities said the most seriously injured among the passengers is a sailor, Gerald St. Peter, who was en route to Escanaba, Mich., from Great Lakes. He suffered a head injury and has been unconscious since the crash, it was said.

Several Milwaukeeans Injured

Several of those injured were from Milwaukee and others were residents of northern Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan.

Several cadet nurses who were passengers on the train assisted in caring for the injured.

Scores of uninjured passengers spent the night in Appleton on cots set up in hotels. An emergency bus service was established to take others to Green Bay.

Railroad officials said the train had been made up in Milwaukee and was one of two sections of train No. 209, running from Milwaukee to Ishpeming, Mich.

ARMY ASKS GI's DEPORTATION AS SUSPECTED SPY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP) — The army announced tonight it had recommended deportation to Germany of Sgt. Frederick Emil Bauer, held at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., on suspicion of espoinage.

Sgt. Frederick Bauer

Investigation has shown, said a war department statement, that Bauer was a member of the German army sent to the United States on an espionage mission. He enlisted in the United States army in May, 1942.

The department said no acts of espionage were committed by Bauer, and no criminal action against him would be practical.

Bare Convict's HouseboyRole in Death Probe

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 21 [Special] — A surprise disclosure that New Mexico's state police chief has been using a Negro convict as a houseboy featured the inquest today into Monday's slaying of socially prominent Mrs. Leon G. Kennedy Jr.

State Police Chief Frank Young is a tenant in the apartment building where the Kennedys lived and where the slaying took place, it was revealed, and the Negro, supposedly on duty as a porter at state police headquarters in the capacity of a prison trusty, was actually working in the apartment building without supervision at the time of the slaying.

Mrs. Kennedy's body was found Monday night in her bathroom with evidence indicating she had been stabbed to death after an attempt at rape.

Rushed from Prison

The Negro, Louis Young, 44, of Houston, Tex., who since July, 1941, has been serving a 10 year burglary term in the state penitentiary here, was rushed from the prison and placed on the stand after his presence in the apartment building Monday afternoon was disclosed in the testimony of Mrs. Frank Flanagan, also a tenant in the building.

Questioned for more than an hour, Louis Young admitted he had become familiar with the apartment house while working there as a house servant for Chief Young, who acknowledged after the hearing that he had used the convict as a servant. This is against New Mexico law.

In his testimony, the convict said he had often earned money for himself by hiring out to other tenants for odd jobs. He denied he had been in Mrs. Kennedy's apartment Monday but said he had worked for her in her apartment on four previous occasions.

Considered Important

Authorities attached importance to this testimony because of the presence in the apartment at the time of the slaying of the Kennedys' Scottie dog, an animal with a local reputation for unfriendliness to strangers. Officers had said previously they could not understand how the slaying could have taken place without the dog raising a disturbance.

The convict, Young, said that Monday afternoon he accepted a job from Mrs. Flanagan to wax the floors of her apartment. He began work at 1 p. m. and after working for "about two hours" returned to Chief Young's apartment, he testified. All apartments in the building are on one floor.

Mrs. Flanagan said Louis Young had left the apartment when she returned from a shopping trip about 2:35 p. m. Before entering her own apartment, she said, she noticed that the door of Mrs. Kennedy's apartment was open and went in and called to her but got no answer. She did not look in the bathroom.

The slain woman's husband, head bookkeeper in the First National bank, testified his wife was alive at 2 p. m. because he talked to her on the telephone. He said he tried to phone her an hour later but got no answer.

Investigation of the slaying was spurred tonight by discovery of a knife with which Assistant District Attorney Bert Clancy said Mrs. Kennedy was slain. The prosecutor announced the find in a statement which said the weapon had been turned over to state police and that "beyond this fact, there is nothing new we can give out."

The state police announced they have forwarded to the laboratory of the federal bureau of investigation in Washington, D. C., 33 exhibits found in the Kennedy apartment. These include bits of hair clutched in the dead woman's hands.

GEN. PATCH, LEADER OF 7TH ARMY IN DRIVE ON GERMANY, IS DEAD

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 21 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch Jr., 55, commander of the 7th army in its drive thru France and Germany and commander of the 4th army at Fort Sam Houston, died of pneumonia tonight in Brooke General hospital. He was admitted to the hospital Nov. 14. At his bedside when death came at 8:10 p. m. were his wife, his daughter, Julia, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alexander M. Patch III., whose husband was killed in action in France.

Sail 7,000 Mi. to Florida in 47 Foot Boat

Miami Beach, Fla., Nov. 21 (AP)—Capt. Kou Walter, his wife, and three children, and his crew of one dropped anchor in Biscayne bay today after sailing 7,000 miles from Sweden in a yawl one-third the tonnage of Columbus' smallest ship. The voyage took five months.

Walter, 38, with the aid of Mihkel Kovamees, 54, an old friend and retired sea captain, handled the 47 foot, 15 ton sailboat on the Atlantic crossing.

His wife, Clarissa, 32, took charge of the galley with its miniature cookstove—and the three children: Helme, 9 months, Aloha, 10, and Maia, 9.

No Auxiliary Power

The trip started at Stockholm where the family and "crew" stowed foodstuffs, mostly canned, aboard the yawl, which has no auxiliary power and provides less space than a modern trailer.

Passage from European ports was booked a year in advance, and the Walters couldn't wait that long—so they set out in June on their own for the long trip via England and the Madeira islands.

Only "event" of the voyage, Walter insisted, was being becalmed two weeks.

Eat Flying Fish

"That was comical," he grinned. "That was on the last part of the trip and the trade winds usually blow."

When lack of refrigeration and a steady diet of canned food made the menu monotonous, the six seafarers varied their diet with flying fish.

"The light would attract them and before they saw their mistake it was too late to alter their course," Walter explained.

The fish weren't exactly fine eating, he admitted, but were too handy to be ignored.

The Walters set their course for Miami Beach for a very good reason: A reunion with his brother, Ahto Walter, for the first time in 10 years.

Worker Killed in Blast and Fire at Ford Plant

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 21 (AP)—An unidentified workman was killed and four other employes and a fireman injured tonight when an explosion and fire damaged a unit of the Ford Motor company's Highland Park plant. Police and company officials said the explosion, cause of which was undetermined, severely damaged the one story building housing the company's synthetic leather department. Firemen found the workman's body in the wreckage.

Terms Transit Line Walkout Blow to Government

Food Supplies Periled

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Nov. 21 [Reuters] — D. S. Senayake, leader of the Ceylon state council, said today that the strike of harbor workers had reached a stage where he might have to halve food rations, "otherwise some people will starve." Vital foodstuffs remained unloaded due to the strike [for better pay and conditions], Senayake said.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP)—The government took over strike paralyzed street car and bus lines in the capital today and President Truman denounced the walkout as a blow "at the very roots of orderly government."

The President, saying that the walkout by some 3,000 AFL unionists violated a no strike clause in the contract between the union and the Capital Transit company, asserted:

"The federal government will not permit this kind of action to interfere with its processes either in the capital or any part of the nation."

Sees Blow at Labor

The President's statement said that the strike "is a blow at the sanctity of labor agreements. . . . The action of this union brings discredit on the whole body of organized labor which naturally decries any violation of sacred covenants."

The statement added:

"The strike now in effect by the members of division 689 of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway, and Motor Coach Employes of America has been called for the second time during this month in violation of a formal written agreement between the union and the employer.

"The present agreement does not expire until June 30, 1946. It provides for arbitration of any disputes, and guarantees that service upon the transportation lines of the district shall not be interrupted or interfered with by either party during the life of the contract.

"The effect of the strike is to tie up all transportation at the seat of government and thereby prevent efficient and normal operation of the agencies of government during the vital reconversion period."

Asks Strikers to Return

The office of defense transportation was directed by the President to take over the transit system and operate it, with any assistance from the army that might be necessary. Under the Smith-Connally act, any one promoting a strike in a government operated facility is liable to fine or imprisonment.

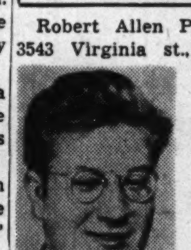
GARY HIGH STUDENT KILLS HIMSELF IN OFFICE OF SCHOOL

Robert Allen Parker Jr., 17, of 3543 Virginia st., Gary, Ind., described by fellow students as moody and of the "lonely type," shot and killed himself yesterday while alone in the nurse's office in Emerson High school, Gary.



Robert Allen Parker

His body was found by Lois Nelson, 16, of 701 Connecticut st., and Virginia Claypool, 16, of 368 Madison st., students, who assist the nurse, when they entered her office at 2 p. m. Parker had been shot thru the head, and a .25 caliber automatic revolver was at his side.

Parker was in his senior year and was a good student in his classes and in R. O. T. C. School associates said that while Parker remained alone much of the time, he still seemed to seek recognition.

Parker was the only son of a Gary steel mill worker. Police were told he had attended the Lake county, Indiana, mental hygiene clinic for psychiatric examination. This had been recommended by the school psychologist.

APPROVE BILLS FOR PENALTY IN OUTLAW STRIKES

BY LAURENCE BURD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21—Aroused by nation-wide protests against the growing waves of strikes, the house rules committee moved swiftly today to impose stiff penalties on labor unions calling unauthorized strikes and/or engaging in "racketeering" in restraint of trade.

Rep. Sabath

Over futile protests from Chairman Sabath [D., Ill.], the rules body cleared these two bills for floor consideration by the house:

1. A new labor disputes measure that would deprive unions ordering walkouts in violation of no-strike contracts of all bargaining rights for one year. The bill, which abolishes the present federal plant seizure and strike vote statutes, would also tighten restrictions against political contributions by unions and their affiliates.

Amends Racketeering Law

2. A bill making interference with interstate commerce by "robbery or extortion" punishable by fine and imprisonment. An amendment to the present "anti-racketeering" law, it would prohibit unions from setting up territories and exacting tribute from nonmembers trying to do business in the area, as in the case of truckers.

Both measures were cleared on 6-2 votes by the rules group, as the house floor erupted with denunciations of mounting strikes and charges they have been "fomented" by the Democratic administration's "coddling" of labor leaders.

Sabath said after the meeting the bills may be called up for a house vote next week.

Assails Do-Nothingness

Chairman Sabath pleaded with his group today to pigeonhole the anti-strike bill until the President's labor-management conference here is completed. But other committee members were in no mood to wait.

"The Goons have got the country by the tail," Rep. Cox [D., Ga.] shouted at Sabath. "It is up to congress to act."

"You ask congress to wait and do nothing," Rep. Michener [R., Mich.] told Sabath, "but labor leaders are respecting no truce. In the midst of a conference called to settle differences, union leaders have called one of the biggest strikes in history."

Time for Action

"The labor-management conferences degenerated into a squabble between two union factions," said Rep. Arends [R., Ill.], author of the anti-strike bill. "It is time somebody did something to get the nation back to work."

The Arends anti-strike bill pro-

NAVY ANNOUNCES ADDITIONAL SLASH IN RELEASE POINTS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP)—The navy announced today the point score discharge of most enlisted men will be reduced from 41 to 38 on Dec. 1.

On Dec. 15, the score will be lowered to 37 and on Jan. 1 to 36. The navy estimated the cuts will make approximately 150,000 additional men eligible for release. Previously, the navy had announced plans to reduce the score to 39 on Dec. 1 and 38 on Jan. 1.

Certain specialists such as key punchers and shore patrolmen are not affected by the change. In addition, no reduction of scores beyond that previously announced for Dec. 1 and Jan. 1 will be made for enlisted men in the following ratings: Water tenders, except water tenders [CB]; machinist's mates, except machinist's mates [CB]; chief commissary stewards, and ship's cooks and bakers.

Vice Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval personnel, announced the navy's demobilization schedule calls for the release of approximately 1,200,000 personnel by Jan. 1.

Nearly 200,000 Out in Auto Shutdown Thruout Nation

LIST OF STRIKES

Turn to page 2 for a summary of the principal strikes now in progress in the United States. On page 3 is a story on the Chicago telephone strike and on page 2 is a story on the threatened strike of Montgomery Ward employes.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 21 (AP)—The federal government tonight sought a solution to the wage dispute which led to a strike of nearly 200,000 General Motors corporation employes today.

The action came as Walter Reuther, vice president of the CIO United Auto Workers, told a press conference that 96 per cent of G. M.'s industrial empire was shut down tight as a result of the walkout at 11 a. m. today.

"The other 4 per cent is under consideration," Reuther added, but he did not amplify the remark.

General Motors spokesmen reported 175,000 production employes were out on strike but would not hazard a guess as to how many of the 73,500 salaried workers were idle because of picket lines or other causes connected with the strike.

U. S. Aid Asks Meeting

Reuther confirmed reports that John Gibson, special assistant to Labor Secretary Schwellenbach, had requested a meeting with union officials here Friday to review the strike situation.

Earlier reports from Washington indicated Gibson, a former president of the Michigan CIO council, had been empowered to arrange separate meetings with the union and company to seek resumption of negotiations on wage differences.

Company officials said they had not been approached regarding the meeting.

The Washington reports said Gibson was to return there Friday to give Schwellenbach a first hand report on the strike which hit General Motors plants in 20 states today. Some sources indicated company and UAW representatives would be summoned to Washington to confer with high government officials.

Reuther told his press conference that "nearly 325,000 General Motors workers would be affected by this strike." The UAW official said 160,000 had been listed as eligible to cast ballots in the strike vote which the national labor relations board recently took at G. M.

Many Thousands Added

"That was at the start of the reconversion period, and G. M. has added many thousands since then," he asserted.

Asked if the union, which called the strike to support its demands for 30 per cent wage rate increases, could support a strike "until November, 1946," Reuther replied:

"We will travel the road to the bitter end. We're right and when you're right you can afford to go the whole way. General Motors can not break the union."

Both Reuther and company officials listed the Meriden, Conn., ball bearing unit as the only one of 75 G. M. plants covered by UAW contracts which was not closed by today's walkout.

Union officials said the Connecticut unit was represented by an AFL union until a month ago and that there had not been sufficient time for them to take part in a strike vote held in G. M. plants. The strike was indorsed by a large majority.

General Motors spokesmen said production workers at three small non-union G. M. plants at Rochester, N. Y., Lima, O., and Ionia, Mich., were not affected by the walkout.

In addition, 25,000 G. M. employes, affiliated with the CIO United Electrical workers were not involved, tho they have separate wage demands pending before the company.

G. M. said these workers are employed at: Delco products and Delco appliance plants, Dayton, O.; Delco-Remy at Yellow Springs, O.; Packard Electric at Warren, O., and Frigidaire at Dayton, O.

Calls Attention to Letters

The management directed attention to the fact that nearly a month ago it had sent letters to salaried workers urging them not to "force your way" into the plants "or expose yourself to violence in any way." It added that pay checks would be mailed to the salaried employes' homes on regular pay days.

The letter to salaried workers said that "irreparable damage to our business" would result from a prolonged strike.

George Romney, general manager of the Automobile Manufacturers association, in a statement late today said:

"Despite the reliance of all automobile companies on General Motors for vital parts and the absence of normal parts supply banks and flexibility of parts sources, each maker will struggle to continue production as long as current strikes will permit.

"None will quit until forced to stop by lack of parts and inability to find alternate sources."

Weekly Loss 27 Million

Romney said that the "economic effects of the present strikes can only be fully measured in terms of loss in wages, loss in purchasing power, and prosperity.

"On this basis, when the full effect of current strikes is reflected, the weekly loss in workers' wages will approximate 27 million dollars a week; loss in purchasing power will total 110 million dollars a week; loss in passenger car and truck production will be in excess of 110,000 units a week.

"Consequently the workers cannot win, the country cannot win. Only a power hungry clique of union leaders, with short sighted disregard of their members' welfare and the public's interests, stand to gain—and their goal is greater accumulation and concentration of personal power."

The start of the long threatened walkout boosted to more than half million the national total of workers off the job because of labor troubles in nearly every field of industry in the country. The highest total previously was 550,000 on Oct. 6 at the height of the big miners' strike.

There were no reports of violence in any of the G. M. walkouts.

The strike, bringing to grips the world's largest labor union and the nation's largest operating corporation, was the most far reaching since the sitdown strikes of 1937 in which union recognition was the issue.

4 Million Strike Fund

Industry spokesmen previously had said that if the strike continued for a week all but one automobile manufacturer [presumably Ford] would be compelled to close and that nearly three-quarters of a million workers in the motor car and allied industries would be affected.

R. J. Thomas, UAW-CIO president, asserted the union had a $4,000,000 strike fund, and other union officials intimated additional funds would be forthcoming from the CIO if needed.

The UAW-CIO struck the scores of G. M. plants with unexpected suddenness, after weeks of negotiations. The strike order went out after General Motors informed the UAW-CIO yesterday that it would reply "on or before Friday" to a union proposal for arbitration of the dispute. The union had demanded a reply by 4 p. m. Tuesday.

The union proposal had included a stipulation that any wage increase resulting from arbitration should be made within the corporation's present price structure.

Because Reuther, heading the negotiations with General Motors, has insisted the union wanted no wage increase that involved higher product prices, that point had come to be regarded as almost as much of an issue as the wage increase demand.

The corporation, with equal insistence, has maintained that product prices were not properly a subject for discussion in the wage negotiations.

According to union estimates the average General Motors production worker has been earning from $1.12 to $1.15 an hour; the 30 per cent rate increase, the union asserts, would raise the figure from $1.12 up to $1.46 an hour. General Motors figures place the average wage at $1.18 an hour, which would be boosted to $1.53 by the increase.

In Michigan Gov. Harry F. Kelly informed State Police Commissioner Oscar G. Olander the right of the strikers to picket must be respected, as long as they do so peacefully.

Building service employes of the General Motors administration building, whom the UAW-CIO claims as members, were urged by the union to remain on their jobs of running elevators and other work.

The UAW-CIO has begun wage negotiations with Chrysler corporation and the Ford Motor company, which, with General Motors, constitute the car industry's "big three." These account for approximately 85 per cent of the nation's automobile business.

4,000 AT ILLINOIS DIESEL PLANT JOIN STRIKE; POST PICKETS

On detailed instructions from Joseph Mattson, regional director of the UAW-CIO, more than 4,000 employes of the day shift at the Electro-Motive division of General Motors at McCook, Ill., near LaGrange, filed out of the huge plant shortly after 10 a. m. yesterday. They had started work at 7:30 a. m. The plant makes diesel motors for locomotives.

Pickets were immediately placed at all plant gates by Local 719 of UAW, who had instructions from Mattson to allow only specified maintenance and power house employes to enter the plant. Also to be allowed to go to work are specified office employes, especially those who have the job of making up payrolls, Mattson said.

Shortly before 4 p. m., when the night shift was scheduled to go to work, a few hundred of the 3,500 normally employed on that shift, who apparently did not know that the strike had been called, arrived at the plant gates but left when they saw the picket lines.

Other plants in Mattson's union jurisdiction which closed down on his orders yesterday are the Fisher and Chevrolet plants at Janesville, Wis., where he said nearly 3,000 persons left their jobs, and General Motors' service parts warehouses at Des Moines, Ia., and Minneapolis, Minn., with about 60 workers employed at each plant.

DIES OF FALL INJURIES

Jack Guarino, 59, an architect, died yesterday in Mother Cabrini hospital of a skull fracture suffered earlier in the day when he fell near his home at 1625 Kenilworth av., Berwyn.

COMMANDO PLAY IN BATHROOM IS FATAL TO BOY, 13

John W. McCarthy, 13, of 4933 Wolfram st., was choked to death last night, apparently by accident, while practicing commando tactics in the bathroom of his home. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F., were attending a wedding.

When his sisters, Jeanette, 17, and Mary, 15, heard a thud and were unable to enter the locked bathroom or to get a response, they notified neighbors and the fire department. The boy was found lying partly in the tub. He had tied his hands between his legs with stockings and had fastened a tie about his neck and around a shower curtain rod.

The rod apparently had collapsed under his weight when he slipped and fell.

CIO UNION CALLS STRIKE OF 78,000 WARD EMPLOYES

Week Long Tieup to Start Monday

BY GEORGE HARTMANN

A strike demonstration which will begin Monday and last one week at all Montgomery Ward & Co. properties where the United Retail, Wholesale, and Department Store Employes union [CIO] is the certified bargaining agent was announced yesterday by the union's officials.

Leonard Levy, vice president of the union, said 8,000 Ward employes in Chicago would be affected and that "nearly 70,000 other Ward employes will be involved thruout the nation."

Avery Replies to Offer

Samuel Wolchok, New York, president of the union, declared the union would call off the strike "if Avery [Sewell L. Avery, chairman of the board of Ward's] accepts the union proposals mailed to him last Friday." He referred to the union's offer to drop its demands for the closed shop and dues checkoff if Ward would arbitrate other parts of the union's demands.

Stuart Ball, chief counsel for the company, yesterday made known Avery's reply to Wolchok, which was mailed yesterday. In it Avery termed the union's offer as "designed to mislead the public. The closed shop has been the real issue between Ward and your union for the last eight years. It remains the real issue today."

Avery denied Wolchok's charge that the company's opposition to the closed shop is a "smoke screen" and voiced opposition to the union's proposal of arbitration of certain points of the contract.

Cites Ward's Responsibility

"If the union and Ward cannot reach an agreement," Avery added, "no true accord can come thru the decision of a third party. . . . The decision is our responsibility and we must carry it. . . . If the union strikes, it will not be because of any reluctance on Ward's part to sign a fair contract with the union."

Levy said Avery's assertion that he is prepared to enter into a "fair" contract "is false, misleading, and a complete distortion of the performances of his negotiators."

Michael Mann, secretary of the Chicago CIO Industrial Union council, said the council would assign pickets in the Ward strike in Chicago.

APPROVE BILLS FOR PENALTY ON OUTLAW STRIKES

vides that in the event of a work stoppage during the life of a contract with a no-strike clause the employer shall be relieved of all obligations under the contract and the union responsible shall lose its bargaining status for one year.

Provides Prison Terms

It also prohibits, under maximum penalties of a $1,000 fine and a year in prison, political contributions by union affiliates as well as unions themselves. This is directed at eliminating from politics Sidney Hillman's CIO political action committee, which claimed a large part in electing the Roosevelt-Truman ticket last year.

The new anti-racketeering bill, authored by Rep. Hobbs [D., Ala.], is directed at eliminating unions' exaction of tribute of a type sanctioned by the United States Supreme court in a case involving truck deliveries to New York City.

The local teamsters' union in New York refused to permit trucks hauling merchandise from neighboring states to enter the city without payment of financial tribute. The high court held such a practice was not banned by present law. The Hobbs bill would make it punishable by penalties up to 20 years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both.

Public Ambulance Service Urged by Welfare Group

The board of directors of the Council of Social Agencies of Chicago yesterday urged a public emergency ambulance service for the city in its monthly meeting in the Standard club. The board adopted a resolution recommending that the city council and the Cook county commissioners take action to provide such service in the city.

PHONE WALKOUT IN FOURTH DAY AS PARLEY FAILS

Picket Lines Are Set Up in Outlying Areas

A special conference attended by telephone company and union spokesmen and federal and state conciliators and held in an attempt to end the long distance telephone operators' strike broke up at midnight last night with company and union as far apart as before, and the walkout entering its fourth day.

On strike are 8,900 members of the Illinois Telephone Traffic union in Chicago, downstate Illinois, and two Indiana counties. Only emergency long distance calls are being handled.

Last night's meeting was held in the federal conciliation offices at 222 W. Adams st. Reports were that the company "had something to offer." At the end of the parley Edwin B. Hackett, union lawyer, said the company had offered nothing new and that the strike would continue.

Principals at Conference

Principals at the parley were Robert M. Pilkington of Indianapolis, Ind., chairman of the federal conciliation panel; Robert L. Gordon, Illinois director of labor; L. N. Jones, general solicitor for the Illinois Bell Telephone company; Atty. Hackett, and Mrs. Anne Benscoter, president of the striking union.

Yesterday's developments saw picketing lines established at 27 outlying telephone exchanges, in the suburbs, and in downstate communities. The union claimed more company workers were refusing to cross picket lines, but the company claimed its service was improving.

Lose $222,000 in Wages

The company said that as of the close of business yesterday, striking operators and their sympathizers had lost $222,000 in wages, an increase of $92,000 over the previous day's figure.

Three of 10 operators who provide bedside long distance service to patients in the Great Lakes naval training center hospital, returned to work yesterday, the company said.

In Moline, 45 telephone maintenance and repairmen refused to cross picket lines maintained by toll operators, who paraded before company offices in Moline, Rock Island, and East Moline, with only umbrellas to shelter them from a driving snow.

Evanston Dentist's Wife Granted Divorce Decree

Mrs. Lucille Robbins was granted a final decree of divorce from Dr. E. G. Robbins, Evanston dentist, in Superior court yesterday. She charged cruelty. The Robbinses were married in 1926 and separated early this year. They have no children. Under the terms of the decree, Mrs. Robbins receives the residence at 2324 Lawndale av. She was represented by Atty. Edward A. Sinden.

MISS FRANCES BALTZELL

Miss Frances Baltzell, 18, of 6641 Ellis av., blonde and brown eyed, last night was named queen of the interfraternity ball at the University of Chicago.

Nine World War II. veterans, representing the nine active fraternities of the university's campus made the selection and announced it at the ball in the Shoreland hotel last night thru their chairman, Peter Gunnar, a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Miss Baltzell is in her third year at the university and is a pledge in the Sigma club. She was attended at the ball by a court of eight girls and was escorted by Dr. Max Biggs of Beta Theta Pi.

JAIL 55 PICKETS AND 2 UNION AIDS IN AFL STRIKE

Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 21 (AP)—Fifty-five union pickets and two union officials were arrested here today in connection with the seven week old strike at General Electric company's Ken-Rad plant.

The arrests followed a reported disturbance today at the picket line around the plant where 2,200 employes have been on strike since Oct. 9. The strike was called by the AFL United Automobile workers.

The two union officials are Peter G. Noll of Cincinnati, O., regional director of the AFL, and Morris Weintraub of Newport, Ky., attorney for the union and newly elected state house of representatives member.

The 55 pickets were charged with breach of the peace after they allegedly tried to prevent workers from entering the Ken-Rad plant.

PICKETS KEEP 60 WORKERS OF FOOD FIRM IDLE

Sixty employes of Wyler & Co., food manufacturers at 1050 Fullerton av., were prevented from working yesterday by a picket line organized by members of local 738, Grocery and Food Producers union [AFL].

Bernard Nath, attorney for the company, said the picket line was established in an effort to organize the firm's employes; that a similar attempt three years ago failed.

Meanwhile, Western Union members of local 1, Commercial Telegraphers union [AFL], were receiving by mail ballots for a strike vote supervised by the national labor relations board. The ballots must be returned by Nov. 30.

TRUMAN ORDERS TRANSIT LINE IN CAPITAL SEIZED

ing shortly after the ODT took control and asked the strikers to resume work. Officials forecast that tomorrow's holiday schedules would be met and that service would be normal on Friday.

The union issued no immediate comment on Mr. Truman's statement.

Half Million Affected

The strike, the second here this month, started at 3 a. m. today. It affected more than 300,000 government workers and 200,000 other persons who use the street cars and buses daily.

Thousands of these brought their private cars into the downtown section, snarling traffic. Other thousands had to walk long distances or thumb rides to work, and use the same means of getting home.

A similar strike Nov. 5 was ended the following day when a "truce" was agreed upon for continuance of negotiations. The truce was to have run until midnight tonight.

Last midnight, however, the workers at a mass meeting booed down a proposal of labor department conciliators for arbitration, and the walkout followed. The company had agreed to the arbitration proposal and union negotiators also accepted it subject to approval of the rank and file.

Demand 30 Per Cent Boost

The workers are demanding a pay increase of 30 cents an hour, which would bring their base pay to $1.25 an hour. The company offered $1.02 an hour with a stipulation for a 48 hour week.

FLAGSHIP HOME FROM ITS FIRST LONDON FLIGHT

Flying Time to Chicago 20 Hrs., 47 Min.

Winging thru gusts of snow, the American Airlines flagship Chicago settled down at Chicago airport at 9:40 o'clock last night, completing her first regularly scheduled passenger flight between Chicago and London. The flagship left Chicago Monday morning.

Only three of the 15 passengers who boarded the plane at 12:55 p. m. Tuesday [Chicago time] at Hurn airport in England were aboard when the plane reached Chicago. The others debarked in New York, an unscheduled stop necessitated by weather conditions which compelled the ship to land at Goose Bay, Labrador, instead of Gander, Newfoundland, where a relief crew was waiting to bring the flagship into Chicago. The original crew flew it to New York.

Three Make Complete Trip

The three passengers still aboard were Frank L. Schlagle, 52, superintendent of schools at Kansas City, Mo., who had been in London attending an allied nations conference on education; C. A. Van Wankum of Rotterdam, European general manager for the Fjell steamship line, and a Chicago newspaper man.

They were conducted to an office where their passports were examined by Marcus T. Neely, chief of operations of the Chicago office of the immigration and naturalization service, and their baggage was checked by Frank M. Smolek, deputy collector of customs.

The ship also carried a shipment of 15 cashmere sweaters consigned to a loop department store.

Flights Every Monday

Elapsed time for the flight was 32 hours and 45 minutes. Actual flying time was 20 hours and 47 minutes. The first stop was at Shannon airport, in Ireland, at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday. The plane left at 3:45 p. m.; arrived at Meeks field, Iceland, at 8:32 p. m., and left at 9:45 p. m.; arrived at Goose Bay at 4:35 a. m. and left at 6:42 a. m.; arrived at New York airport at 11:58 a. m., and left at 5:25 p. m.

Similar flights will leave Chicago every Monday at 9:45 a. m., American Airlines said, with a scheduled return arrival at 6:15 p. m. Wednesday. The company said that more than 15 applications for reservations for next week's London plane have been received.

The crew which brought the plane from New York included Capt. James Y. Craig, John D. Lynn Jr., first officer, and Margaret Kerin, stewardess.

325th Mayflower Compact Anniversary Is Observed

The 325th anniversary of the signing of the Mayflower compact by the Pilgrim fathers was celebrated last evening at a banquet given by the Illinois members of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants in the Blackstone hotel. Seventy-nine persons were present. Charles P. Megan, former president of the Chicago Bar association, was the principal speaker. His topic was "Something the Mayflower Brought." The Rev. William Brewster Stoskopf, governor of the society, presided.

RED NAVY OFFICERS REACH IRISH BASE SEEKING 10 U-BOATS

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland, Nov. 21 (AP)—A party of soviet naval officers has arrived in Londonderry with the announced intention of taking over for Russia 10 of the 60 German submarines lying here. The submarines here are the largest and most modern types.

In London, a foreign office spokesman said President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Generalissimo Stalin agreed at Potsdam to divide a small number of German submarines among their nations "for experimental purposes." The spokesman said each was to get "about a dozen" U-boats.

A three nation naval commission has been meeting in Berlin to settle details of the allocation of the German navy. The foreign office said a joint announcement could be expected soon from Washington, D. C., London, and Moscow.

MEN OF 51 LANDS TO SEE CHICAGO FILM BID FOR UNO

BY WILLIAM FULTON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 21—A Chicago committee seeking to obtain the permanent headquarters of the united nations organization for Chicago's lake front, continued conferences with representatives of foreign governments today.

Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel of the city of Chicago, said there would be a reception on Friday and a showing of a special motion picture telling Chicago's story. The film was brought here by air by James M. Cleary. It is hoped to show this picture to every member of the delegation of 51 countries coming here for the session of the united nations preparatory commission which will convene on Saturday.

Tribune Lends a Hand

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE thru its photographic facilities in London has obtained photostat copies of the projected plan for permanent headquarters of the new world organization on Northerly Island, the old world fair site in Chicago. Committee members had been unable to get the job done speedily by London printing companies. The copies will be distributed among foreign representatives.

Mayor Kelly of Chicago, who arrived in England yesterday by plane, said, "Leave it to the boys in the American armed forces where the headquarters should be and they will all vote for Chicago."

Trip to Ireland Unlikely

Tomorrow Kelly will tour London and survey the housing situation with British officials. Later, he will attend the American Thanksgiving day celebration of the American and British Commonwealth association. He was still trying to arrange a trip to Ireland but his limited time makes the visit doubtful. Monday, Kelly will dine as a guest of Charles Davis, lord mayor of London.

OWN DOCUMENTS WILL CONVICT 20 NAZIS: JACKSON

Planned War on America in 1940, He Says

BY HAL FOUST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 21—Heretofore secret German documents, some of them sensational, are included in evidence that America will begin to present to the international war crimes tribunal in the trial of 20 surviving leaders of the Nazi party.

As its share in the prosecution, the United States intends to prove that the nazi regime's pre-war subjugation of the German people, its persecutions and terrorism, followed by military invasions of neighbors with mass enslavements, mass murders and atrocities were all part of a conspiracy for conquest.

The prosecution will introduce evidence tending to show that Germany as early as March 5, 1941, was aiding Japan in preparing for its Pacific war. Other German documents indicate that Hitler in the fall of 1940 was studying a plan to occupy Atlantic islands as bases for a war against America at a later date.

To Submit Films, Documents

At the opening of tomorrow's session Col. Robert Storey of Dallas, Tex., chief of the United States trial panel, will present evidence to authenticate the captured films and documents.

The United States program for the prosecution of the first count in the indictment was outlined today by Justice Robert H. Jackson in a four hour address. He described America's attitude toward the German people as being neither hateful nor fearful but as appreciative of their plight as the first victims of the Nazis. He admitted the tribunal is a juridical experiment and novelty, but lauded it as a potential instrument to protect world peace.

Noose for Killer

[Associated Press Wirephotos]

Sgt. John C. Wood, San Antonio, Tex., holds noose with which he hanged German civilian at Bruchsal prison, Germany, found guilty of participating in the murders of six American flyers.

Documents and films, will cover the rise of the dictatorship, its employment first against the Germans and then as military and economic weapons against all Europe in the lust for power by Hitler's clique. The evidence is designed to link Goering and Von Ribbentrop and their diplomatic, political, and militarist co-defendants as full participants in this conspiracy.

In Name of Civilization

"The real complaining party at your bar is civilization," Jackson declared, asking the tribunal to strengthen international law against the future menace of armed aggression by punishing the 20 German "mad men."

"This trial represents mankind's desperate effort to apply the discipline of the law to statesmen who have used their powers of state to attack the foundations of world's peace.

"Their refuge can be only their hope that international law will lag so far behind the moral sense of mankind that conduct which is a crime in the moral sense must be regarded as innocent in law. We challenge that proposition."

Jackson said the accused "bathed the world in blood and set civilization back a century." He quoted from document after document to show that the Nazis had violated nine international treaties. These and other documents, he said, would be used to convict the defendants, rather than the introduction of witnesses which might "prolong the recitals of crime for years."

Always "Put Things on Paper"

"We will not ask you to convict these men on the testimony of their foes," Jackson told the tribunal. "There is no count in the indictment that cannot be proved by books and records. . . . These defendants had their share of the Teutonic passion for thoroness in putting things on paper."

Heinrich Himmler, Jackson said, left a written record of a conversation with Gen. Oshima, Japanese ambassador at Berlin, on Jan. 31, 1939. In that record Himmler wrote: "He [Oshima] had succeeded up to now to send 10 Russians with bombs across the Caucasian frontier. These Russians had the mission to kill Stalin. A number of additional Russians, whom he also had sent across, had been shot at the frontier."

A motion challenging the validity of the trial was filed by German counsel representing all the accused Nazis except Hjalmar Schacht, former Reichsbank president. The motion asked that the tribunal "secure from internationally recognized experts on international law an opinion about the legal basis for this trial."

"Violates Modern Procedure"

The defense attorneys contended that the trial violated the "generally recognized principle of modern criminal procedure," because the allied powers have made themselves "everything in one: Creator of the charter of the penal law, prosecutor, and judge."

"That this ought not to be used to be a general legal opinion," the motion said. "The United States of America have always emphasized when international arbitration and jurisdiction was established that the bench should be filled by neutrals or together with representatives of all parties involved.

"In the permanent international court in The Hague this idea has been realized in a manner which may serve as an example."

British Justice Geoffrey Lawrence, presiding, promptly denied the motion.

All Plead Not Guilty

The defendants then pleaded not guilty in voices of real or pretended assertiveness.

Goering was first to the microphone in front of the prisoners' docket.

"Before I answer the question of the high court as to whether I am guilty or not," he started, but Justice Lawrence, British presiding officer, cut him short.

"Then," Goering exploded, "I declare myself, in the sense of the indictment, not guilty."

The others adopted Goering's words as well as his attitude of indignation.

The statement which Goering was not permitted by the tribunal to make was in part as follows:

"As reichsmarshal of the greater German reich, I take all political responsibility for all my own acts or acts done under my orders. These acts were performed exclusively out of my responsibility for the welfare of the German people and as the result of my oath of fellowship to the Feuhrer.

"Whereas I am responsible for these acts only to the German people and can be made responsible for them only by a German court. I am nevertheless willing and ready to give before this tribunal any explanation and to tell the full truth without the legal assumption of jurisdiction. But I have to reject even at this stage the assumption that the acts for which I take over responsibility are designated as criminal."

ALL GRUNEWALD LIKELY TO FALL TO HEAT BERLIN

Germans Must 'Bunch Up' or Freeze This Winter

BY HENRY WALES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—With the British 40,000 tons behind in their coal deliveries to Berlin, the American army is lending German civilians every ax, hatchet, and saw available and is hauling wood from the Grunewald forest to provide fuel.

"We will fell the entire Grunewald forest and every tree in the Tiergarten, and the people can cut down trees in the parks and along streets and take wood from damaged buildings," said Col. Frank Howley following today's allied control council meeting. "It's not a matter of comfort for the Germans—it's a matter of keeping the people from freezing to death.

Germans Must 'Bunch Up'

"The four power agreement provides no coal for heating purposes except for hospitals," said Howley. "You cannot heat a city this size with wood. We hope the Germans can scrounge enough wood and stoves to heat one room in 10—that means they must bunch up to keep from freezing."

Howley stated that altho the British are unable to maintain Ruhr coal deliveries, owing to a lack of railway transport, they are confident of their ability to supply fuel for public utilities.

The allied control council authorized increasing the Berlin police force from 13,000 to 15,000 members.

U. S. Stops Salutes

"They need more police," Howley explained, "because, curious as it sounds, we now have German guards protecting practically all our military installations here besides doing sentry duty at our headquarters and military government bureau. German cops are armed with American pistols because we don't want to permit them to start manufacturing weapons and ammunition again."

United States military authorities instructed Berlin police not to salute American officers and soldiers because a "salute is an exchange of courtesies," and the army wants to show no politeness to the Germans.

The British will continue exchanging salutes because "it's a trivial matter," and the French and Russians will require the Germans to salute but their troops will not acknowledge it because that is what the Germans did when they occupied France and part of Russia.

JUDGE UPHOLDS RIGHT OF PRESS TO REPORT CASE

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 21 (AP)—The defense in the trial of the Durham Manufacturing corporation and 11 individual defendants, charged with manufacturing defective war material for the navy, challenged today the right of the press to publish arguments presented in federal court in the absence of the jury—and lost.

The controversy came when a defense attorney presented a motion while the jury was absent that the "press refrain from publishing any action on the part of the defendants, court, or government with reference to motions or taking notes in this law suit or any other matter heard in the absence of jurors."

Judge Luther M. Swygert, presiding, had suggested the jurors be permitted to take notes. Alex Campbell, United States district attorney, concurred but defense attorney objected, and argued the point for an hour.

Judge Swygert ruled that the jurors would be permitted to take notes and also refused to instruct the press to refrain from publishing the defendant's argument.

"This is a public trial," Judge Swygert said.

GIRL, 10, SKIPS SCHOOL; TAKES 1,000 MILE TRIP

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 20 [Special]—Equipped only with a penny, a stick of bubble gum, and an engaging personality, Patricia Barton, 10, of Flushing, N. Y., today completed a 1,000 mile train trip from New York to St. Louis, undertaken on a spur of the moment decision to "go and see grandma" rather than go to school without her home work done.

"I got on the train at Grand Central station on Monday," she told police here. "I walked right behind the conductor. He didn't pay any attention to me, so I just sat down by a nice old lady who gave me a sandwich."

Patricia also was befriended on the train by a WAC who turned her over to the Travelers' Aid society here. Discovery of her whereabouts ended a wide alarm caused by her distraught parents. Patricia still hopes to go to Higbee, Mo., to visit her grandmother.

TELL PROGRESS IN LOAN TALKS AFTER SLOWUPS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 [Special]—After nearly breaking down last week, the 10 week old Anglo-American trade and financial negotiations were again said officially today to be in "the last round" with hope of success on both sides.

The negotiations came nearest to a breaking point last week when, after extensive discussion of the second American draft proposal, British Ambassador Halifax threatened to break up the proceedings by sending the British mission home.

He is reported to have said that if this was the best the Americans could offer the British might as well "go it alone" for a year or two and then come back and try again.

British sources said this resulted in prompt American action to remedy the situation, with the result that modified proposals, the third American draft, were presented to the British. These were discussed by the two sides on Monday, when the British first received them.

4 TOP AMERICAN OFFICERS ACCEPT BRITISH MEDAL

Halifax, Amid Pomp, Acts in Behalf of King

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 [Special]—Acting on behalf of King George VI., British Ambassador Halifax today conferred Britain's 550 year old order of the bath upon high American military commanders.

In a ceremony at the British embassy the ambassador presented the insignia of honorary knight grand cross of the military division of the order of the bath to Fleet Adm. Leahy, Gen. Marshall, Fleet Adm. King, and Gen. Arnold.

Standing before the American commanders and smiling slightly, Halifax said it would be presumptuous and unnecessary for him to appraise their services in the war.

Lots of Gold Braid

"No more honorable duty could fall to me," he said, "than to bestow the decorations."

The embassy ball room was filled with dignitaries. Scores of gold braided officers mingled with women relatives or friends of the Americans. Suddenly a gavel fell three times, and the Americans walked toward the ambassador who stood between American and British flags.

Escorting the American officers were the four British chiefs of staff in Washington. The eight men slowly walked up a center aisle, and then the British officers ranged themselves on either side.

Medal on a Pillow

First to receive the honor was Gen. Marshall. An embassy aid advanced with a red velvet pillow upon which rested the starlike decoration which the ambassador pinned upon the general's uniform.

Then a pink cheeked British airman laid over the general's shoulder a broad red ribbon from which hung another decoration. One by one the Americans received similar decorations.

The affair took 15 minutes. The formalities ended, relatives and friends crowded forward for congratulations. Adm. King kissed his wife heartily.

WALLER IS HOST TO VETERANS AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Three hundred fifty Waller High school alumni who are veterans of World War II. were special guests last night at the annual homecoming celebration of the school, which also observed its 70th birthday. Waller graduates in the various services totaled 1,200. Waller is located at 2007 Orchard st.

The affair was attended by more than 1,500 persons. An orchestra provided music for dancing. Miss June Brack, 17, of 2346 Clifton av., a senior, was chosen as queen.

The celebration was arranged by a committee of alumni and faculty members, of which Principal Maurice C. Lipman was honorary chairman. Waller was organized in 1875 as North Division High school, the city's first north side secondary school.

Sued for Divorce

MRS. ERNEST HEMINGWAY

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 21 (AP)—Ernest Hemingway, 47, author and war correspondent, filed suit for divorce yesterday from Martha Gellhorn Hemingway, court records here disclosed today. He charged abandonment.

Court attaches said affidavits described the marriage as "peaceful and uneventful until Hemingway was obliged to leave his wife in London in 1944 to cover the allied invasion," and that "Mrs. Hemingway later informed her husband she had decided to continue her writing independently." Mrs. Hemingway, author and magazine writer, recently spent several months in Italy. She is reported to be in London. Hemingway, formerly of Oak Park, Ill., is residing on his farm at San Francisco De Paula, near Havana.

Hemingway and Miss Gellhorn, of St. Louis, Mo., were married in 1940 soon after his second wife, Pauline Pfeiffer Hemingway, received a divorce on a charge of desertion.

YOUNG TORIES CALL FOR NEW HOUSE LEADER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 21—Dissatisfaction among Conservative members of parliament with the party's political strategy was revealed in a report tonight that former Prime Minister Churchill may be replaced as leader of the opposition by a younger man who would not hesitate to plunge into attacks against the Labor government at every opportunity.

Several Conservatives favor the creation of a new job for Churchill as president of the Conservative party. This would free him from leading the day to day sniping against the government in commons.

Conservative M. P.s behind closed doors tonight argued political tactics. Criticism reportedly was voiced that neither Churchill nor Anthony Eden was present in the house Monday when the Laborites announced their nationalization program.

MOST WHO QUIT PALESTINE HOLD U. S. CITIZENSHIP

BY CHARLES GOTTHART

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, Nov. 21—Most of the Jews leaving Palestine in a rush for steamship passage to America—a rush that is bringing big profits to shipping agents there—are naturalized American citizens who were stranded in Europe during the war, immigration authorities and representatives of Jewish organizations said today.

Only 45 of those granted visas by the American consulate at Jerusalem in the first four months of the current fiscal year were born in Palestine. Under the Palestine quota, only 55 others may be issued visas thru next June.

In the 1945 fiscal year, visas were issued for 133 who gave Palestine as their last permanent residence [the quota of 100 may be exceeded under technicalities of immigration law], and 50 visitors' visas were granted.

Country of Origin

Applications for visas have increased to an average of 130 a week, according to a recent Jerusalem dispatch, and altho most of the applicants hold Palestine passports, the majority were born elsewhere. The visas are charged to the immigration quotas of the country of origin.

Shipping agents are collecting fees ranging up to $1,400 for arranging passage on the few ships sailing from Palestine, the dispatch added.

Jewish agencies here explained that the naturalized Americans among those seeking passage were anxious to avoid jeopardizing their American citizenship. They have until next October to return to this country and retain their citizenship, the deadline having been extended because of the lack of shipping during the war.

Change of Ships

Others among the Jewish applicants were driven from Europe under Hitler and have no desire to return to the country of their birth.

Excessive fees paid shipping agents in Palestine were attributed to the fact that accommodations are at a premium, with only two sailings a month to Philadelphia, Pa., from Spanish and Portuguese ports where passengers from Palestine change ships.

There has been no official count of Jewish immigration in recent years since the government eliminated "Hebrew" as a classification.

Leather

Like pipe-smoke or the companionable fragrance of a cozy camp-fire, the smell of good leather is associated with strictly masculine activities.

No man wants to give out with a bouquet like a boudoir. But we don't believe he needs to smell like a hospital, either . . . to prove he's clean and a two-fisted, "regular" guy.

So, in developing our exclusive men's toiletries, we've managed a subtle fragrance that is redolent of fine leather . . . and all the vigorous, outdoor sports in which leather plays so prominent a part.

Customers tell us we've really rung the bell . . . and ought not to keep it a secret any longer.

LEAHY FORGETS F. D. R. REMARKS TO RICHARDSON

But Confirms Testimony of Admiral in Full

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21—A complete lack of memory concerning statements attributed to the late President Roosevelt by Adm. J. O. Richardson at a White House luncheon Oct. 8, 1940, was confessed to the Pearl Harbor investigating committee today by Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of staff to President Truman as commander in chief of the army and navy.

Leahy confirmed in detail his brother admiral's testimony concerning what Richardson told Mr. Roosevelt but he could not recall a single word spoken by the President that day concerning the retention of the fleet at Pearl Harbor or this nation's relations with Japan.

Not Disputing Richardson

The bald, bespectacled Leahy, who was also chief of staff to Mr. Roosevelt from 1942 until the latter's death, repeatedly asserted that he was not disputing the truth of Richardson's testimony. He had every reason to believe that testimony was correct, he said, but he himself just could not remember what Mr. Roosevelt said.

Richardson had testified he and the President expressed sharply dissenting views on keeping the fleet in Pearl Harbor, where it was bombed by the Japs on Dec. 7, 1941.

He also quoted the President as saying the Japs "sooner or later" would make a mistake which would start a war with the United States.

Leahy, the only other person present at the luncheon, said he remembered Richardson telling Mr. Roosevelt the fleet was not ready for war and that it ought to be returned to the Pacific coast. But his version went no farther. On the basis of his account, committee members said later, Mr. Roosevelt, not noted for taciturnity, said not a word in reply to the strong views expressed by his fleet commander.

Completes His Testimony

Richardson completed his testimony at the morning session by revealing that the only explanation he ever received for being relieved as commander of the fleet on Feb. 1, 1941, was a statement from the late Navy Secretary Knox that he had "hurt the President's feelings" by his strong statements at the White House luncheon.

Adm. Leahy, a circle of gold braid dangling from his right shoulder by virtue of his rank, Presidential chief of staff, testified with Adm. Richardson seated behind him, listening closely.

At the time of the now famous White House luncheon, he was governor of Puerto Rico, Leahy said. He later became ambassador to France during the Vichy regime and was out of the country at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack. He has served in the navy for 42 years, he told the committee, holding numerous high posts, including that of chief of naval operations from 1937 to 1939.

"When I arrived at the White House that day," he told the committee, "I found that Adm. Richardson was also a luncheon guest. There was some discussion concerning Puerto Rico matters and a discussion by Adm. Richardson on the condition of the fleet. My memory is good, principally because I was exceedingly surprised to hear that the commander in chief of the United States fleet [Richardson] did not consider the fleet prepared for war. I, at that time, was apprehensive of war in the Pacific, and had been telling the people and congress the fleet was ready for it tho I had no late information on the subject.

Numerous Reasons

"I don't remember how the subject was brought up but Richardson told the President the fleet in Honolulu was not ready for war for numerous reasons. He said the ships did not have war complements, that the facilities in Pearl Harbor were not sufficient to keep the ships in top condition at all times, that he had not sufficient fuel to operate the ships at any distance from the Hawaiian islands and that the officers and crews did not know why they were there. Their families were on the continent and they wanted to get home. Recreational facilities and housing were almost non-existent in Hawaii, he added.

"He told the President that if there was a prospect of calling on the fleet for war service, it could be done much more advantageously at a port in the United States where the ships could be cleared for action and the crews reinforced."

"Did the President say anything?" asked Committee Counsel William D. Mitchell.

"I do not remember that the President made any comment whatever," Leahy replied, "about why the fleet was in Pearl Harbor or how long it would remain there. He may have made some remarks, but I have no recollection of them.

Surprised at Fleet Condition.

"I left the White House with Adm. Richardson and expressed to him my surprise at the condition of the fleet. I said he'd manage to correct as many deficiencies as possible without delay because I was distressed to find it was not ready."

Leahy remarked that he was "mainly a listener" at the luncheon. Under cross-examination by committee members, he was read Richardson's complete testimony and asked, after each sentence was read, if he recalled any of the remarks attributed to Mr. Roosevelt. At least a dozen times, he replied that he could "not recollect."

"The President made no rejoiner whatever to any of Richardson's remarks?" asked Sen. Brewster [R., Me.]

"Not that I can remember," was the answer. "Of course, the thing that impressed me was that Richardson, in whom I had and have great confidence, said that the fleet was not ready and I thought war was near. I cannot say the conversation you are reading to me did not take place, but I do not remember it.

"I am relying on memory.

"I have no doubt whatever that Adm. Richardson was correct in his testimony. He was vitally concerned. I at that time was separated from the navy—just a bystander, so to speak."

"You have said," questioned Rep. Gearhart [R., Cal.] "that you were distressed because you regarded war as a very likely contingency. Did the President say anything about that?"

War in the Near Future

"I have no recollection," Leahy replied. "I felt war was going to come in the reasonably near future."

"It was inevitable?"

"I do not like the word inevitable but it was a reasonable probability. It did seem inevitable to me."

"Didn't the President say the fleet should be kept in Pearl Harbor as a restraining influence on Japan?" persisted Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.].

"Quite likely, it was said," Leahy replied, "because a great many people in the navy felt that way. I was in complete disagreement with them. It was certainly not a restraining influence if it was not ready for war. I'm in complete agreement with Adm. Richardson on that. I would not be surprised to learn that the President made the statement but I do not remember it."

"If war was coming did you anticipate an attack on Pearl Harbor?"

"I would have been afraid of it. I was always fearful that such a thing might happen to us and many navy officers were. I know exactly how easy it is to hit Pearl Harbor from the air."

Ferguson then read Richardson's testimony that the President had remarked he might withdraw the fleet from Pearl Harbor if he could be given "a good statement" to persuade the people and Japan that such action would not be a retreat.

Inclined to Think So

"I some kind of recollection on that which I cannot locate at that luncheon," Leahy said. "It could have been said because many in Washington thought Japan would interpret such a move as a withdrawal."

"Did Adm. Richardson ask the President if we were going to enter the war?"

"I'm inclined to think that Adm. Richardson asked such a question."

"What was the President's reply?"

"I do not remember."

Leahy then was asked about Richardson's testimony that the President remarked the United States might not get into war even if the Japs attacked the Philipines.

"I'm very much surprised to hear that the President made such a statement," he told the committee. "From my intimate knowledge of the President, I'm quite sure that if the Japs invaded the Philippines, the President would have recommended a declaration of war. I know what he was thinking and doing."

Questioned on Duty in Vichy

Leahy was questioned at some length concerning his experiences as ambassador to France. He said the Vichy government "under pressure" permitted the Japs to go into Indo-China. "I told Marshal Petain at that time that I was convinced the United States would be at war with Japan over the Philippines in the near future," he remarked. "I so advised Washington."

In questioning both of Richardson and Leahy, Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.], and Rep. Murphy [D., Pa.], sought to elicit statements that congress was to blame for the state of the navy's unreadiness because sufficient appropriations were not provided.

Rep. Keefe [R., Wis.], then read into the record figures showing that in the years before Pearl Harbor, navy requests were invariably cut by Mr. Roosevelt's budget depart-

LEAHY FORGETS F. D. R. REMARKS TO RICHARDSON

But He Confirms Views of Fellow-Admiral

HURT F. D. R.'S FEELINGS

BY PHILIP DODD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21—Adm. J. O. Richardson testified at the morning session of the congressional Pearl Harbor investigation today that he was told he had "hurt the President's feelings" but that he was given no official reason for his removal as commander of the United States fleet 10 months before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Richardson completed his testimony before the investigating committee after seven hours in the witness chair, beginning Monday afternoon. He acknowledged his sharp differences with the late President Roosevelt but asserted he had "no humility" in the matter and was willing to answer any questions concerning his conversations with Mr. Roosevelt.

Ferguson Questions Him

Under questioning by Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] Richardson said he reported to Navy Secretary Knox about March 24, 1941, after having been relieved of his command at Pearl Harbor by Rear Adm. Kimmel on Feb. 1.

"When I saw the secretary," Richardson testified, "I said, 'In all my experience in the navy, I have never known of a flag officer being detached in the same manner as I and I feel I owe it to myself to know why.' The secretary said the President would send for me and talk the matter over."

"Did the President ever send for you?" asked Ferguson.

"He did not," Richardson replied.

Q.—Did you seek a meeting with the President? A.—By no means.

Q.—Did anything the secretary say indicate to you why you had been detached? A.—He told me, "The last time you were here you hurt the President's feelings."

Monday Richardson had told the committee of a conversation he had with Mr. Roosevelt at the White House Oct. 8, 1940, at which the President had said the fleet was being kept at Pearl Harbor as a restraining influence on the Japanese. Richardson said he told the President the fleet would be more effective if it were moved to the Pacific coast and made ready for war.

Has "Definite" Views

"It would hurt my feelings," Richardson said today, "if a senior subordinate officer didn't agree with me and I couldn't make him change his mind. Unfortunately, I am definite in my views."

At the conclusion of his testimony Richardson read the committee a prepared statement in which he said he had never borne any resentment for Mr. Roosevelt because of his detachment as fleet commander.

"He was the constitutional commander in chief," Richardson said. "I was one of his senior subordinates. There was a difference of opinion. . . . Neither could induce the other to change his mind. I was relieved of command of the United States fleet.

"Had I been commander in chief I would have taken the same position. Before leaving the fleet I sent the following message to Washington: 'The day I was made commander in chief of the United States fleet I realized the same power that made me could unmake me. I will keep my lips sealed and my eyes in the boat.'

"Living up to that resolution has resulted in many rumors being circulated. I hope my testimony has cleared them up to some extent."

Adequate Manning of Fleet

Richardson revealed that another of his differences with the President was over adequate manning of the fleet. He said that he "discussed it with everybody" and had brought it up during conversations with the President in July and October, 1940. The fleet then had only 85 per cent of its complement of men, Richardson said. The only alternative, he said, would be to limit the number of ships in commission but that such a step would curtail the training of officers.

"I believe," said Richardson, "the President had it in his power to increase the number of men in the fleet faster than he did do it."

Sues for $50,000

Miss Lois Abbott displays the lounging pajamas she listed as a gift from insurance company branch manager named in $50,000 breach of promise suit.

Eugene W. Price, 45, of 5042 Marine dr., branch manager of an insurance company, was named defendant in a $50,000 breach of promise suit filed in Superior court yesterday by Miss Lois Abbott, 33, of 927 Dakin st., a manicure.

Price proposed to her Dec. 10, 1944, the bill alleges, and she accepted. But he failed to keep his promise to wed her, the action stated, and on Aug. 31, 1945 she learned that he was married. She found this out, she related, when she telephoned his home and was informed by a maid that "Mr. and Mrs. Price had gone out for a walk."

He gave her an engagement ring worth $1,625, she said. It had two pigeon blood rubies and five diamonds. When he was away on a business trip he sent her a pair of silken lounging pajamas, she said, inscribed with musical notes and the phrases, "Just waiting for you," and "I'll be waiting for you."

HULL EXPECTED TO GIVE VIEWS AT QUIZ TOMORROW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 21—Cordell Hull, ailing former state secretary, will be the first witness when the congressional Pearl Harbor investigating committee reconvenes Friday morning, Committee Counsel William D. Mitchell told the committee today.

Should Hull's health prevent his scheduled appearance, Hull will be replaced either by Sumner Welles, state undersecretary in December, 1941; Joseph E. Grew, American ambassador to Tokyo in 1941, and recently state undersecretary, or Max Hamilton, recently appointed minister to Finland, who served with Grew in Tokyo. Hull retired from public life last spring and his failing health has prevented public appearances since then.

Mitchell said today that he had promised Hull's family the former secretary would not be subjected to questioning for more than 45 minutes at a time. He indicated that Hull's prepared statement would be read to the committee by an assistant.

PROPOSES BILL TO MAKE RADIO LABEL 'OPINIONS'

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP)—Legislation requiring radio broadcasters to distinguish between statements of news and opinions was introduced today by Chairman Wood [D., Ga.] of the house committee investigating un-American activities.

The measure also would require radio stations to have a legal agent in the District of Columbia and in all states within 500 miles of the point of broadcast. The agent would be subject to legal prosecution by persons claiming grievances against the station. Federal district courts would have jurisdiction to prevent violations of the legislation.

The bill also would require stations, thru "full and proper announcements," to describe and identify "each and every person regularly engaged in broadcasting opinions or propaganda" from the stations.

STELLE ELECTED BY LEGION TO ITS HIGH COMMAND

Military Unity, Universal Service Indorsed

BY THOMAS MORROW

The American Legion closed its national convention yesterday after electing John Stelle, former Illinois governor, as national commander, resolving for a unified military command, universal military training, and urging that the United States adopt a definite foreign policy and let the people know all the facts.

Thus, the 27th annual convention of the organization droned to a conclusion, as it had started, surrounded by empty seats in the Coliseum.

Stelle's election, assured for some time, still was equipped with the necessary state banners, marching delegates, band music, and cheers. He was nominated by James P. Ringley of Chicago.

Mild floor opposition developed during the debate on a unified command resolution. An amendment was offered to put the Legion on the fence, but it was voted down. After several speeches, the convention voted to endorse the principle of unification with the army, navy, and air force on equal level.

Universal Training Indorsed

Universal military training, which had threatened a delegate tussle, passed without a voice in opposition. The resolution held that all male youths should have training over a period of 12 months with adequate basic training and either advanced technical or scientific training, when qualified, or further schooling in established R. O. T. C. units.

The recommendation left to congress determination of how much time should be spent for basic training. The convention voted in favor of military training in high schools, a national guard force of 425,000 men, plus officers, and for retention of Pacific bases taken from the Japanese.

Asks Research Board

It asked a civilian board for scientific research in military developments, and demanded that the atomic bomb secret be kept by the United States, Britain, and Canada. Also requested was a secret intelligence corps to report to the chief of staff and departments of government under the office of strategic services.

The committee on foreign relations decided that:

"Our strength is not inexhaustible. We recommend that monetary grants to other nations [whether in the form of loan or gift] be made only for purposes and uses which we can clearly understand and approve, and not to nations which impose restrictions on our trade."

Legion Convention Speakers

The employment committee urged preferential treatment for veterans in all categories of government and private employment, and asked for establishment of a veterans' employment service under the veteran administration.

To the accompaniment of cheers, the convention voted that conscientious objectors be kept in service until six months after the discharge of the last combat soldier.

Two World War II. veterans were among the five vice commanders chosen by the convention. They are Fred La Boon, Chickasha, Okla., and Dudley Swim, Twin Falls Ida. Others are Jeremiah Twoomey, Lawrence, Mass., R. Graham Huntington, Maplewood, N. J., and Sam Latimer, Columbia, S. C.

Unified Command Up Again

The battle over unification of military command concerned the convention again at the morning session. Opponents on the rostrum were Gen. Vandegrift, commandant of the marine corps, and Lt. Gen. Doolittle of the air corps.

Gen. Vandegrift, with Doolittle sitting behind him on the platform, held the proposed scheme for unification would seem to be a backward step to the military, monarchic days of the last century.

"We believe," he told the convention, "that the exploration of the military problem must proceed not alone, but as the part of the greater problem of over-all national security.

"Secretary Forrestal has suggested the means for accomplishing it —the creation by the President of a commission of citizens to consider this question whose ramifications spread beyond the jurisdictior of any congressional committee and beyond the cognizance of any military organization.

Early Report Urged

"In order to dispose of the belief that this is a delaying tactic, Secretary Forrestal has recommended that the proposed commission be directed to complete its report by July 1, 1946.

"A single secretary for the armed forces would reduce by half the number of people of cabinet level who maintain civilian influence in our military affairs," he continued. "The people of our country have always wanted to know how their military dollar was spent. They have always wanted to know in understandable terms the manner in which the military affairs were conducted.

"They have been able to keep a hand in the conduct of military matters by the maintenance of civilian cabinet officers in direct supervision of things military. This is the democratic means of exercising the people's will."

Doolittle for Unification

Gen. Doolittle spoke in an equally forthright manner for unification of command. He held the only means for assuring future peace is by:

1. Aggressive continuation of research and development.

2. The establishment of an ultramodern, highly mobile, readily expendable military organization which is composed of the smallest army, navy, and air force commensurate with requirements—adequate for national security and within the ability to support it.

3. The establishment of a single department of national defense in which the army, navy, and the air force are co-equal and autonomous. This step should be taken, he said, to avoid duplication and waste, and assure the most economical and adequate military setup in which each service will be built up and financially supported according to its value as a defensive and offensive agency.

"Economy the Watchword"

"Economy is the watchword of the American people," Doolittle said. "We want every dollar spent on defense to be spent in the most effective manner possible. Every cent of every dollar should buy the maximum in defense. We cannot permit sentiment to enter into the disposition of public funds for our future security.

"Gratitude and sentiment should be expressed by doing something for the individuals involved—our veterans in the varying services—not in the purchase of obsolete or obsolescent equipment—nor in the maintenance of an establishment that is not absolutely essential to our national security."

Doolittle held that if it is necessary to cut the army, navy, or air force to fit the budget, this can be accomplished most equitably by an unbiased agency equally interested in all services.

He pointed out the AFL unions welcome service men and most of them waive dues.

Green for Ending Controls

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, urged on the convention the necessity of halting government encroachment upon the daily lives of our people and dropping war time controls as rapidly as safety permits.

"It is my hope that no further attempts will be made to align labor and the veterans against each other," Green said. "During the war a vicious propaganda campaign war ,a vicious propaganda campaign uniform believe the men at home were letting them down. Those who were responsible for that campaign were traitors to American democracy.

"If their efforts had succeeded, it would have destroyed the vital teamwork between the nation's fighting forces and its production forces and we might have lost the war. If any new campaign along the same lines gains headway now, we may lose the peace."

Chandler Reads Some Poetry

For some reason, not discernible from the press box, A. B. [Happy] Chandler, baseball commissioner, rose up and addressed the convention. He read some poetry, told a joke or two, and eventually sat down.

JUKE BOX LICENSE ORDINANCE INVALID, SUPREME COURT SAYS

The Illinois Supreme court held yesterday that, while the city of Chicago has the right to license juke boxes in its exercise of police powers, an ordinance of 1943 is invalid because the $50 annual fee set for each box is "out of proportion" to the regulatory burden imposed on the police. Last May the Supreme court held that the fee was exorbitant, but did not rule on the legality of the ordinance otherwise. At the time of passage the aldermen figured the city's 7,000 boxes would yield $350,000 revenue annually.

Ald Rostenkowski [32d], chairman of the council license committee, said he would call a meeting Dec. 3 to prepare a new ordinance.

LEGION WOMEN FIGHT FOR OWN HOSPITAL WORK

Protest Increased Red Cross Control

BY IRENE STEYSKAL

The American Legion auxiliary made a decisive move yesterday at the closing session of its silver anniversary convention here to preserve the identity and the individual pattern of its 25 year old hospital service for the rehabilitation of veterans.

Holding that the trend in federal hospitals has been to place all volunteer services under Red Cross direction, the convention delegates adopted a resolution to check the practice in those veterans hospitals where the auxiliary progras is established. They called upon the Legion to bring the matter to the attention of the veterans' administration.

The resolution was drawn by the rehabilitation committee, of which Mrs. Norton H. Pearl of Detroit, Mich., is chairman.

Must Work Thru Red Cross

Commenting unofficially on experiences that led to the placing of the matter before the convention, Mrs. Pearl said that many Legion auxiliary members eager to serve in the government hospitals could find admittance only by becoming Red Cross Gray Ladies or otherwise working thru the Red Cross.

"We have had 25 years' experience in developing our services for the hospitalized veteran and we feel that we understand his problems and needs perhaps better than any other group," she said. "We feel that we are fully equipped to conduct our own work, which varies considerably from the Red Cross services, and we do not want our program absorbed into that of any other organization."

The atmosphere of anniversary jubilee in which the convention opened Sunday night returned yesterday to the Grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel at the closing ceremonies.

Banners, Badges, and Oratory

Banners, badges, armsful of roses and chrysanthemums, and lush Dixieland oratory bloomed as Mrs. Walter G. Craven of Charlotte, N. C., was installed as national president after a unanimous election.

National divisional vice presidents elected and installed with Mrs. Craven are: Western, Mrs. Worth Montgomery, Glenns Ferry, Idaho; northwestern, Mrs. A. W. Plachte, Wahpeton, N. D.; central, Mrs. Willian Morss, Howard, Kas.; eastern, Mrs. Archie W. Miller, Bethlehem, Pa., and southern, Mrs. Willis Reed, Vinita, Okla.

Man of the Year

Elliodor M. Libonati (right) receiving $1,000 award at American Legion convention for distinguished community service.

The "man of the year" of the American Legion is a Chicago attorney, Elliodor M. Libonati, an officer of Roman Legion post, who yesterday was chosen winner of the title and of the $1,000 Lewis S. Rosenstiel award for distinguished community service.

Libonati, accepting the title and the award, announced that he would turn the $1,000 over to the University of Illinois to establish a scholarship for a needy and deserving war orphan regardless of race or creed.

Libonati was cited particularly for activities as chairman of Chicago's Independence day program at Soldiers' field last year and as master of ceremonies at Flag day ceremonies last June; outstanding leadership in Legion affairs as chairman of the Illinois department Americanism commission, and chairman of the ways and means committee for the veterans' rehabilitation and memorial committees of the Cook county council.

HEAR HIROSHIMA A-BOMB WAS PUT TOGETHER IN AIR

Assembled on B-29, General Discloses

New York, Nov. 21 [Special]—The atomic bomb that destroyed Hiroshima was not assembled until after the B-29 that carried it was safely away from the island base from which it took off, it was revealed tonight by Maj. Gen. Thomas F. Farrel, deputy chief of the Manhattan engineer district [atomic bomb project]. Gen. Farrell addressed a meeting of the metropolitan section of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Capt. William Parsons

Shortly before the bomb was about to be loaded on the Super Fort, Gen. Farrell stated, Capt. William S. Parsons, navy ordnance expert who described himself as a "weaponeer," came to him.

"But I Can Learn"

The general quoted the captain as saying:

"'General, if anything happens to this gadget before we take off, it would most likely obliterate the entire island, with all its installations.'

"What do you propose to do about it?" Gen. Farrell asked.

"'I think it should not be assembled until after the plane is at a safe distance from this island. If anything happens then we lose only the plane, the crew, and the bomb.'"

"Do you know how to assemble it?" Gen. Farrell asked.

"Did a Good Job"

"After the B-29 took off in the early morning of Monday, Aug. 6," Gen. Farrell related, "we went to a communications station and for 45 minutes kept pestering Col. [Paul W.] Tibbets, asking him how Capt. Parsons was getting along with the assembly. After that we lost contact with him because of the imposed radio blackout, and it was not until 10 o'clock that Monday morning when I got a code message from Capt. Parsons, reading 'Mission successful,' that we knew that he had succeeded in doing a good assembly job."

FEARS INVASION AFTER ASSAULT BY A-BOMBERS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 [Special]—Sneak attacks by atom bombs would not be decisive, but an invasion following such attacks might defeat the United States if we lack a trained reserve, Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said today in supporting President Truman's plan for one year of military training for 18 year olds. He testified before the house military affairs committee.

Dr. Compton said universal training would "help to relieve the unemployment that apparently looms ahead during the reconversion period," and would be better than a dole.

"If we should suffer such an attack [by atom bombs] the next stage would be actual invasion of our country for purposes of occupation," he said. "This, and not the bombing, would bring defeat. Our country is so big that we should have a chance to resist invasion, even then, if we were prepared with munitions and could call to arms very quickly an adequate army which did not need six months or a year's training before it could function."

A plan to base compulsory training on part-time weekly and summer camp service in the national guard was proposed to the committee by Omar B. Ketchum of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, tho the continuous training year plan would also be acceptable to his organization. He said the alternative plan was designed to meet objections of those who feel a year would be too great a gap during a youth's educational period.

MUSIC WASHES AWAY ILLNESS OF SCARRED GIs

Former W-G-N Artist Dishes Out 'Medicine'

BY NORMA LEE BROWNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Denver, Colo., Nov. 21—War scarred GIs are being restored to normal with the aid of a scientifically planned musical activity program at Fitzsimons General hospital near Denver.

The program is headed by a former Chicago musician, Staff Sgt. Leonard Baylinson, who was known on W-G-N for two years as Lynn Baylin.

Musical "prescriptions" are ordered by army doctors at Fitzsimons and measured out, like pills, according to the patient's condition and needs. Prescriptions vary from large quantities of Strauss waltzes, to small doses of "The Surrey With the Fringe on Top."

Baylinson's job is to administer the "medicine" once it has been prescribed. He does this with his own novachord, shipped out from Chicago.

Don't Try to Mold Taste

"We don't attempt to mold a soldier's musical taste," Baylinson said. "Some people are highly inspired by Ave Maria; others are not. The principal value of the music is association; a certain song reminds you of something in the past, either pleasant or unpleasant."

This is particularly noticeable in the treatment of the hospital's neuropsychiatric patients where the program first started.

Baylinson moves his novachord into Ward C-17, pulls the curtains to darken the room, and begins playing softly for a small group [usually no more than 10] of mentally ill patients for whom music has been recommended either by doctors or ward officers.

Medical attendants are present to watch and record the various reactions.

Aroused by "Moon Love"

One neuropsychiatric patient, a young midwestern private who had been overseas two years, was hospitalized as a severe catatonic. Nothing could awaken him from his clouded stupor. He was assigned to the music class.

Day after day Baylinson's novachord music tried to reach the tormented depths of the boy but there was no response—until the haunting strains of a Tschaikowsky symphony known popularly as "Moon Love" filled the darkened room.

The boy's response at first was slight but each day it improved. And one day during the playing of "Moon Love," he awoke completely, as if from a dream, began to smile and talk, remembering nothing of his illness for the past six months except the music he had heard.

"Stardust," an old favorite because of its association with sentimental memories, once evoked a violent reaction from an N. P. who was mute until he heard it. The song reminded him of his girl friend who had married some one else. In a sudden burst of memory and fury he broke down, got it all off his chest and then he felt better.

"Isn't a Cure-All"

"Music isn't a cure-all," explained Baylinson. "But when used skillfully, either to soothe or stimulate, it can do a great deal toward releasing emotional tensions and fears."

Maj. Louis Barbato, in charge of the neuropsychiatric section of Fitzsimons, added:

"The use of music with these patients, is much like an experiment with a new drug. It must be closely observed and controlled. The performer must have sufficient training in music and the music must be selected on a scientific basis."

Musical "prescriptions" also are ordered for orthopedic and paralytic cases to stimulate injured nerves and muscles.

Baylinson also gives private lessons on ocarinos, tonettes, and other instruments, most of which provide finger exercises for injured hands.

Regains Movement in Hand

An aviation cadet, S. W. Kendrick of Austin, Tex., had difficulty regaining movement in his left hand after recovering from a plane crash. Hobbies like weaving and clay modeling offered for hand exercises failed to hold Kendrick's interest.

He often came down to the hospital theater half an hour before show time to listen to Baylinson's entertainment period.

One day he remarked: "Gee, I wish I could learn to play one of those things."

In short order he was taking private piano lessons, with finger exercises prescribed by his doctor in the orthopedic surgical section. He regained movement in his hand, was discharged from the hospital and recently wrote a letter to Baylinson stating he intended to continue with music in civilian life

Adults Easier to Teach

"Adults are much easier to teach," remarked Baylinson. "Ordinarily they progress as much in six months as a youngster does in 2½ years."

Baylinson organized a hospital orchestra, known as the Cast-A-Novas because all the G. I. members are in casts, and another for neuropsychiatric patients in which only such instruments as cymbals and tom-toms are used to help the N. P.'s regain their lost sense of rhythm.

The music therapy program was organized thru the coöperation of Capt. James Griffin, special services officer of the hospital.

Fitzsimons, a 20-million dollar institution with a 4,000 bed capacity, is one of the army's five permanent hospitals. It was built in 1918 and named for Lt. William Thomas Fitzsimons, the first American officer to be killed in World war I.

SHARE THANKFULNESS BY HELPING ALLIES, FUND LEADER ASKS

The first peace time Thanksgiving in four years should afford Chicagoans an opportunity to aid less fortunate allies, Walter P. Paepcke, general chairman of the Community and War Fund asserted yesterday in asking for continued support of the drive. To date, $9,950,780 has been collected of the quota of $13,040,700.

"The fighting has stopped but the war is not over for the gallant peoples of Belgium, Holland, the Philippines, Greece, France, and the other countries that still find themselves without the necessary food or clothing to carry on a normal life," Paepcke said.

Thru the 15 allied relief and refugee aid programs financed by the Community and War Fund, food, clothing and farm equipment are being sent to people in the devastated countries. Of every dollar contributed to the fund, 27 cents help war sufferers in Europe.

PRESS VETERANS NAME OFFICIAL 'RECOLLECTORS'

Newspaper men who will sit at the "recollection table" at the seventh annual dinner of the Chicago Press Veterans' association at 6 p. m. Saturday at the La Salle hotel were named yesterday by John F. Delaney, chairman of the dinner. The raconteurs will include Frank King, creator of the Tribune comic strip "Gasoline Alley," and such old-time Chicago reporters and editors as Harry Reutlinger, Eddie Doherty, Jimmy Murphy, Paul R. Leach, Walter Howey, Isaac Gershman, and Izra Clark.

CHANNELS ALLOTTED FOR 400 TELEVISION STATIONS;7 IN CHICAGO

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP)—The federal communications commission today announced a radio channel allocation plan making room for more than 400 commercial television stations thruout the country.

Under the plan New York City, Chicago and Los Angeles can have seven stations each. The allocations to other cities include five each to Detroit and Indianapolis, and four to Des Moines, Ia., Fort Wayne, Ind., and Milwaukee, Wis.

The commission also announced that regulations for commercial television stations will include:

1. All stations will be required to operate a minimum of 28 hours a week and at least two hours a day. These minimum requirements will be progressively increased "so that there will be a maximum utilization of each channel."
2. No person can operate or control more than one station in the same service area.
3. Chain broadcasting regulations will apply to television stations.

VICTIM SEEKS LENIENCY FOR HIT-RUN DRIVER

Mrs. Meriam Hyland, 66, of 7325 Calumet av., who suffered a leg fracture April 13 when she was struck by an automobile while standing on a safety island at 68th st. and Ashland av., appeared on crutches before Judge Charles Dougherty in Safety court yesterday to plead for leniency for the motorist, Floyd Clabough, 36, of 6419 S. Marshfield av. Clabough was found guilty of leaving the scene of an accident and of reckless driving. A motion for probation was continued to Nov. 30.

DEATH PLUNGE HELD SUICIDE

A coroner's inquest decided yesterday that Miss Martha Alpers, 45, of 4408 N. Ashland av., who plunged to her death Monday from the 18th floor of the Atlantic hotel, 316 S. Clark st., committed suicide while temporarily insane.

INDIANA WOMAN KIDNAPED AND RAPED IN AUTO

An East Gary woman, 34 was raped last night by a Negro who kidnaped her in her own car from a parking lot at 8th st. and Broadway, Gary.

The Negro, whom she described as between 20 and 30 years old and of medium height, forced her into the back seat of her car when she returned to it after a shopping tour, she told police. He then drove to 21st st. and 11th av., just east of the Gary city limits, where he stopped the car, got into the back seat, and after threatening her with a weapon which she could not plainly see, raped her. Later he ejected her from the car and drove off, after telling her: "If you report this to police, tell them Jack did it."

The victim, whose husband is a steel worker, made her way to the East Gary police station. She was examined by Dr. R. W. Kraft of Hobart, Ind., who said she had been raped. She was removed to her home, while police of Gary, East Gary, and East Chicago began a search for the Negro and the woman's car.

TRIAL ORDERED IN MICHIGAN CITY ROBBERY KILLING

Judge Walter Crisman, of the Porter county Circuit court in Valparaiso, Ind., yesterday overruled motions to quash murder and burglary indictments against John Francis Hanrahan of Indianapolis, Ind., and Robert Brown, of Niles, Mich. They are charged with the murder of Harry Solomon Akchevoun, of Joliet. Akchevoun was shot in the home of George Nahas, alleged gambler boss in Michigan City, Ind., on Sept. 24, 1944, when he interrupted a burglary. Akchevoun was described as Nahas' bodyguard. Hanrahan will go on trial Dec. 17.

LINKS CATHOLICS TO ARGENTINA'S DICTATORSHIP

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 21 (AP)—The Methodist bishop of the Buenos Aires area said in an interview here today that the Catholic hierarchy in Argentina is in league with the dictatorship of President Peron.

Bishop Arthur F. Wesley, who heads the Methodist church in Argentina, Bolivia, and Uruguay, said Peron is "an out and out Fascist who attempts to duplicate the Hitler regime."

"The Catholic hierarchy works hand in glove with the Argentine dictatorship," he said. "The hierarchy last year put thru a decree which said all private and public schools must offer Catholic instruction. But the people, even the Catholics, resented this so much that the decree was finally reversed."

Methodism, he said, is not undertaking any sort of anti-Catholic campaign but is trying to bring evangelical Christianity to the 90 per cent of the population who are not church members.

TRACK REMOVAL ISSUE DUE FOR EARLY DECISION

Council Group to Act on Plymouth Ct. Case

Whether the Chicago and Western Indiana tracks crossing Plymouth ct. at Taylor st. are to be torn up, or the railroad given an extention of time to use them, may be settled when the city council committee on railway terminals meets within 10 days at the call of Ald. Kovarik [15th], the chairman.

Some 200 loop business and property owners are battling to have the tracks torn out. They say this will be the first step toward a consolidated passenger terminal—a proposal which has been kicked about for 40 years—and the first step toward further development of the south side.

Owned by Five Roads

M. F. Stokes, president of the C. & W. I., owned equally by five railroads and leased for 999 years by the Santa Fe, said tearing out of the tracks will settle nothing. He asserted that Plymouth ct. is closed anyway by the Dearborn station tracks and that the railroads cannot do without facilities served by the Plymouth ct. tracks until there is a settlement of the whole terminal problem.

W. A. Dudley, managing director of the Greater Central District and Wabash Avenue District associations, representing the 200 or more big taxpayers, said that the railroads never will begin solution of the passenger terminal proposals until the Plymouth ct. tracks are out.

"These tracks," Dudley said, "serve the Dearborn station annex, built in 1915. They also serve express and baggage platforms and a mail terminal built in later years. The road started with the annex, then needed as an immigrant station. It has been encroaching further ever since. If the city council committee doesn't get the tracks out now, the chances are it will be years before the city is successful.

Cites Constant Use

Dudley was standing beside the tracks, demonstrating that a train is switched in or out over Plymouth ct. once every few minutes.

But President Stokes on the C. & W. I. pointed out that his road has been equally owned since 1887 by the Grand Trunk and Western; the Erie, Wabash, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, and Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville railroads.

"There's nothing to the claim that tearing out these tracks would begin solution of the passenger terminal problem," Stokes said. "To tear them out would only embarrass the business of all these railroads and the Santa Fe, which has a 999 year lease. The railroads are studying the terminal problem more intensively than ever, particularly with reference to south side development. Mayor Kelly requested this after a couple of terminal authority bills before the last legislature failed, and we're doing it."

Supported by Others

Dudley's assertion was supported by officers and members of his associations, by Ald. Kovarik, Ald. Cohen [4th], chairman of a subcommittee which has recommended the railroad's petition for an extension be denied; and Earl B. Anderson, for 19 years either assistant or chief engineer for the council terminals committee.

"I don't care much what the railroad contends," Ald. Kovarik said. "The city wants the tracks out of there. They'll get no extension as far as I'm concerned and I believe most of the other committee members feel as I do."

It is pointed out that since Nov. 24, 1941, under an Illinois Supreme court decision, the railroad has been operating on the tracks without authority either from the city or the Illinois commerce commission.

Calls for Action

Ward Farnsworth, vice president and chairman of the executive committee of the Greater Central District association, composed of loop renters and property owners, said: "Ripping out these tracks will accelerate action on a consolidated passenger terminal. We've had enough talk, let's have some action." His statement was echoed by Frank M. Whiston, president of the Wabash Avenue District association, and John P. Mentzer, publisher, head of the Near South Central association.

Dudley said he has information the C. & W. I. is controled and predominately owned thru eastern stockholders of the other roads who care nothing about Chicago's development. Stokes denied this. These roads have thousands of stockholders, he asserted, and he believes most of them are midwesterners.

2 MORE SLAIN; N. Y. MAY TURN TO VIGILANTES

Blame for Crime Wave Put on La Guardia

New York, Nov. 21 [Special]—Formation of vigilante committees was under consideration by city officials tonight in a desperate effort to stem New York's tidal wave of crime which rolled thru another day of violence that included the slayings of two more persons.

Prodded by public indigation over the alarming situation, officials also debated the advisability of bolstering the undermanned police force with temporary appointments of state guardsmen and military policemen, and the proposed deputizing of 5,000 discharged war veterans as sheriff's aids.

Meantime, Police Commissioner Arthur Wallander assigned the department's crack pistol teams to radio car and cruiser patrol and organized "strong arm" squads of 10 men each to rove thru troublesome neighborhoods.

La Guardia Blamed

Blame for the reign of lawlessness has been laid directly on Mayor La Guardia for his failure to keep the police force up to normal strength. It is now 4,794 men short and not because of the war, because only 780 of its personnel are still in service. Under La Guardia's control, policemen in 1943 were detailed to 24 hour duty watching homes where persons had been found playing cards. They camped in one home for seven weeks and in another for a month. They raided poker and bridge games and guarded stores where race bets were taken, altho the force was then hundreds of men short of its authorized complement.

Brooklyn was the scene of the two latest murders, which kept up the average of nearly one killing a day for the last two months. Sixty-four violent deaths have taken place in 72 days.

The victims were Susan Scanga, 16, a school girl shot to death apparently in resisting a rapist, and Al [Bummy] Davis, 25, prizefighter, who fell under a hail of bullets fired by a gang of robbers committing their seventh holdup of the night.

Scrawling Is Clew

Miss Scanga, a stenography student at Central Commercial High school, had worked until 9 p. m. as salesgirl at a shop only a block from her home. Her school books, which she studied at the store, were scattered about her body found at daybreak in a clump of weeds near a construction shack in a junkyard. She had been beaten and shot in the head.

On a clapboard of the shack police found the name "Nick" scrawled in pencil in handwriting they believe may have been the girl's. They were having the writing and a pencil found in her pocket examined by experts while they hunted a neighborhood boy named "Nick" who was reported to have had a gun last night and to have said he expected to see the Scanga girl.

Fighter Davis, known as "the bad boy of boxing" because of his roughouse tactics in the ring, was shot when he resiisted with his fists the quartet of gunmen who held up the tavern of which he was part owner. The robbers added that tavern's $150 to the loot of $1,200 they had taken in six other tavern holdups in the previous hour.

Asked for a "Break"

As the gunmen rifled the cash register, after lining Davis, the bartender and four others against a wall, the boxer demanded: "Give this place a break; it has just changed owners." The leading robber shot back: "Mind your own business."

Davis swung with a quick left and knocked the bandit thru the door. The guns of the other robbers blazed and Davis was hit three times by the volley. Still on his feet, he followed them outside as they fled but they escaped in a car after firing several more shots.

Thruout the night and day other lawlessness flared in many parts of the city. Three gunmen held up a haberdashery. A young Negro was shot and captured after stealing a coat. A lone gunman took $200 in a daylight holdup of a busy downtown office. A housewife was beaten and robbed on a Lexington av. subway by two boys, 14 and 15, identified by police who captured them as members of a gang that has been robbing subway riders for eight weeks.

WRECKERS RAZE STATE'S BIGGEST PLANT CHIMNEY

Four thousand tons of brick and metal crashed to earth in a cloud of dust at 2600 Clybourn av. yesterday when a 265 foot chimney, described as the biggest in Illinois, was demolished to make way for a new plant of the American Colortype company. The collapse came after four days of preparation by the Speedway Wrecking company, 2811 Wabash av.

The smokestack was undercut and shored with 65 pieces of 14 by 14 timber. Then the supports were weakened by burning five barrels of kerosene, five tons of coke, and other timber. The fire burned for an hour before the structure began to wobble.

The 25 ton cast iron top and the mass of brick fell vertically atop a power house and inside a 100 foot radius to the south as had been calculated. The stack, 28 feet square at the base, tapered to round 75 feet up, and was 20 feet in diameter at the top. Its thickness varied from 6 to 10 feet at the base and 2 to 2½ feet at the top.

The demolition, supervised by J. B. Kolko, president of the wrecking firm, and Henry M. Busse, vice president and engineer, was witnessed by Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan, Fire Marshal Anthony J. Mullaney, and City Architect Paul Gerhardt Jr.

Belgium Will Ask U. S. for $55,000,000 Loan

COUNTY URGES HIGHWAYS TO AID ALL AREAS

Study of Bond Plan Ordered

BY ROBERT HOWARD

Importance of serving all sections of the urban area with Chicago's proposed super-highway system was emphasized yesterday in a resolution adopted by the county commissioners. The board ordered a study of the possibility of financing super-highways thru a bond issue backed by motor fuel taxes.

President Clayton F. Smith introduced the resolution, which pointed out that county, city, and state have guaranteed joint funds for the Congress st. project. It then asserted that the expressway system must "serve all sections of the Chicago area."

Northwest Highway First

The proposed northwest super-highway, which would lead to the Douglas airport site slated for immediate expansion, would be one of the first projects completed under the plan to float a county bond issue.

Smith asserted that real estate taxes must not be increased to pay for limited access roads.

The bond issue plan will be studied by the executive committee of the northwest area council of the Chicago Motor club at a meeting Wednesday, President Charles M. Hayes of the club disclosed.

Court Decision Helpful

The Illinois Supreme court decision upholding constitutionality of the 1943 act creating a state super-highway commission, with authority to build toll roads, was considered helpful by highway advocates.

The northwest super-highway, on which county, city, and state engineers are already working, would be the most likely to pay off on a toll collection financing.

Armour, U. S. Ambassador to Spain, to Quit Service

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP)—The White House reported today that Norman Armour, 68, ambassador to Spain, is retiring from the foreign service. Charles G. Ross, press secretary, told a news conference Armour is expected to return to Washington, D. C., within two weeks. American diplomats have told reporters the United States may leave Armour's post unfilled for some time.

YOUNG SLAYER HELD FOR TESTS BY PSYCHIATRIST

Richard Sells, 13, of Kirkwood, Warren county, who was received at the Joliet penitentiary last week to begin a 50 year sentence for the murder of a woman who scolded him for crossing her lawn, may be held at the diagnostic depot for 60 days before psychiatrists determine where he should be confined, Warden Joseph E. Ragen said yesterday. Sells probably will be sent to the Pontiac prison, where he could attend school, Ragen said. He is believed to be the youngest person ever sentenced to the Illinois state penitentiary.

Divorce Is Granted Mrs. Marcelle Workman

Mrs. Marcelle Workman, 44, of 900 N. Michigan av., yesterday was granted a divorce by Judge John F. Haas in Superior court from Samuel Workman, of the Union League club, former acting state director of finance and head of a calculating company. She told the court that her husband had struck her Oct. 3, 1945, when he learned she hadn't walked the family dog that day. An out of court settlement was announced.

AFL Union Is Victor in Paper Workers' Vote

The International Brotherhood of Bookbinders [AFL] defeated the Paper Workers Organization committee [CIO], in a union representation election at the Harlich Manufacturing company, 1417 Jackson blvd., by a vote of 284 to 74, it was disclosed when the ballots were counted yesterday. The national labor relations board election was held Monday.

RUSSIAN TROOPS MOVE CLOSER TO CAPITAL OF IRAN

Tension Growing, Says Tehran Spokesman

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 21 (AP)—An Iranian military spokesman tonight declared that "approximately 6,000 Russian troops have been moved toward Karaj," 25 miles northwest of Tehran, and asserted "tension is growing" in troubled northwest Iran.

Karaj is on the highway between this capital and Kazvin, 80 miles to the northwest, where Russian troops yesterday halted Iranian reënforcements sent to put down disorders in Azerbaijan, the mountainous, Russian occupied Iranian province bordering the soviet union. The commander of the four Iranian battalions halted, but ignored soviet orders to return to Tehran. The men bivouacked in open country about seven miles from the Russian barracks and will remain there pending soviet-Iran discussions.

Tells of Red Order

The military spokesman said that "when the four battalions of Iranian troops en route to Azerbaijan passed the town of Karaj and were approaching the village of Sharifabad, seven miles from the Russian headquarters town of Kazvin, a jeep appeared with one Russian officer and four men armed with machine guns.

"The officer's interpreter ordered the commanding Iranian officer to halt and return immediately to Tehran, otherwise he would be obliged to use the machine guns.

"The Iranian officer agreed to halt but declared he was not returning to Tehran, and was awaiting orders from the Iran government at Sharifabad."

Asks Nonintervention

Iranian Premier Hakimi declared at a special session of parliament that his government "requests competent and friendly authorities and nations, allies and signatories to the tripartite treaty, which still have resident forces in Tehran, not to intervene in matters of internal affairs of our country."

The tripartite agreement, signed in 1942 by Iran, Britain, and Russia, gave assurances that Russian and British troops would be withdrawn from Iran after the war.

[In Moscow, informed quarters said discord in Azerbaijan province may lead to one of two developments: either a demand on the part of Iranian Azerbaijanians for autonomy within the Iranian state or a possible postponement by the Red army in withdrawing from northern Iran by next March 2.]

CALL 111 KURDS TO TRIAL IN IRAQ COURT MARTIAL

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Nov. 21 [Reuters]—The president of the Baghdad court martial has summoned 111 Barazanis [Kurd tribesmen] to attend court within seven days on a charge of rebellion against the Iraq government, it was learned here today.

Included in the 111 were the Mullah Mustapha and his brother, Sheik Ahmad al Barazani.

[Mustapha and his followers have been causing trouble in northern Kurdistan for some years. Last August Iraqi troops occupied their stronghold.]

Yanks in Japan, Korea Gorge on Turkey Dinners

TOKYO, Nov. 22 [Thursday] (AP)—American occupation forces in Japan and Korea ate nearly 1,000,000 pounds of turkey today at Thanksgiving day dinners. Sufficient turkey had been brought in by ship to provide each man with a pound and a half.

U. S. Carrier Enterprise Arrives to Return GIs

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Nov. 21 (AP)—The carrier Enterprise arrived today to take American troops back to the United States.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Nov. 22—Maryland Founders Sail

On Nov. 22, 1633, the Ark and the Dove, vessels of 350 and 50 tons, respectively, sailed for North America from Cowes, England. They carried about 320 persons as well as supplies and articles of trade.

When, after a three month voyage, they arrived at the peninsula between the Potomac and the Patuxent rivers, in Maryland, they proceeded to found a colony whose special glory was that it laid an early foundation for that freedom of worship which was to be a distinguishing mark of the future United States of America.

Cecil Calvert, brother of the Leonard Calvert who headed the expedition, had received from Charles I. the grant of a huge territory which included the present states of Maryland and Delaware and a large slice of Pennsylvania. He had obtained his land under a charter which could be construed to grant virtual freedom of religion to the colonists he enlisted.

The wisdom and the loftiness of character of the two Calverts were guarantees that the charter would be so construed, and Maryland became an oasis of tolerance. Persecuted citizens of other colonies went there to enjoy the freedom they could not find at home.

In the second decade of her existence Maryland kept herself in the van of progress by adopting a measure which one historian calls "the first instance in the history of the world where toleration even within the broad lines of a great religion was established by law."

The measure, entitled "an act concerning religion," not only guaranteed freedom of worship to all Christians but went so far as to assess fines against persons who should apply to their neighbors opprobrious epithets based on religious differences.

MISS SPOFFORD WILLS $876,736 TO HER COUSIN

Miss Florence Morrison Spofford, 69, former president of the Founders and Patriots of Illinois and a director of the Chicago chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, left an estate valued at $876,736, an inheritance tax appraisement filed yesterday in County court disclosed. She died Nov. 22, 1944. Federal estate taxes were listed at $153,591, and the state inheritance tax at $92,048. Bulk of the estate was left to a cousin, Mrs. Carrie M. Tyler, 110 S. Dearborn st. Miss Spofford was a granddaughter of Orsemus Morrison, who purchased the site of the Morrison hotel in 1830.

BRITAIN GUARDS HER INTERESTS IN IRAN, BEVIN VOWS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 21—The Labor government intends to safeguard Britain's imperial interests "in whatever part of the world they may be found," Foreign Secretary Bevin told the house of commons today.

He gave this over-all assurance to Conservative Fitzroy H. R. Maclean who asked if the government would safeguard British interests in southern Persia [Iran] and the Persian gulf.

Bevin refused, however, to disclose how the assurance would be carried out. "I cannot answer a question which would divulge the strategy of the chiefs of staff and everybody concerned," Bevin said.

NEW CABINET OF GREECE SWORN; REGENT STAYS

Report British Ban Public Meetings in Athens

Archbishop Damaskinos

ATHENS, Nov. 22 [Thursday]—(AP)—Archbishop Damaskinos resigned last night as Greek regent but he was persuaded to reconsider and a new cabinet headed by Themitocles Sophoulis was sworn in early today by the archbishop.

With political tension rising, Ronald Scobie, British commander in Athens, was said to have banned all public gatherings and confined British troops to their barracks.

Sophoulis, Liberal party leader, was ordered by Damaskinos Tuesday to form a new government following the resignation of Premier Panayotis Kanellopoulos.

Claims Allied Recognition

Hector MacNeil, British undersecretary of foreign affairs, who is in Athens, was quoted by former Premier Emmanuel Tsouderos as saying he would address a message to the Greek people declaring that the allies would recognize the Sophoulis regime as the legal and constitutional government of Greece.

King Assails Vote Delay

LONDON, Nov. 21 [Reuters]—King George of Greece, commenting on the formation and the policy of the new Greek government, today said he would regulate his attitude "without any reservation other than the interests of my people and the respect of its sovereign will."

"Postponement of the plebiscite for three years, accompanied by the formation of a one party government," the king continued, "creates a completely new situation."

[Britain is reported to have demanded delay in the plebiscite on the return of the king as a condition for fresh financial assistance to Greece. Another London dispatch said the king's statement was taken to mean that the final break had come between him and Britain.]

Plan to Double India's Steel Output in 7 Years

BOMBAY, India, Nov. 21 [Reuters]—Dr. John Matthai, a director of the Tata steel works at Jamshedpur, Bihar, said today the government of India expected India's steel output of 1,500,000 tons annually to double within the next seven years.

SEEK 5 MILLION TO BACK U. S. A-BOMB POLICY

Five million signatures to petitions demanding an "American policy" for the atomic bomb and full disclosure of the truth about Pearl Harbor are being sought by the American Foundation, 111 W. Washington st., Col. Charles R. Vincent, president, said yesterday. The completed petitions will be taken to congress.

"It is our belief that at a time when permanent peace seems improbable, the giving of the atomic bomb to potential enemies is the ultimate in diplomatic folly," one petition stated.

Nonpartisan, the American Foundation leadership is shared with Col Vincent by Avery Brundage, John Winterbotham, and Stuyvesant Hinman. State chapters of the foundation will be created as soon as possible, with Lansing Hoyt heading the movement in Wisconsin, Vincent said. Hoyt led the America First committee and MacArthur for President activities here.

Indian Students Protest War Trials; Two Killed

CALCUTTA, India, Nov. 21 (AP)—Two persons were killed and three seriously wounded tonight when police fired into a procession of university students demonstrating against the resumption of the Indian nationalist [pro-Jap] army trials in New Delhi.

Bad Weather Grounds Gates' Plane at Peiping

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 22 [Thursday] (AP)—Failure of Undersecretary of the Navy Artemus Gates and his party to arrive yesterday for a scheduled dinner with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was due to bad weather which kept their plane grounded at Peiping, the United States naval attache's office here said today.

LIBBY HOLMAN BARES RIFT AS HUSBAND DIES

Ralph Holmes

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Libby Holman's attorney said tonight the blues singer had been separated "about a month" from Actor Ralph Holmes, her second husband, who was found dead last night.

Benet Polikoff, the attorney, said the separation was "very amiable." He described Holmes' death as a "great shock" to Miss Holman.

Holmes, recently discharged from the United States army air force, was found dead in his east side apartment. Police said he had been dead several days and that death occurred from "apparently natural causes." Assistant Medical Examiner Robert C. Fisher said an autopsy had failed to disclose the cause of death. Police reported they found a bottle of sleeping tablets in Holmes' apartment.

Miss Holman's first husband, Z. Reynolds, heir to the Reynolds Tobacco fortune, was found dead of a bullet wound in 1932.

Miss Holman and Reynolds' best friend, Ab Walker, were charged with the slaying but the charges were dismissed without trial.

DON'T CALL IT INSURANCE

President Truman has presented to congress broad recommendation for a national health program, including what he chooses to call compulsory health insurance for the prepayment of medical costs. This is but one of five phases of the program proposed, under which federal funds would also be used for building hospitals and health centers thruout the country, for the expansion of public health activities, maternal and child health care, and for medical education and research.

Some of these are justifiable federal activities; some are dubious. While all of the subjects dealt with in his message are related, at least in the sense that they deal with health and medical care, they should properly be dealt with separately. Additional hospitals, better public health service, and more medical research are all desirable things. The principal question to be settled here is the extent to which federal participation in these activities is necessary or desirable, and the amount of money that federal taxpayers can afford to pay for these projects, in view of the other tremendous demands made upon them.

Prepayment of medical costs might be self-financed, altho the President's message leaves it open whether the total cost would be collected from the beneficiaries or half of it would be met by the federal treasury. Mr. Truman is anxious that this not be viewed as socialized medicine. We agree with him that the point is immaterial. However, he and other proponents of the plan shouldn't represent it as insurance. It isn't insurance. It is an income tax on wages to provide medical care at public cost.

Nearly all of us are familiar with the principles of insurance, which are essentially those of distributed risk, as President Truman said in his message. We carry insurance on our lives to protect our dependents against loss of support if we should die at an early age. We carry insurance against the loss of our houses by fire or other calamity. Most of us carry insurance to protect us against paying damages if we injure some one with our automobiles. Some of us carry insurance to pay our hospital bills for a limited period if we become ill. There are some private insurance plans which insure policy holders the payment of their doctor bills. But the fundamental principle of insurance is that the rate or premium is proportionate to the risk involved, and that all policy holders who offer the same risk pay the same rate. Life insurance costs you more if you are 40 than if you are 20. If you have a bad heart, you may still be able to buy life insurance, but you may have to pay the premium charged a man older than your calendar age, because the risk of your early death is greater than usual. If you have a wooden building, it will cost you more to be insured against fire than if you have a fireproof building. But if you are 23 years old and in good health, you can buy life insurance from almost any standard company for the same premium paid by any other 23 year old in good health.

The so-called health insurance program embodies neither of these principles, common to all insurance. The man with a record of good health gets no rating advantage over the man who has a record of chronic ill health. Furthermore, the payments are not fixed according to the probable cost of providing medical care to the individual, but according to his income. President Truman proposes that the tax, or a combined tax and a federal subvention, equal to 4 per cent of all incomes up to $3,600 a year be used to finance the system. If the costs were placed solely on the beneficiaries, this income tax would cost a man earning $300 a month $144 a year. The man earning $100 a month would get exactly the same protection for $48 a year. That's not insurance.

There is an arithmetical absurdity in President Truman's calculations. He says that medical and dental care, including hospitalization, now cost about 4 per cent of our national income. He proposes to collect 4 per cent of incomes below $3,600 a year and finance what is represented as adequate medical care for everybody in the country. A great many people are not getting adequate medical care because they can't pay for it. They would get more under this proposal. But what about the vast majority of people who are already getting adequate care? Quite obviously, if they, thru their contributions, have to pay for care for some one else who isn't buying it now, there's not going to be enough money left to give them the same degree of care that they are now getting. If they are going to get that sort of care, they are going to have to make their regular income tax contributions to the misnamed insurance fund and then supplement that by payments out of their own pocket to get the care they have been enjoying.

It may be a legitimate public purpose to tax people in order to provide medical care for their less healthy, less prosperous, or less capable fellow citizens. That, in fact, is already done thru tax supported hospitals and clinics. But such a project is not insurance. It's a new form of taxation and a very heavy one, and its proponents ought to acknowledge that fact in the beginning.

Mr. Truman also proposes insurance against loss of income from sickness. About all he says is that he thinks that would be a good idea. Until he brings forth a plan showing what it would cost and who would pay the cost, it is fruitless to discuss it.

"AN ENVIABLE POSITION"

The atomic bomb and ocean spanning rockets may alter strategic concepts in coming wars, but they had no appreciable effect upon the war America has just won. The United States was the sole possessor of the atomic weapon, and the Germans were too late in perfecting test models of buzz bombs capable of traversing the Atlantic. Strategic considerations which prevailed before our entrance into the war were sound. The ocean barriers on either side of us protected us from invasion. They presented an insuperable problem in logistics for any potential enemy, especially if we had a powerful navy and air force to protect our sea frontiers.

THE TRIBUNE repeatedly took this position when alarmists were saying that the ocean barrier no longer existed. Nothing that has happened since has persuaded us that our views were mistaken. Our argument was echoed by President Truman, in his Navy day speech, when he said that even in the atomic age our navy was capable of protecting our shores from attack.

Now comes Vice Adm. C. M. Cooke, deputy chief of naval operations, to say that the United States, "separated as it is by thousands of miles of ocean on either side," depends as always upon a strong navy to safeguard its shores. The admiral was arguing against consolidation of the army and navy, which, he said, would "surrender this enviable position." Whatever the merits of his argument to keep the services separate, the fact remains that America still has an "enviable position" geographically, and that this is its best insurance against occupation by any enemy, just as it was in 1941.

The Japanese themselves concede that even the outlying bastion of Hawaii could not be successfully invaded. Testifying before the congressional committee investigating the Pearl Harbor attack, Rear Adm. T. B. Inglis, chief of navy intelligence, said that the Japanese war plan dictating the attack contemplated no attempt at a landing because of "insuperable logistics problems." The Japanese war leaders knew they could not move the troops necessary for a landing, or the material required to supply them, to islands lying 2,400 miles off our west coast. If they could not do that, how could any enemy hope to land an invading force on our own shores and sustain it there?

So much for the most important of the artificially generated fears with which the propagandists in 1940 and 1941 endeavored to stampede the American people into war.

THANKSGIVING

Any American who doesn't have a profound sense of gratitude today for favors received since last Thanksgiving day is a cold-blooded customer, indeed. This is a good day to remember that the plans called for the invasion of Kyushu in the Japanese homeland this month. If the Japanese had not surrendered our soldiers and marines would be fighting another, a bloodier, and a more difficult Okinawa campaign today. Our navy would be subjected to heavier kamikaze attacks than any it experienced. The casualties on land and sea would be mounting by the hour and would long since have been numbered in tens of thousands.

All this and much more like it we have been spared. Even those who regard the atomic bomb as the summation of evil cannot deny that thus far, at any rate, it has saved far more lives than it has taken, and saved more property than it has destroyed.

In this year, too, the nation has again been blessed with abundant harvests. America will not lack for food and will be able, without serious hardship at home, to relieve distress in many lands. For that we and those who will share our surplus should be grateful.

The fighting is ended, but the hatred, the bitterness, and the habit of violence which the wars spawned are still plaguing the world. Shameful wars of enslavement are being fought in the outposts of empire in Asia. Europe, too, is well started on another round of aggression. New alliances looking toward new wars are being forged. Hunger and despair are driving men toward new madnesses. In the light of these circumstances we can still be grateful for blessings received, but we cannot look to the future with anything but the gravest misgivings.

Many of the very nations which have united in an organization dedicated to preserving the peace are taking the leading part in driving the world toward new and more terrible wars. Plainly, then, we shall not escape the fate that is being prepared for us by placing overmuch faith in the new instrumentalities of peace. What hope there is lies in striving as best we can to drive revenge and hate, greed and suspicion from our hearts and from the hearts of all men. That is a far harder task than any which faced the conference at San Francisco, but perhaps not an insuperable one. On this day men can give thanks that the remedy lies in their own hands. If they really want peace they can have it.

LO, THE POOR MALE!

[Hartford, Conn., Courant]

The busy statisticians of one of our leading insurance companies have just emerged from a welter of figures to announce to a waiting world that not only is "the weaker sex" a misnomer as far as female mortality is concerned, but that it is becoming constantly further from the truth as time and the human race go on. The female of the species is outliving the male by an ever widening margin.

Rapid advances in medical science have remarkably improved the life expectancy of both sexes in the last two decades, but it is to be noted that favoritism still continues. The death rate among white females has declined 43 per cent in the interval, as against a mere 26 per cent drop for the males, according to studies among the company's policyholders. Only one important cause of death, in fact, showed a decline among men and a rise among women in this period. That was diabetes, but it would undoubtedly be completely unsound from a medical viewpoint to attribute this tendency to the womenfolk's greater fondness for sweets.

Test Your Horse Sense

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. Which one of these words is inappropriate in this general grouping?
   Clavicle Biceps Vertebra Tibia
2. This is the first peace time Thanksgiving in how many years?
   Three Four Five Six
3. The first year in which Thanksgiving was celebrated on a nation-wide basis by proclamation of the President was 1808 1848 1864 1896
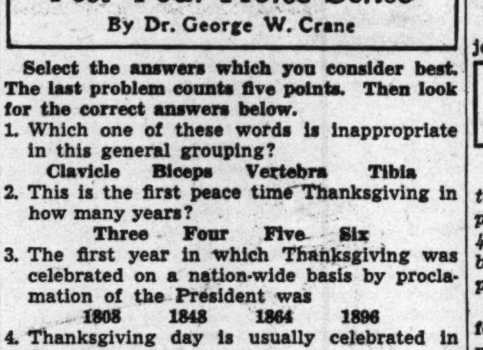
4. Thanksgiving day is usually celebrated in Canada in which month?
   September October November December
5. At the first Thanksgiving in the new world, over 80 Indians were guests, but they brought plenty of meat, which made which sound on the hoof?
   Quack Cockadoodle doo Oink Gobble
6. Perform the additions and subtractions indicated in the sketch below. Then you will arrive at the aim of Thanksgiving.



Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

PRESSMAN'S HOLIDAY

No matter what dates are marked in red on the calendar, the morning newspaper writer is not a holiday maker. Unless he wangles a day off, his observances of the traditional family festivals are brief overtures or postludes to the customary routine of duty. Yet after 42 years of service, this column can testify that it has never heard any grousing among the hands because of this professional necessity. The press, we suspect, is slightly out of step with the trend of the times and the march of the masses; it likes to work. [So do actors.] A day in the office when other citizens are loafing in enormous numbers is irksome chiefly because it is dull.

Once upon a time—and a better time than now—the editor of this column was a drama critic. On the Thursdays that are consecrated to the eating of turkey, he would be slugging away at the Sunday page. On Christmases he would often find a cluster of openings to review, and would dispose of two of them, matinee and night. Still, Santa Claus came as usual.

Once, however, in the lonesome, later years of the Chicago stage, we went on a Christmas strike. Alexander Woollcott was in town, flirting coyly with the idea of taking over the leading role in a play we had already reviewed. It was rumored that he would sneak into the cast on the Christmas matinee, and the populace was supposed to watch for this event with bated breath. Therefore a New York newspaper wired us: "Please wire your review of Woollcott opening, if he joins show."

Our answer was: "If you think I am going to stand on a cold Clark st. curbstone on Christmas day, waiting for Woollcott to make up his mind, you have another think coming." . . . This caused a slight gasp of consternation on Broadway; it suggested an indifference to the exhibitionism of the ineffable Alec that verged on heresy. The New York Times' theatrical reporter paragraphed the incident as a symptom of rebellion in the west.

The foregoing remarks may suggest that we plan to do a little work today. But not much. . . . About 6 p. m. we will be asking for another slice off the breast, with cranberries.

WE THANK THEE

Not for our lands, our wide-flung prairie wealth,
Our mighty rivers born of friendly spring,
Our inland seas, our mountains proud and high,
Forests and orchards richly blossoming;
Not for these, Lord, our deepest thanks are said
As, humbly glad, we hail this day serene;
Not for these most, dear Father of our lives,
But for the love that in all things is seen.

We thank Thee, Lord, on this recurring day,
For liberty to worship as we will;
We thank Thee for the hero souls of old
Who dared wild seas their mission to fulfill.
O, gird our hearts with stalwart faith in good,
Give us new trust in Thy providing hand,
And may a spirit born of brotherhood
Inspire our hearts and bless our native land.

Memo to Vincent Starrett

Sherlock Holmes students will recall that in "The Adventure of the Greek Interpreter," Mycroft Holmes said to Dr. Watson, "I am glad to meet you, sir . . . I hear of Sherlock everywhere since you became his chronicler."

In Forest Ray Moulton's book, "Consider the Heavens," page 184, I have found: "Sherlock Holmes never followed more relentlessly and skilfully the apparently slender threads of evidence to the solution of a mystery than does the astronomer in pursuing the meaning of the varying light of [variable] stars."

Thus, while Sherlock's knowledge of astronomy was "nil," according to Watson, he has finally got himself into a book upon the subject. These astronomers do get around. J. A. Finch

OUR THANKS WE RAISE

A year ago we trembled in the dark
Of war's uncertainties—the mailman's tread,
So welcome once, became a cause for dread,
The phone bell's ring perhaps a summons stark.
Around the board the jests would miss their mark
While thoughts strayed off to those in peril led,
Some lying wounded, others bravely dead,
Or ones at home who would so soon embark.

Our thanks we raise that at our board this year
No shadows fall to mar the happiness
Of family circles rounded once again.
O Lord, we thank Thee for an end to fear,
For quiet hope succeeding grievous stress,
And songs of praise to end with glad "Amen."

C. B. writes: I have been informed that my former husband was killed in an airplane crash when on the way to the United States. How can I have this casualty confirmed? We had two children by our marriage and have been divorced for three years. If he has married again and made his second wife beneficiary of his insurance, can I start action for nonsupport of the children? He did not provide for them during the three years he was in service. Would his children have prior right to his policy even tho he named his second wife beneficiary? What action can I take in the interest of the children? I have been remarried for three years.

As guardian of the two children of your former husband, you may ask the adjutant general, Washington, D. C., for confirmation of his reported death. If your former husband has remarried and named his second wife principal beneficiary of his insurance policy she will receive all payments so long as she lives. In the event of her death before all guaranteed payments have been made, his children may become eligible to receive the unpaid payments, providing no other contingent beneficiary was named. Had you made application for an allowance for his children when he was in service you could have obtained $50 a month. If his death is verified there is no one to bring action against for nonsupport. Also, if the report of death is true you may apply to the veterans' administration for pension for the two children. This is payable until they become 18, or 21 if attending school. Application should be made on veterans' administration form 534.

On Dec. 21, 1620, America observed its first Thanksgiving. In the spring the Pilgrims had done their planting and anxiously awaited results as survival depended on the success of the harvest. When the grain was cut and found to be abundant, they praised God and celebrated the occasion with a great feast. From that time a day of gratitude was often set aside when major obstacles were overcome.

Washington in 1789 issued a proclamation to honor the Constitution and "the establishment of a form of government that would make for safety and happiness." In 1863 Lincoln fixed the date as we now know it. On each succeeding year, the Presidents have adhered to the plan and we can obtain a fairly good idea as to the state of the nation by reviewing these annual proclamations. Nineteen forty-five is not "just another year." It is one that demands special consideration, for America has emerged victoriously from a dreadful war.

The trip on the Mayflower had been uneventful except for two deaths. But, on landing, food poisoning broke out, caused by the eating of mussels gathered on the shore. This was followed by an epidemic of unknown origin, possibly smallpox, typhoid, or acute tuberculosis. So many were afflicted that the ship as well as homes were converted into hospitals. The death rate was enormous and to these losses were added more from overexposure, occupational injuries, and scurvy.

Soon but half of the little band was left and, as a matter of fact, only six or seven could be considered entirely well. The sorrow and grief associated with such a calamity must have been terrific. But in spite of this tragedy, combined with unsettled conditions, the severity of the winter, and the danger that lurked everywhere, the colonists kept faith and thanked their Creator for His blessings.

Unlike the early immigrants, and those in war-torn countries, the majority of us have not had to undergo unusual hardships nor deprivations. We also have the benefit of a vastly superior type of medical care.

Those who sailed on the Mayflower were not without help, however, for among the passengers was Dr. Samuel Fuller. He was a highly respected physician and a deacon in the church. His services were requested frequently not only for afflictions of the body but for spiritual advice as well. In keeping with his era, he could only offer various herbs, bloodletting, and forms of crude surgery. Notwithstanding the appalling mortality he was consulted by his fellow townspeople and those from neighboring settlements.

Let us be thankful that medicine has changed. The more recent improvements in education, wonder drugs, diagnosis, and surgery are but a few of the benefits that we have received. Considering the magnitude of the war, only a small fraction of our casualties succumbed. Most of the credit for this record must be attributed to these advancements.

BLOOD CHECK

Mrs. W. M. writes: Is it possible to determine whether or not a child has rheumatic fever by a blood sedimentation rate?

REPLY

This test is not necessarily specific for rheumatic fever as a rapid rate is present in a number of conditions. The procedure is helpful, however, in establishing the diagnosis when other symptoms suggest the disorder. In addition, it aids in determining when the disease is subsiding.

BABY'S BATH

Mrs. M. writes: How soon after the baby eats is it safe to bathe him?

REPLY

Bathing after eating is not recommended because, as a general rule, the child falls asleep at the completion of a meal. In addition, the jostling associated with bathing often leads to regurgitation.

TONSIL REMOVAL

F. R. writes: Do any hazards attend the removal of tonsils in older persons?

REPLY

As with youngsters, hemorrhage is of the greatest concern. Bleeding may be more difficult to control, because of the thickened vessel walls.

JAGGED TEETH

Mrs. B. writes: What causes a child's second teeth to appear with ragged edges?

REPLY

This condition is not well understood. It may be that improper contact of the temporary set causes the defect.

Beyond and Before This Day

It is difficult to settle down to this first Thanksgiving day of peace. The air is too filled with unrest and dark broodings. Too much that we hope for the world is inchoate and, we sometimes think in the dark of the night, foredoomed. Shall we give thanks for a peace as uncertain as this? Shall we give thanks for what we are doing with the peace? For what we are doing with the smashed atom?

Perhaps it would be better to go back to the spirit of that first Thanksgiving, look out over the fullness of our rich land, and give thanks that it survived, unscathed, the bitter years behind; that our planes no longer fly out from it bearing bombs, that no planes bearing bombs ever flew over us; and that we have been spared the riots, famine, plague, and new wars exchanged for the old which now grip the rest of the earth.

Here a fat harvest is in, the men are coming home from the war, the sailors from the sea, the prisoners from the rack. The cornucopia flows over, the table is heavy with plenty, what remains of the family is united at last.

Our losses were heavy, but victory was ours. The war years seemed long, but were short far beyond expectation.

We are alive. We are still young. We are still strong. Our earth has not been scarred, our cities have not been leveled. We have harvest to share. We bear no malice toward any nation. We have great thanks to give.

Identification

The advance publicity for Lauritz Melchior's Chicago concert billed him as "the star of the movie, 'Thrill of Romance.'" As we recall, he did rather well in a road show called "Tristan and Isolde" with a girl named Flagsted, too.

Success

The letter, mailed in Hohenlinden, Bavaria, was signed "Dejected 50-plus pointers." Its contents: "We of the Army of Occupation, guardians of the peace won dearly by the tremendous sacrifices of essential war workers now on strike for the security they fought so hard for, have long forgotten our desires to return to civilian life as we are now complacent to our future forgotten station and now turn our desires toward the greater problems of life—namely: Did this letter get thru with the German stamps upon the envelope?" It did. The stamps were two six-pfennig purple numbers bearing portraits of Unser Adolf. The envelope was marked both "Free" and "Air Mail." It came the slow way. Just about as much as can be expected of Hitler's image.

Bretton Woods Plan?

B. G. Davis, Chicago publisher currently in London, reports from there that he was eating lunch in the Parliament dining room the other day when a waitress, recognizing his American accent, slipped over to his table. "Do you mind if I ask a little favor, sir?" she began hesitantly. "That, is, sir, exchange a favor?" Mr. Davis, very surprised, asked what it was. "Do you have any American chewing gum, sir? I'm dying for a piece." Mr. Davis gave her a package he had received from an airline hostess on the trip over. The waitress then slipped him a teaspoon stamped "House of Parliament." He is keeping this as a souvenir of the new international rate of exchange.

The gag that brings the house down at the London musical revue, "Fine Feathers," by the way, is: "Now that our allies have left, we can have our wives back!"

How to Recognize Your Wife

A soldier who had been in the European theater for 2½ years came back home the other night and was routed to Camp Grant for discharge. He wired his wife his whereabouts and she, jumping into the car she had bought him as a surprise, hurriedly drove there. At the camp an M. P. directed her to a parking lot. She parked and had just started to back out of the car when she heard her husband scream: "Betty!" After 30 months he had recognized her by one ankle and half a leg.

HARD ON PEONS

Druce Lake, Ill., Nov. 12—Tucked away on one of the back pages of yesterday's SUNDAY TRIBUNE was an item telling of the outcome of a trial downstate where two men were fined and placed on probation for conspiring to import Mexicans to work on their farms, while the Mexicans were given sentences of from 3 to 18 months. When thousands of well fed and hearty people are refusing to take jobs and prefer to sit in idleness on $20 a week unemployment insurance, the idea of these ignorant and hard working peons being sent to jail because they left their homes and friends and came up here, not to steal, but to work, seems most unjust.

LOWER POINT MEN LEAVE FIRST

SAIPAN, Nov. 9—We are members of the army awaiting transportation home. Most of us are men with four and one-half years of service and two years or more overseas. We are members of the 80 point bracket under the army point discharge system.

The army selected the point system as being a representative idea of the men in the army. No one we have spoken to has even been approached for ideas on this subject prior to the inception of the system. Incidentally, we favored the "first-in, first-out" idea. Most of us left our assigned units for this casual depot on Saipan around Oct. 15. Upon arrival, we learned that 70 pointers were being processed, but that 80 pointers would be given preference. There were 16,049 men ahead of us on shipment orders. We underwent our processing and are performing the expected details. The Saipan Target—the official army organ here—issues figures daily which represent shipments and arrivals as of the current dates. As of Nov. 6 a total of 18,696 men have been shipped since our arrival here. This indicates an error or slip-up somewhere. No preference has been extended to 80 pointers to date and many 70 pointers have been shipped. We believe that we are the last of the 80 pointers to leave the Pacific. We have been in this depot 21 days, whereas the average stay here has been 16 days.

The people believe that the army is operating on the point system, but the above does not substantiate their belief.

GOOD FOR WHOSE HEALTH?

Chicago, Nov. 19—How can we keep the millions of Democratic burocrats on the public pay roll now that the war is over? Simple, says President Truman. We'll just clip 4 per cent off everybody's paycheck for a health program, and use it to pay the salaries of the burocrats who administer it. If there's any money left, of course, it can be spent for health.

ATTLEE'S SWORD AND BIBLE

Chicago, Nov. 18—What irony that Attlee should speak of brotherhood while Great Britain is exterminating the natives all over the orient and taking their land from them by force. PASS NEW CARS AROUND

Chicago, Nov. 13—The last three times the Chicago Surface Lines added new and improved street cars the bulk of them went to Clark and Madison streets. I believe some of first models on Clark later went to Wentworth. True, these are long, also heavily traveled lines.

Now I read in the paper the surface lines are getting another 200 cars and putting them on Clark street. I don't think this policy fair to rest of city. These 200 cars and remaining ones on order should be equally distributed over all heavily burdened lines.

Come on Chicago's greater south side straphangers, speak for your seat now before it's too late.

HIS REPORTERS ARE PURE

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 15—Your Nov. 11 editorial, "Newspaper Ethics in Montreal," is one of those scurrilous, blanket indictments which are made to look ridiculous when exposed to the light of truth. Had you read carefully the report of your correspondent, Frank Hughes, on which the editorial was based, you would have noticed that he said, "Editors and reporters of Montreal's three English language dailies insisted that their city hall men had refused the bonus checks, altho in times past the reporter of at least one paper accepted them."

As a matter of plain fact, no member of the Montreal Star city hall staff receives a bonus, gratuity, or favor of any kind. We have a strict rule against such practices, a rule scrupulously observed and obeyed by all members of the editorial staff. Not content with the inference that all Montreal reporters are "grafters" and beholden to politicians, your editorial strikes a holier than thou attitude which is in poor taste, to say the least. The ethics of the Montreal Star are every bit as clean and lofty as those of THE TRIBUNE, and the Canadian press in general compares favorably with the press of the United States in that particular.

MARRIAGE ANNULMENT

Chicago, Nov. 19—An article entitled "The Growing Annulment Evil" in the September issue of a magazine suggests that marriages can be annulled on a variety of easily provided grounds, including "secret determination of either husband or wife never to have children." Since any childless couple could make such a claim, I wonder why there has been so little discussion of annulment in your column. A. N.

The article was written by a New York judge. As published in a magazine of national circulation it creates the impression that it is talking about rules of general application, but this is not the case.

New York is exceptional in having only one ground, adultery, for absolute divorce. The New York courts have yielded to community pressure in expanding the annulment remedy to fill the gap. Most of the cases discussed in the article would be decided the other way in other states. Corpus Juris, Vol. 38, page 1301, says: "It is generally held that a greater degree of fraud is required to avoid a marriage than will suffice to invalidate an ordinary contract, but this doctrine has been denied in some cases, and in New York the rule has been broadly laid down that every misrepresentation of a material fact, made with intent to induce the other party to enter into the marriage contract, and without which it would not have been made, is sufficient to authorize its avoidance."

We agree with you that the rules stated in the article make annulment absurdly easy. We are not surprised that under these rules the ratio of annulment to divorce has increased in New York, from 1 in 50 to 1 in 3, as stated in the article. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT

CHINESE PERIL RED HELD PORT IN MANCHURIA

Advance 60 Miles from Great Wall

CHUNGKING, Nov. 21 (AP)—A Chinese Nationalist army, striking 60 miles into Manchuria without a fight, threatened today to overrun the communist held port of Hulutao and seize a solid foothold in the territory. The sweep was reported by the army newspaper Ho Ping Pao.

Advices reaching here said the communists might be forced to yield Hulutao, seized after the Russians withdrew, to avoid being trapped against the sea by the Nationalist columns.

Thus the Nationalists would get a port at which they originally had intended to land their Manchurian occupation forces.

With Hulutao as a base, the Nationalists would be free to strike northward toward Chinhsien and Mukden without relying on the overland coastal route.

Negotiations Break Down

PEIPING, China, Nov. 20 [Delayed] (AP)—It was reported authoritatively today that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek ordered his administrators home from Manchuria because of a break down in negotiations with Russia.

Members of the nationalist delegation, which was sent to Manchuria's capital, Changchun, after Japan's surrender to take over the administration, said on their arrival by plane here today they had been held almost incommunicado.

The group included the chairmen of the nine provinces of Manchuria, the Chungking designated mayors of the port of Dairen, and the city of Harbin, special commissioners and chairmen of the central government's military council with their field headquarters staffs. Two members of the delegation were missing when the group left Changchun Saturday for Peiping. Why they stayed behind was not revealed.

Present "Score of Demands."

Members of the delegation said the Russian authorities in Changchun had presented "a score of demands" to Gen. Hsiung Shih-hui, representing the generalissimo, who took them to Chungking in person.

The nature of the conditions which Russia reportedly set up to be met before national troops would be allowed to enter Manchuria by sea or air were not disclosed. Delegation members described them however as "more harsh than the 21 demands made by Japan on China in 1915."

[In 1915 Japan made demands that would have undermined China's sovereignty.]

DISCLOSE OSS MAN KILLED BY CHINESE REDS

PEIPING, China, Nov. 21 (AP)—An American army officer was killed and three other Americans and a group of Chinese taken prisoner by Chinese communist guards while on a special mission in North China shortly after the end of the war, it was learned today.

The officer was Capt. John M. Burch, who before the war was a Baptist missionary at Hangchow. For 28 months he had operated behind the Japanese lines for the office of strategic services [OSS]. With him were Capt. Curtis A. Grimes, Peiping born son of a missionary, Sgt. Albert Meyers, and an officer identified only as Lt. Ogle. They were held captive in Yenan, communist capital in Shensi province, for three weeks after a 400 mile march.

Word of their capture was reported by OSS headquarters to Lt. Gen. Wedemeyer, American commander in China, who took up the incident with communist representatives in Chungking and effected their release.

KEEP MARINES IN CHINA TO GET JAPS OUT: BYRNES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes said today that American marines are in North China because of a promise made by the Japanese government last August to help in the surrender and repatriation of Japanese soldiers there.

This was the first disclosure of a pledge to the Japanese to use American forces in China to help get Jap troops home. Heretofore, the United States government position has been that it was helping an ally, the government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, to rid China of defeated enemy forces.

Two weeks ago, Byrnes said plans were under way for withdrawal of the marines from China. He said that his information now is the same as it was then. The mission of the marines is still regarded as a strictly military activity, Byrnes said, adding that political considerations—which he did not define—arise only incidentally.

ROOSEVELT JR. TO JOIN POLETTI N. Y. LAW FIRM

New York, Nov. 21 [Special]—Comdr. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the late President's son, will join the law firm headed by Charles A. Poletti, who won notoriety for his wholesale pardoning of criminals during the one month he was governor of New York in 1942.

Comdr. Roosevelt, now on terminal leave from the navy, will enter the firm of Poletti, Diamond, Rabin, Freidin, and Mackay in December, after he has taken a holiday in Florida, Poletti said.

Poletti recently retired as head of the allied military government in Italy to which he was appointed after being defeated for election in 1942 as lieutenant governor. Previously as lieutenant governor he succeeded to the top state job when Gov. Lehman resigned to become foreign relief director. During the 29 days Poletti served, until Thomas E. Dewey took over, he issued 40 pardons and commuted sentences of 15 convicts.

INDONESE FIGHT BRITISH AT JAVA INTERNEE CAMP

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 21 (AP)—Fighting broke out in Ambarawa in central Java today after Indonesians attacked a civilian internment camp. British Gurkha troops in an overnight march rescued thousands of women and children endangered by the new eruption of battle.

The disorders flared amid reports that Indonesian leaders might cancel peace talks scheduled for tomorrow with the Dutch and British in efforts to end fighting which has caused an estimated 6,000 Nationalist casualties at Soerabaja alone.

Indonesians attacked the Ambarawa camp with mortar and machine-gun fire, setting it aflame, dispatches said. The Gurkhas marched from Semarang, scene of bitter fighting yesterday. British planes flew over the town.

In Batavia, Amir Sjarifuddin, information minister of the unrecognized Indonesian republic, announced that Dr. Mohammad Roem, chairman of the Indonesian national committee in Batavia, had been shot and badly wounded by Dutch Amboinese troops.

The Dutch news agency Aneta said Premier Sutan Sjahrir had called a special cabinet meeting after the shooting, and said it was indicated the meeting of Indonesians, British and Dutch, scheduled for tomorrow, would be canceled.

Sjarifuddin was quoted by Aneta as saying the cabinet meeting was called to consider the increasing difficulties faced by the Indonesian government attempting to work "in the present atmosphere."

Earlier, the allied command had ordered all Dutch native troops withdrawn from Batavia as a result of serious outbreaks of disorders in the capital Monday and yesterday. The order was issued after Indonesian officials charged the Amboinese troops with deliberate attacks on Indonesians.

Smoke billowed over Koenigsplein, Batavia's central square, this morning from a fire in the native quarter.

Meanwhile, a dispatch reported the situation in Soerabaja had quieted to some extent after 12 days of fighting.

Two British Mosquito bombers again dropped 500 pound bombs on Indonesian gun positions yesterday near Tambaksarioso village, two miles west of the Soerabaja air field. The RAF also strafed these positions.

Two Indian soldiers were killed by snipers during the night. The only other activity reported was a British artillery barrage against Indonesian positions, lasting about two hours.

Aneta said the situation at Semarang was quiet after the British ground and air offensive yesterday, adding that British patrols were steadily cleaning up isolated spots of resistance in the town. The RAF said that two companies of Indian troops were flown to Semarang from Soerabaja.

Japanese Report Women Don't Care About Voting

TOKYO, Japan, Nov. 21 (AP)—Women in rural Japan don't care about their newly granted right to vote. The Kyodo news agency today said a survey of farm women conducted by the all-Japan Agricultural association showed only one district interested. "Most of them don't care," the association concluded. "Those who want the right are regarded as eccentric."

5 POSTS IN NEW FRENCH CABINET TO COMMUNISTS

De Gaulle Himself Heads National Defense

BY ROBERT SAGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 21—One month to the day after France went to the polls for the first time under the Fourth republic, Gen. de Gaulle succeeded today in forming a government with the same outward show of harmony that marked his unanimous election as president by the constituent assembly a week ago.

The new cabinet that De Gaulle will present for the assembly's approval Friday achieves the hitherto seemingly impossible feat of being a government of national unity. Not only are the Communists with 152 deputies, the Socialists with 146, and the Popular Republicans [M. R. P.] with 136, each represented by five ministers, but 152 members of the assembly's moderate and right parties also take their place, with four ministers to whom are added two nonparty ministers. Thus De Gaulle's cabinet will represent every segment of the nation's politics, from Communists to the rightist Democratic Alliance.

New Defense Setup

Under an ingenious new setup the war ministry along with the ministries of navy and air are eliminated. Instead, De Gaulle himself takes over a new, enlarged portfolio of national defense, which controls all three branches of the armed services. Under him is Communist Charles Tillon, former air minister, who draws the title of minister of armaments. Acting as Tillon's twin will be Minister of Armies Edmond Michelet, a Catholic newcomer from the M. R. P., who was formerly chairman of the French committee in Dachau concentration camp.

Political balance of the cabinet is fortified by appointment of four ministers of state without portfolio—Maurice Thorez, secretary general of the Communist party; Vincent Auriol, Socialist leader; Francisque Gay, and M. R. P. chief, and Louis Jacquinot of the rightist Democratic Alliance, representing all minority groups.

The cabinet is completed by two nonpartisan ministers, Raoul Dautry, a technician, who will continue as minister of reconstruction and urbanism, and leftist Novelist Andre Malraux, who takes over the ministry of information. The ministry of prisoners and deportees is dropped and its minister, Henri Frenay of the Combat Resistance group, goes with it, while a new ministry is created, that of population, which will be headed by Robert Prigent of the M. R. P.

Other Communist Posts

Francois Billoux, who was communist minister of public health, will take over the post of national economy, which Rene Pleven previously combined with finance. The ministry of industrial production will be taken from Laborite Robert Lacoste and given to Marcel Paul, communist survivor of Buchenwald, who is just entering political life. The last ministry to go to a Red will be labor, which was taken by Ambroize Croizat who sat in the Algiers consultative assembly.

Key posts of foreign affairs, interior, and finance are retained respectively by Georges Bidault, Adrien Tixier, and Rene Pleven. Chief changes give Pierre Tanguy-Prigent, former socialist minister of agriculture, the food ministry; Jacques Soustelle, former minister of information, gets colonies, and Paul Giacobbi, Radical Socialist, takes over national education.

FEWER YANKS HIRING MORE BERLIN HELP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, Nov. 21—Berlin district headquarters announced today that the United States military establishment here, numbering about 15,000 men, employs 30,000 German civilians, a great majority of them women. In August, when the garrison numbered 30,000, it employed only 6,500 civilians. Of the half million persons registered for work in the American sector, 300,000 are employed in civil jobs, 92,000 are unemployed, and 85,000 are unemployable because of sickness or disability.

MODERN PORTIA, AGE, MAYBE 75, STARS IN COURT

Defends Herself in Suit of Husband, 36

Mrs. Eleanor Soderberg of 730 Hinman av., Evanston, whose age is the basis of a legal dispute, appeared before Judge Elmer J. Schnackenberg in Circuit court yesterday on a citation obtained by her husband, Andrew, 36, of 805 Chicago av., Evanston, a former private in the army, seeking return of his civilian clothes.

Mrs. Soderberg was not represented by counsel. When Judge Schnackenberg made inquiry, she informed him that she could handle the matter herself.

"There's really nothing involved here," she said, "except some old clothes. I don't see why I need a lawyer."

Wears Uniform to Court

Soderberg, who was discharged recently after serving three and a half years overseas, appeared in uniform. He didn't have anything else to wear, he explained.

The former soldier has a suit pending for a divorce or an annulment, charging his wife with misrepresenting her age when they were married June 8, 1941, as 42. She is actually 75, the soldier alleged.

Soderberg's attorneys, Joseph H. and Norman Becker, explained that a 20 year endowment insurance policy which Mrs. Soderberg had taken out when she was 52 had paid off three years ago.

"Isn't it true," Norman Becker demanded of Mrs. Soderberg, "that your actual age is 75?"

Judge Is Rebuked

"Wouldn't you like to know, dearie?" retorted Mrs. Soderberg.

Judge Schnackenberg leaned toward the witness. "Just between us two, he asked, how old are you?"

Mrs. Soderberg bristled. "Say, listen, you," she said, "I'll tell that at the proper time. My age has no bearing on this motion."

The judge subsided. "I stand rebuked," he said. "Your feet are on solid legal ground."

Regarding the clothes, she told the court that her husband had instructed her to give them away or sell them, since they wouldn't fit him upon his return. She had sold them, she testified.

Protests Word Lover

"Don't you mean you gave them to your lover?" Norman Becker demanded.

Mrs. Soderberg drew herself up, and addressed the court.

"Mr. Becker is taking unfair advantage," she said. "In Evanston, lover is a low word. We better folks in the better sections of Evanston prefer the term suitor." Turning to Becker, she continued:

"Please confine yourself to the word suitor, hereafter, dearie."

Becker produced the faded photograph of a man, which she allegedly sent to her husband overseas. On the back was inscribed: "Isn't he handsome? This man wants to marry me."

Says Picture 20 Years Old

Mrs. Soderberg donned her spectacles and examined the photograph.

"O that," she exclaimed. "I just sent that to him to make him jealous. That picture is 20 years old. Look at the clothes he is wearing."

"Isn't that your lov-suitor?" Becker pursued. Mrs. Soderberg giggled.

"I'm all thru with men," she said.

At the conclusion of the hearing Judge Schnackenberg complimented Mrs. Soderberg on her legal talents, but told her she'd better find her husband's clothes if she could and return them to him.

Sales at 2.62 Billions in Victory Loan Drive

Individual sales in the Victory Loan drive have reached $2,620,000,000 towards a 4 billion dollar objective, the war finance division of the treasury department in Washington, D. C., announced yesterday. Of this total, 689 millions in E bonds was sold. North Dakota was the first state in the nation to top its E bond quota, with a recorded $10,026,000, or 100.26 per cent of its mark.

COURT CUTS OFF WORD OF PRAISE FOR YAMASHITA

BY ROBERT CROMIE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 22 [Thursday]—Defense attempts to have Lt. Gen. Akira Muto, chief of staff to Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, accused war criminal, put in a last good word for the former Philippines commander, failed today when the praise was ordered stricken from the record.

Maj. Gen R. B. Reynolds, president of the military commission trying Yamashita, interrupted in the middle of a sentence to caution Muto that he was not a character witness and that his remarks were irrelevant.

Muto had been asked by Col. Harry E. Clarke, chief defense counsel, at the conclusion of direct testimony whether he had anything further to say, and Muto began: "I can think of only one more thing I would like to say. To me the idea of Gen. Yamashita being indicted as a war criminal is something the like of which I have never seen or dreamed. I was absolutely astounded when I learned about it——." That was as far as he got.

Denies Praising Secret Police

Capt. Jack Pace, of New York City, cross examined Muto for 45 minutes but failed to upset the plump little former chief of staff's testimony.

Earlier, Muto admitted that Yamashita sent a letter commending the Kempei Tai [army secret police] but it was only for nipping a plot last November to blow up part of his headquarters in Fort McKinley. Muto denied that the letter praised all of the work performed by the secret police. The prosecution had introduced Yamashita's letter after witnesses testified to atrocities committed by the Kempei Tai.

Muto also denied that Yamashita told the late Gen. Artemio Ricarte that an order to massacre Filipinos had been issued, declaring no such order existed.

Surprised, He Says

Yesterday Muto testified that he was extremely surprised by the stories of atrocities told to the military court. He said Yamashita had ordered that there be no mistreatment of Filipinos and had forbidden "large scale incendiarism" in Manila.

Muto said that Palawan, where American prisoners were massacred, was not in Yamashita's jurisdiction at the time the murders occurred [last Dec. 14], and that he himself heard nothing about the atrocities until he read a story in the American army newspaper after he was a prisoner.

Much of Muto's testimony during the morning session covered the military situation in the Philippines after the American landing at Leyte and the subsequent attack on Luzon. He said the commanders realized that because of superior American firepower, superior air and naval power, superior mobility, the Americans could land virtually where they pleased on Luzon and there would be no chance of successfully combatting them.

Adopt New Plan

"Altho Yamashita had been told to fight a decisive battle against the Americans on Luzon," Muto said, "it was clear that the plane would have to be changed. So we notified Field Marshal Count Jiro Terauchi, commander of southern areas, and adopted a new plan. This was to occupy mountain positions and engage the Americans as long as possible in order to postpone any fighting in Japan proper."

AIDE 'BAFFLED' BY CRITICISM OF M'ARTHUR RULE

TOKYO, Nov. 21 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, Gen. MacArthur's intelligence officer from Corregidor to Australia and back again, told a press conference today that he was "completely baffled" by what he called unjust criticism in America of MacArthur's occupation policy.

There was only one alternative [to making full use of the Japanese and their government in carrying out allied wishes], he said, "and that was to come in shooting."

Landing in Japan "with an air borne division and a smile," he added, "we entered into a potentially dangerous situation and got away with it . . . we carried it to a brilliant conclusion. And yet we have a curious, obscure, menacing undertone, inspired by something to raise a question about our work."

DEADLINE NEARS IN WOUNDED GIs' YULE GIFT PLAN

10 Days Remain; Requests in from 30 States

BY HARRY McCLAIN

There still are 27 shopping days until Christmas, but only 10 days remain for Tribune readers to make their requests for names of service men to whom they desire to send a Christmas gift.

Names of wounded and sick soldier, sailor, and marine patients in 21 hospitals in the central states will be collected by the Tribune's Friend of the Yanks between Dec. 1 and 5. These will be mailed immediately to readers who have requested them.

Requests from 30 States

A few who have asked for from 10 to 75 names in the last few days include the club women of Annawan, Henry county; the Carbondale Federated Women's club of Carbondale, Jackson county; the Women's club of Ogden, Champaign county; the Plymouth Presbyterian church, Akron, Ia.; the Girl Reserves of Hinsdale; Kappa Sigma Tau sorority, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Women's Relief corps, Newton, Ia.; Mothers of World War II., East Chicago, Ind.; Young Married People's class, Methodist church, Pittsfield, Pike county; Women's Study club, Climax, Mich.; Troop 3, Girl Scouts of Crystal lake, Lake county, and the Excelsior school, Waupun, Wis.

Requests for service men's names have reached the Friend of the Yanks from 30 states.

Tribune readers who desire to send a Christmas gift to a hospitalized service man may obtain his name by clipping the coupon in an adjoining column, filling in the number of names desired, and mailing to the Friend of the Yanks.

40 Gift Items Listed

The names of the hospital patients will be collected on individual cards, which have space for the patient to write his name. The name and address of the hospitals will be printed so there can be no mixup about the correct address.

In addition, the cards list some 40 gift items from which the patient may make his selection by check mark.

When the cards are received by readers the lower portion must be detached. The upper portion should be affixed to the gift package as a mailing label. Readers also will receive a second card on which they should write their names and addresses for inclusion in the packages.

Upon receipt of the package the patient need only add his name, rank, and serial number and drop the card in the mail to acknowledge receipt of his gift.

TYLER KENT OFF TO U. S. BY SHIP; DUE ABOUT DEC. 1

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Tyler Kent, former United States embassy clerk whom the British imprisoned on charges of revealing contents of coded messages, sailed today for the United States, the embassy announced.

Kent was sentenced to serve seven years for violating the British official secrets act. With time off for good behavior, his sentence expired last Oct. 5.

He sailed aboard the British vessel Silver Oak and is scheduled to reach New York about Dec. 1. British officials accompanied him to the London docks. On Oct. 26, Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.] said Kent's mother had telephoned him, saying her son had written that his return to the United States had been postponed indefinitely. Hoffman at the time said Kent wrote that he had been taken to England from the Isle of Wight and was being held in prison awaiting deportation.

VETERANS URGED TO CONSULT OPA IN TRADE DEALS

The office of price administration yesterday warned war veterans against purchasing a business using rationed foods without taking precautions against being swindled on red point inventories. Veterans also were urged to verify ceiling price schedules.

The warning was issued by James F. Riley, Chicago OPA director, who said one veteran who bought a cafe discovered the ceiling price schedule shown him was not the legal one. The result, Riley said, was that the veterans' anticipated income was reduced.

Riley said former GIs contemplating cafe or food business purchases should consult the OPA veterans advisory committee. The Chicago area OPA, he said, has helped nearly 100 ex-service men start in business with complete larders of ration points.

Maj. Gen. Terry Allen Retires from the Army

San Luis Obispo, Cal., Nov. 21 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Terry Allen, colorful commander of the 1st and later of the 104th [Timberwolf] divisions, left here today for El Paso, Tex., and retirement from the service. Allen, as commander of the 1st infantry division in north Africa and Sicily, led American troops to their first victories in the European war. Brig. Gen. William Woodward assumed command of the division.

$2,500 LINGERIE STOLEN

THANKSGIVING IN PARIS! AND GIs TALK OF HOME

BY ANNE BRUYERE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 21—Thanksgiving in Paris—Christmas at home, say the high point Illinois Yanks here. Each of them tomorrow will receive a pound and a half of turkey with cranberry sauce, chestnuts, asparagus, assorted cheese, hard candies, nuts, American ice cream, coffee, and a ration of French liqueur.

Ambassador Jefferson Caffery will preside at a Thanksgiving day ceremony for the growing American colony and the thousands of enlisted men in Paris and American churches will have special services.

Red Cross Plans Big Day

Pretty, vivacious Dorothy Deakun, 775 May av., Calumet City, Ill., a popular Red Cross girl, intends to eat her turkey dinner with hundreds of Yanks on furlough in Paris.

"The Red Cross has made arrangements to give the boys a gay time," she said: "There will be dancing and games and outings. The Paris opera, Comedie Francaise, Folies Bergere, and Casino de Paris have reserved their best seats for United States personnel. We all feel this may be our last holiday here, so we are going to enjoy ourselves."

A 71 pointer, Sgt. M. Tomillo, 2320 Grand av., and 66 pointer Sgt. M. P. de Tassi, 1100 S. Hamilton av., Chicago, expect to spend Christmas at home. Pvt. Maurice Sheean, Rockford, Ill., a 62 pointer, expressed the same hope.

Sgt. Earl Thompson, 5930 S. Emerald av., Chicago, flew here from Germany on business and was grounded by the foggy weather. He sighed as he recalled previous Thanksgivings spent at the Knights of Columbus bowling tournament in Chicago.

Pvt. Robert Payette, 4902 Fulton st., Chicago, liked spending the holiday playing ice hockey. Another Chicagoan, Tech. 4th Grade Lawrence J. Mitchell, 9017 Muskegon av., recalled the time he was knocked out of bed by a buzz bomb in England.

Awaits Ticket Home

"I'm thankful I'm alive," he smiled, cheerfully. "I am thankful the war is over and that most of my buddies already are with their families. I am thankful that we will all be getting that ticket home soon."

Chicagolanders who have come to spend Thanksgiving day in Paris from Germany, Belgium, and Italy, include:

Sgt. Coy M. Coater, 1109 Foster av., Wilmette, Ill., who is stationed at Heidelberg, Germany; Sgt. Charles P. Fortino, 2041 De Kalb st., Chicago, who brought over supplies from Naples, Italy; Pvt. C. E. Sutton, Springfield, Ill., to whom a Belgian family gave two enormous pies made of bread dough piled high with juicy apples to share with his pals; Pvt. Edward Schulze, a University of Illinois student whose company was decorated by Belgium for heroism at Bastogne, and Corp. Robert D. Clifford, 5822 Ridge st., Berkeley, Ill., who flew here from the airdrome at Villacoublay, France.

$40,000 FORGER, PAROLEE, GETS 2-7 YEAR TERM

Louis M. Marshall, 30, an ex-convict forging checks for a total of $40,000 while he was on parole as a bookkeeper at a machine works at 455 N. Artesian av., was convicted yesterday in a bench trial before Judge Charles E. Byrne in Criminal court and sentenced to from two to seven years in the penitentiary. A jury that had been sworn was dismissed by agreement between Marshall's lawyer, Charles A. Bellows, and Assistant State's Atty. C. Vernon Thompson.

ROBNETT LIBEL JURY DISMISSED; FAILS TO AGREE

Judge Walter J. La Buy in federal District court yesterday dismissed a jury of six men and six women after it had failed to reach a verdict in the $100,000 libel suit against E. P. Dutton & Co., publishers of the book "Under Cover," in slightly more than 24 hours of deliberation.

The suit was brought by George Washington Robnett, who alleged he had been libelled in advertising matter printed on the jacket of the book. Unofficial reports said the jury stood 8 to 4 against Robnett. The jury began its deliberation late Tuesday.

Harry S. Ditchburne, counsel for Robnett, asserted he would move for an immediate retrial. Judge La Buy, pleading a full calendar, informed him he would not even be in a position to discuss a retrial until after the Christmas holidays.

$10,386,125 BID FOR SOUTH SIDE DRAIN ACCEPTED

Contract for the first four and a half miles of the south side interceptor sewer, originating from the Racine av. pumping station, was awarded to the S. A. Healy company yesterday by the sanitary district on a bid of $10,386,125.

James M. Whalen, president of the sanitary district board, said work on the new interceptor would be started within 30 days. It is the first unit in the district's post-war program of constructing 28 miles of sewage collection and disposal facilities.

When the entire interceptor system is constructed, flooding will be eliminated in a 27 square mile area bounded by Pershing rd., 87th st., Ashland av., and Lake Michigan, Whalen said.

BAPTISTS RALLY BEHIND TRUMAN; OFFER PRAYERS

Capital Action Follows Texas Criticism

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP)—Texas Baptists' criticism of President Truman for his "reported attitude" toward gambling and drinking had a sequel today in the District of Columbia Baptist convention.

After a brief debate in which there was an oblique reference to the Texas convention action of Nov. 15, the local convention adopted a resolution assuring Mr. Truman of their "earnest and continued prayers" in the discharge of his official duties.

No one stood up in opposition, but there were a few scattering "noes" when the resolution was put to a voice vote. The resolution was offered by the Rev. Edward H. Pruden, pastor of the First Baptist church, where the president worshipped several weeks ago.

Wants Subject Dropped

Rev. James P. Rodgers of the Petworth Baptist church, in trying unsuccessfully to have the resolution referred to a committee, asserted: "The least said about this matter the better off all baptists will be."

The resolution made no mention of the Texas Baptists' proposal, but several convention delegates said it was prompted by the latter.

The Texas Baptists' convention last week adopted a resolution noting that Baylor university planned to confer an honorary degree on Mr. Truman. This resolution asserted that "because of the reported attitude of the President of the United States as a baptist toward gambling and drinking" the convention opposed any honorary degrees for "those holding such a position."

Aware of Responsibility

The resolution adopted here today said "we are keenly aware of the honor, as well as the responsibility, which have come to us as baptists" because of the elevation of a baptist to the presidency. It also assured Mr. Truman support in his efforts toward world peace.

Thirty-four churches with a total membership of more than 26,000 were represented in the District of Columbia convention.

While the convention was meeting, President Truman received a new bible for his desk from the American Bible society as a source of "inspiration and strength." He also was presented a medal from fellow 33d degree Masons for his service to his "country and humanity."

Read Bible at Age of 8

The chief executive told officials of the Bible society that he had read the bible thru by the time he was 8 years old, and three times before he was 12. Dr. J. Chapman Bradley, society secretary, said the President's favorite passages are the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount.

He added the President indicated he would participate in the worldwide bible reading program sponsored by the society, church leaders, and prominent Protestant laymen calling for the reading of selected daily passages on each of the days between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Old Whitechapel Club Plaque to Be Unveiled

A bronze tablet, commemorating the famous Whitechapel club, will be unveiled tomorrow at the northeast corner of the La Salle hotel, a short distance east of the site of the club. The ceremony will be under the auspices of the Chicago Historical society. The Whitechapel club was formed in 1889 by a group of Chicago newspapermen, who borrowed the name from the Jack the Ripper murders in Whitechapel, England.

COLLAPSES, DIES OF BROKEN SKULL

ELLEN GLASGOW, PULITZER PRIZE NOVELIST, DIES

Richmond, Va., Nov. 21 [Special]—Ellen Glasgow, 71, whose novels of life in the post-Civil war south pioneered the field of realism in American literature and brought her recognition as one of the nation's greatest women writers, died here today.

Ellen Glasgow

Her last novel, "In This Our Life," which was published in 1941, brought her the Pulitzer prize in 1942. She was a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, to which she was elected in 1938.

Miss Glasgow began writing books at 15. She was born in Richmond, April 22, 1874, a descendant of a line of distinguished Virginians.

Her first published novel, "The Descendant," which appeared anonymously in 1897, struck at the "swords and roses" tradition of the south built up by sentimental writers. Among her best known novels were "Barren Ground," "The Voice of the People," "Vein of Iron," "The Sheltered Life," "Romantic Comedians," and "They Stooped to Folly."

CHICAGO JEWEL SELLER ROBBED IN IOWA STORE

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 21 (AP)—A Chicago jewelry salesman told police he was robbed of several diamond rings, valued at $7,500, in a jewelry store here today.

According to the report, Morey Landsman, salesman for Henry Spreckman & Co., Chicago, was displaying his merchandise in the store when two men entered. While one of them conversed with a clerk, the other walked to the rear where the jewels were displayed. Landsman said he went to the front of the building to dispose of a cigaret. When he returned both men and the jewels had disappeared.

BURGLARS TAKE $2,500 IN DRESSES

TYRONE POWER AND ANNABELLA DO LOVE SCENE

Portland, Ore., Nov. 21 (AP)—Tyrone Power and Annabella gave a shipload of GIs an unscreened love scene today when the screen star hurdled the ship rail and jumped to the dock as he spotted his blonde wife among the hundreds on hand to greet the arrival of the U. S. S. Marvin McIntyre.

Power's shipmates yelled encouragement from the decks as the bronzed marine air corps lieutenant embraced his wife, who came here for the surprise greeting after learning the ship was not to berth at San Francisco as planned.

"How'd you get so smart, Blondie?" Power asked his smiling wife. He then mumbled excuses for his apparel. "Lost all my clothes in the Okinawa typhoon," he explained. Power, a marine first lieutenant with 1,100 hours flying time on transports, left Japan three weeks ago.

County to License Steeds and Riders on Bridle Paths

The county board yesterday adopted an ordinance requiring horses and riders using bridle paths in the forest preserves to be licensed. The fee for riders is 50 cents for three years and for horses $5 a year. Commissioner George F. Nixon asked if the license tags would be tied on the steeds' tails and was assured they would be attached to bridles or halters.

May we join with you this day
in giving thanks?

We are thankful for the strength that preserved our civilizations; for the leadership that built that strength; for the fortitude
with which, together, we met our most desperate crisis.

Ships, like men, are marked by their associations.
The "Queen Elizabeth," the "Queen Mary," the "Aquitania," the "Mauretania," and all the ships of the Cunard White Star fleet learned from their brave crews and wartime passengers the deeper meaning of this Thanksgiving Day.
It has a meaning for us, too,
one that time will never set aside.
For that, too,
we are thankful.

Thanksgiving Spirit to Fill Homes Today

BY JUDITH CASS

THERE will be a real spirit of Thanksgiving today in the many homes which have welcomed husbands, sons, and daughters back from service. There will be a romantic aura in others, such as the Joseph T. Ryerson household in Astor st., where the family today will celebrate the announcement of the engagement of the Ryersons' middle daughter, Annie Lawrie, to Capt. Charles Norcross Breed Jr. of the army medical corps, son of Mrs. Breed and the late Mr. Breed of Swampscott, Mass.

Miss Ryerson and her fiance share a common interest in the field of medicine. Capt. Breed was graduated in 1936 from Harvard university, and later from its medical school. He served his internship in Roosevelt hospital in New York City, and for more than a year has been on the staff of Hines hospital here.

Miss Ryerson, who is a Red Cross nurses' aid, took a pre-medical course at Bryn Mawr college last summer and intended before the end of the war to go on to Presbyterian hospital for nurse's training. A graduate of St. Timothy's school and Vassar college, she was introduced to society at a party in the Onwentsia club in the summer of 1941 and is a member of the Chicago Junior league.

Miss Ryerson and her fiance were toasted at a large dinner party the Philip K. Wrigleys gave for their daughter, Miss Dorothy Wrigley, last night before the Chicago Junior league ball. Miss Ryerson has an older sister, Mrs. Donald A. K. Brown; a younger sister, Miss Ellen Ryerson, who is a debutante this season, and one brother, Joseph Jr., who has just been released from the army, in which he served as lieutenant. He has gone to Concord, N. H., to join with his wife and their children for Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving Reunions

The Roger D. Shaws had a triple purpose for coming to Chicago for a week's visit—to attend the Chicago Junior league ball last night; to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs. Shaw's mother, Mrs. William H. Wilder, and to pick up their three children, who have been staying with Mrs. Wilder for a month while the Shaws were remodeling their ranch in southern Missouri. When Maj. Shaw received his discharge after service in Dayton, O., he and his wife decided to move to the ranch which they have owned for some time.

George B. Massey's household in Winnetka temporarily has been increased by five, for his daughter, Mrs. George Ryerson, and her husband and their three children have come back from Washington, D. C., now that Lt. Comdr. Ryerson has been released from the navy and is on terminal leave. Mrs. Ryerson's brother, Maj. George B. Massey Jr., is expected to bring his wife and two boys back from Salvador around Christmas time. He has been serving there as military attache with the army, from which he is being released. Their brother, Loren Massey, is living at Wonder Lake, Ill., now that he is out of army uniform.

Mrs. George Calkins' Thanksgiving will be made more festive by the return of her son, Lt. Comdr. George Burnham Calkins, who is at home on terminal leave after re-

Good Production and Some Beautiful Singing Do Justice to Revival of "Desert Song"

"THE DESERT SONG"

Operetta with music by Sigmund Romberg, book and lyrics by Otto Harbach, Oscar Hammerstein II., and Frank Mandel. Directed by Sterling Holloway with settings by Boris Aronson and presented in revival by Russell Lewis and Howard Young in the Civic Opera house Tuesday evening, Nov. 20, 1945.

One of the theatrical puzzles of the last decade or two has been why operettas so beloved of a vast public have been repeatedly revived with such moth-eaten productions and broken down singing that they are a mere ghost of their original brilliance. Everybody complained about it, but nobody did much about it. Except Edwin Lester. Out on the west coast he began producing operetta as if he loved it, too. His "Song of Norway" has been a resounding hit in New York for months and now his revival of "The Desert Song" is a resounding hit at the Civic Opera house. Already it has extended its three week run to four weeks as the reward of deserved success.

Yet Mr. Lester's secret, his open sesame to audience appeal is the simplest thing in the world. When he put Sigmund Romberg's 20 year old favorite back on the stage he gave it a handsome production, a capable cast with some excellent voices, a resonant chorus, plenty of rehearsal, and a big enough orchestra to make music sense in a theater seating almost 4,000 people. And the melodious tale of a red masked Superman came to life. Even its comedy, supposed to be the worst hazard any revival can hurdle, has its lively moments with lively Jack Goode at the helm, and when at the beginning of the second act the male chorus and three male principals lead Walter Cassel into a superb performance of "One Alone," you will go a long way to beat that singing, particularly where Mr. Cassel is anticipated in "Let Love Go" by George Burnson, a fine actor for an aristocratic Arab, whose liquid bass has a smooth flowing magnetism to hold any audience captive in its spell.

Vocally, this is the high point of the performance, for "The Desert Song" is a man's show when it comes to rewarding roles, and while Dorothy Sandlin is an attractive leading woman, she has not yet learned to focus either her charm or her good voice in full theatrical focus. She seems rather a tame reason for the Red Shadow to risk his neck just to prove that he isn't the milksop he must pretend to be while leading a double life at the French Moroccan garrison. It is more easy to understand why the good singing actor, Wilton Clary, wanders from her side for the sinuous little dancer, Clarissa, who can make you think she means it when she hauls out the family curse.

Altogether, this is an operetta to which you can take the family. Its dancing girls are not the most beautiful to strike our town, but they take on a Goya look in Spanish steps that put a touch of Argentinita into routine, and its comedy is brighter than you might suspect, and cleaner than is customary. I know, because I heard every word, something not invariably true when theater invaded the opera house in seasons past. There is a new and much improved amplification system that certainly worked down front. Which was pleasant, when "The Desert Song" is so melodiously worth hearing.

Junior League Post-War Ball Brilliant Event

BY ELEANOR PAGE

The Thanksgiving holiday won't begin too early for the many who celebrated Thanksgiving eve at last night's large dancing parties—particularly for the thousand or more who made merry until the wee small hours at the Chicago Junior league's benefit Chicago and Southern ball in the Continental hotel.

The lure of 50 cigaret cases for the first 50 feminine guests to arrive helped to bring many to the hotel's oval ballroom close to 10 p. m., the hour scheduled for the start of the ball, but the majority lingered over dinner parties in the Casino, the Tavern, the Racquet, and the Key clubs, and in homes, and arrived "fashionably" late, thru the first snowfall of the season.

One of the two orchestras which provided continuous music was playing softly as the members of the receiving line gathered shortly after the appointed hour, each woman clad in her handsomest gown and wearing a corsage especially designed to go with it. They included Mrs. Paul Holinger, president of the league, in a stunning gown of white trimmed with black lace and a fragile purple orchid; and seven past presidents. Mrs. Howard Linn, founder and first president of the league, came on from dinner in the Casino with another past president, Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy, and Mrs. William McCormick Blair, who served as vice president with Mrs. Linn. Mrs. Cudahy's gown was of burnt sugar color taffeta, and her flowers were white carnations. Fuchsia carnations added a spot of color to Mrs. Linn's tailored gown of robin's egg blue crepe. With it she wore a double strand of pearls and a gold pin on one of the wide revers.

Mrs. Earl Kribben, in gray trimmed with gold sequins; Mrs. Gordon Lang in a simple but distinguished gown of black, and white camellias; Mrs. Herbert C. DeYoung, tall and graceful in a white crepe gown on which were stitched silver bugle beads in the form of birds; Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., in purple crepe made gayer by applications of bright pink and blue sequins, and Mrs. Richard M. Lamport, whose gown combined a black satin top with a full skirt of black and aqua stripes, were the others receiving.

Long white gloves were worn by most of these women, adding a last formal footnote to this first formal post-war ball. A sit-down supper, served at tables attractively decorated with bouquets of flowers, was another luxurious note. Flowers expected by plane from South America failed to arrive, but a local florist made up the lack, and today the posies will bloom on Thanksgiving dinner trays of patients at Gardiner General hospital, thru the efforts of the Garden club of Illinois.

The benefit chairman, Mrs. Hugo Vogel, looking composed despite her anxiety that the party go off well, was wearing a gown especially designed for her, a striking one of brown velvet which bared one shoulder and covered the other. Pink satin, covered with lace, was used to decorate the bare shouldered side, and picking up the pink tone was the camellia Mrs. Vogel wore in her hair. Mrs. Paul W. Oliver, vice chairman of the benefit, also dined in the Casino in a large group to which her sister, Mrs. Richard K. Juergens, was co-hostess. The former's bustled gown was of aqua satin, and her flowers were delicate gloriosa lilies.

Wearing gowns which they said dated back to their debut days, were Mrs. Graham Fairbank, in sweeping seafoam green taffeta, and Mrs. Arthur A. Burrows Jr. in bustled gold brocade, who dined in a party given by the Fairbanks in the Tavern. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Culbertson II., the Bradley Ebens, Mr. and Mrs. E. Cummings Parker, and the Roy Flannerys also dined at the Tavern.

Mr. and Mrs. Abner Stillwell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Morse Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Berkey were among those having dinner in the Key club. Also entertaining in the Key club were Mr. and Mrs. James Tatman, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fortune, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Cummings Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mills, who had as their guests, Miss Claire McCahey and her escort, Daniel McGuire, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beuttas.

Pliable Plastic Is New Answer to Soggy Days

BY REA SEEGER

Pliable plastic, in a veritable rainbow of colors, makes new rainy day ensembles that are worthy of a picture gallery. The set consists of a hat cover that looks like a snappy version of a small sized Chinese coolie hat, a drawstring cover for a bag, and the smartest and swankiest raincoat ever designed. The plastic material is as thick as heavy satin, will not wrinkle or crack, and makes up into these coats with the same verve as any material of wool or rayon and wool mixtures.

This plastic is from California, where, according to the weather commentators, the only liquid visible is orange juice. Be that as it may, somebody prepared for rain—if not out there then anywhere else in the country, and these preparations in plastic are the result. They're a smooth and colorful job, guaranteed to take all the gloom out of the darkest day. Such delectable pastels as peach, turquoise-blue, daffodil-yellow, pink, and scarlet give you some idea of what to expect, but even then you'll be fascinated by the exquisite shades. There's a "fish bowl" transparent model, too, and a dazzling chalk white, if the pastels or the vivid scarlet tone don't click.

The coat itself has some very interesting details—deep raglan sleeves, for example, so that it will slide smoothly over suit or even coat. And there is a snug fitted turn-over collar, a tie belt, and an ample wrapover front. The chest section doubles over and buttons with a loop of the plastic over a silver metal button. Sleeves are strapped snugly around the wrists with a band of the plastic pulled thru a trick buckle. The hat cover ties under the chin with a strap. The bag cover doubles as a protector of a handbag, and as a holder for the raincoat and hat cover when the shower is over. The cost of the entire three-piece outfit is very modest; the colors super flattering. What else could you want?

Give the Other Girls a Whirl, Boy, 16, Told

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

on the SOLID side

"I'm sure my problem is experienced by many a fellow besides myself. I like a certain girl very much and I know she likes me. We've been dating each other for nine months but because she is a year older than I [I'm 16 and she's 17], she refuses to go steady. Her excuse is that ever since she was very little she has dreamed of dating a fellow two or three years older than she, and she can't change her dreams so suddenly. I wonder if I should go on dating her as long as she feels this way."

When a gal has been working on the blueprint for her dream man ever since the day when Mickey Mouse was her first love, it's hard to break down the rules she has made for her junior Romeo. So don't confine your dating talents to this one girl alone, but give a few of the other girls an occasional whirl. But don't stop dating this particular piece of cheesecake entirely; she may change her specifications and you'll want to be around when that happens!

"A fellow from our town started as a freshman at a near-by college in September. He still attends the school as a resident, tho his family has since moved to Texas. We are very good friends and our families also were well acquainted before his mother and father left town. I wonder if it would be proper for me to invite him to spend a week-end at our home."

The fellow undoubtedly would love you dearly if he were to be invited to stay at your home for the week-end. Nothing is quite so dull as being away at school when you know that the prospects for an exciting outside week-end are exceedingly slim. But the invitation should come, not from you, but from your mother. She might also drop a note to the boy's mother, assuring her that her son will be oh, so welcome! From then on the week-end will be strictly up to you, so have fun!

Be Prepared for Changes in Adolescent

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Knowing beforehand at least something of what to expect of your son and daughter, as they grow out of one phase into another thru the years, really is a great help in managing them.

If you know they are sure to change—and they are, because to grow means to change—then their new and sometimes troubling ways will not surprise you. You will be prepared; and so, understanding what is happening and why, will be able to manage more intelligently.

Recently this column has been devoted to the subject of being prepared—prepared for how the baby will act when he can walk and talk; then when he's 5 or so; and after that, when he's gotten into those happily heedless noisy years that drive many mothers to distraction: The years from about 6 to about 10, the period when I call those children the "inbetweens;" for they are between childhood and adolescence.

Today it is the last stretch, before maturity reaches your children, that I want to talk about briefly.

During the teens there occurs in most young persons a marked change in their attitudes and behavior.

It is true that some boys and girls progress from childhood to adulthood more smoothly and, I could say, more happily than others. But to all come new desires. And the mother and father who accept them as right and natural will be happier and more successful in guiding their teen-agers when they need it.

So expect:

An increasing desire for independence.

A wish for the companionship of young persons of the opposite sex.

A good deal of self-absorption.

The growth of a tremendous interest in personal appearance.

A longing for fun and gayety.

A resentment of being told what to do in every daily detail of living.

Frequently, a growing reserve.

And often the development of creativeness in the arts or in other directions, as well as general personal ambitions and dreams of future achievement.

But with this, underneath it, still lies love for you, and friendship, too, if you will try to retain it and abstain from criticism, and resentment of these new and normal urges.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Tube Pan Coffee Cake

1 cake compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
½ cup butter, melted
3 tablespoons sugar
3 egg yolks, well beaten
1 cup milk, scalded
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites
½ cup sugar
½ cup chopped nuts

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water; combine with butter, sugar, egg yolks, cooled milk, and vanilla. Add flour and salt, turn out on floured board, and knead until smooth and elastic. Place dough in greased bowl and brush with melted shortening; cover and place in refrigerator overnight. Shape dough into a greased tube pan. Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in ½ cup sugar. Spread over dough and sprinkle with nuts. Let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 1 hour.

Goodwill Industries Directors Complete Open House Plans

Directors of the Goodwill Industries completed plans yesterday for open house to be held from 1 to 9 p. m. daily Monday thru Friday of next week so that the public may tour the shops in the Industries' new quarters at 1500 Monroe st. The open house also will mark the 25th anniversary of the Industries.

The discarded household goods and clothing of 80,000 Chicago families made up the raw material last year from which salable articles were made by the Industries. Scrub rags alone brought $20,000.

Goodwill Industries operates a program of vocational training and therapeutic work for physically handicapped persons. A fleet of 11 trucks is used to pick up donations, and the Industries' shops turn such items as badly worn shoes into good looking footwear selling for $1 to $3 a pair in the Industries' seven shops. Walter Loague is director of the Industries.

Poll on Popular Issues Planned at Club Session

A "people's opinion poll" on such questions as strikes against public utilities, religious instruction on time released from organized schedules of public schools, and racial restrictive covenants, will be conducted by Dr. Warren P. Cortelyou at a 12:15 p. m. luncheon meeting of the Chicago City club Monday in the La Salle hotel. Dr. Cortelyou, chairman of the department of chemistry at Roosevelt college, has devised an electrical voting machine which enables individuals at such a gathering to vote secretly and simultaneously on a question and to read results immediately on a large meter.

Thru the Looking Glass

Thanksgiving day gets the holiday season under way, and, while we wouldn't want to take the joy out of your dinner and tell you not to eat as much turkey as you like, we do want to give you some tips for the days ahead.

This promises to be a gala and active season—full of parties, rich foods, late hours, plus the usual frantic rush of shopping and holiday preparation. If you don't watch yourself, you can work up to a dizzy pitch before you know it and get so worn out you can't enjoy the festive days. Consequently, it behooves the overly enthusiastic to put on the brakes right at the beginning and set off at a good, steady pace.

Plan your Christmas shopping in advance, making a gift list to guide your trips to the stores. It will save time and money, and you'll be a welcome customer if you know what you want when you go into the shops instead of taking the clerk's time to decide. Don't try to do too much in a single day; stop before you're all done in and take your shopping in small doses, if you tire easily.

Of course, you'll want to entertain and be entertained during the holidays, but remember that tomorrow is another day. It doesn't make good sense to eat or drink so much one day that you feel like a wreck the next. Pass up the cocktail which makes one too many and skip that second helping of gooey dessert. They might be awfully tempting, but consider your waist line, your skin, and your good health.

Get sufficient rest to keep bright eyed and peppy. You won't have much fun and won't be good company if you're short on sleep, so regulate your hours to provide adequate sleeping time. Leave the party while you're still enjoying yourself, and even tho it means passing up an attractive invitation, see that there's a quiet evening tucked in here and there with the busy ones.

Thanksgiving! It All Started with Pilgrims

BY RITA FITZPATRICK

Thanksgiving . . . the word is synonymous with America.

Its story began in 1621 when the Pilgrims at Plymouth set aside a day for prayer and giving thanks for a harvest in a new land. They picked up their guns and hunted the finest bird to be had . . . the wild turkey. They cooked him and gave thanks.

Again freedom was the cause of Thanksgiving in 1676, when the council of the Massachusetts Bay colony set aside June 29 in gratitude for deliverance from the Indians. The first President to proclaim an official day in which to give thanks for our bounties was, appropriately, George Washington. He named Nov. 26, 1789.

Presidents and governors of states thereafter intermittently made proclamations concerning the day but it was not until 1864, when President Lincoln marked the last Thursday in November as a day in which to recount our blessings amid the horrors of a Civil war that Thanksgiving became a definite tradition, followed by all Presidents, except Franklin D. Roosevelt. Roosevelt sought to set the third Thursday, but in 1943, public pressure caused him to proclaim the fourth Thursday.

Today, one of the most important of Thanksgivings, will be partly cloudy. The weather bureau made this forecast in a special bulletin. It will be crisp and cold, however, a day such as the Pilgrims might have had when their turkeys turned on the spits of the huge fireplaces.

The millions of tummyaches that today will bring to the children of the nation cannot be estimated. But it will be worth it. At the St. Vincent's orphanage more than 200 children will be given a sumptuous dinner by the management of the Edgewater Beach hotel. This has been a traditional gesture of the hotel for years.

School children will be given the usual Thanksgiving vacation from today to Monday. Students at the University of Illinois, tho, will have their first Thanksgiving vacation of pre-war length. Classes were dismissed at noon yesterday and will resume at noon Monday. Also returning to the student life will be the first student special trains to serve the campus since the war ended.

For the first time since 1942, the United States employment service employes in the Chicago area will observe a Thanksgiving holiday, Lester Brown, area director, said yesterday. All offices in Cook and Du Page counties will be closed.

Special furloughs are being granted to ambulatory patients at Vaughan and Gardiner General hospitals for the holiday. Those veterans who are far from home may have their Thanksgiving dinner at any of the city's three service men's centers or the United Service Organizations clubs at 203 N. Wabash av., 131 S. Wabash av., and 1122 S. Wabash av.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 club	Pass	1 heart	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
4 diamonds	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

There is a marked tendency to exaggerate the importance of ascertaining the number of aces held by partner. Mind you, I do not like to assume a snobbish attitude toward the highest ranking cards in the pack. Somehow, I have a superstitious dread of their forsaking me at a time when they are most needed. But it should be obvious that the possession of four aces does not in itself indicate that a slam is there for the asking. Many times 150 aces merely take the sting out of a penalty incurred in an unsuccessful game contract. In bidding slams it is much more vital to determine that the partnership has the ability to take 12 tricks.

Occasionally, however, a hand is met in which the bidding indicates a plethora of winning tricks and the only consideration is that of suit controls. It is on hands of this type that conventions like the Blackwood and its near relatives, are very effective. In today's hand when West's heart response is jumped by the opener, West should sense slam possibilities, and the diagnosis is based on the following considerations:

West himself holds a hand that is the equivalent of an opening bid, because the king of clubs may be regarded as promoted to the value of an ace, by reason of the opening bid in that suit. His partner has opened the bidding and jumped, which experience has shown adds up to a total of 12 tricks. If East happens to hold three aces there should be a splendid play for the slam in view of the apparent fit. A Blackwood bid is therefore in order, for if it is determined that partner has only two aces a contract of five hearts should nevertheless be safe.

In the direct method advocated by our group of players, West suggests the slam at this point by showing an ace. On the surface the four club bid does just that, but since it is highly probable that opener has that card he will understand that partner is designating the king. When East coöperates by showing the ace of diamonds, West is in a position to bid the slam on the basis of his singleton spade. East, of course, having two losers in that suit is not in a position to assume the responsibility.

In this hand the determining factor is not merely the aces, but the possession of the right singleton.

'Waldorf' Film Full of People and Goings-On

"WEEK-END AT THE WALDORF"

By Mae Tinée

This record of the goings-on in a big hotel is quite a session. True, it covers the Waldorf from the subbasement to the roof and a large number of its guests during dramatic moments of their lives, but it takes a long time about it all.

It's a glassy, glittery number based on the same idea which provided the plot for a previous movie, "Grand Hotel," and starts off with one bride and bridegroom, who apparently get lost in the big place—at any rate you never see them again—and ends with three more of 'em, one with the knot tied and two potential ones. It also has the usual shots of the big hotel's interior—the hundreds who are employed night and day to keep things running smoothly, the bell boys tripping down long corridors, the switchboard operators chattering merrily into their mouthpieces, the maids, the dog walkers, the chefs, the house dicks, and even the public stenographer.

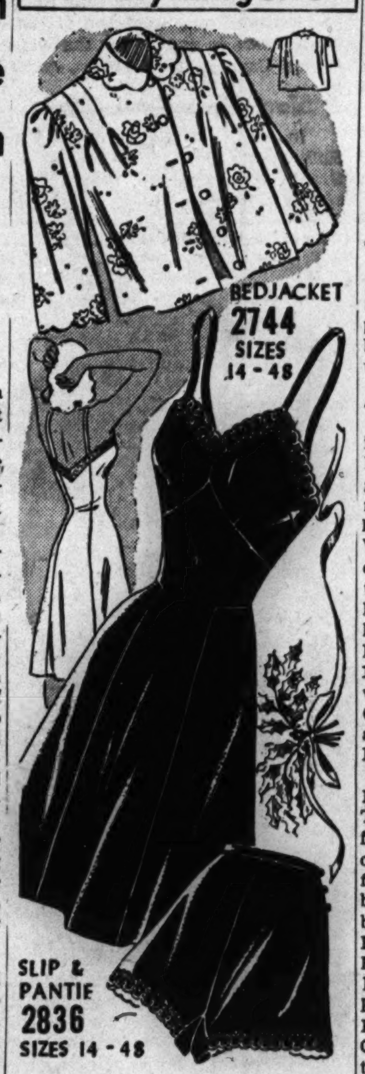
The characters include a crooked business man, a tired and sophisticated war correspondent with a rakish sense of humor, a lonely movie star who ain't a bit happy even if she does have fabulous gems and a motorcycle escort, a pert blonde stenog who wants an apartment on Park av. and is not particular about who provides it, a visiting foreign potentate and his retinue, which includes a goat; a wedding with the customary jittery bride who's worried because the bridegroom is an old friend of the movie star, and a pathetic flyer who is trying to enjoy a week-end which may be his last. Got all that straight?

Well, those are just the leading characters; I'm sparing you a lot of incidental ones. If you're an old hand with the movies, you probably can pick out who's who from the cast—who but Edward Arnold would play the crooked business man, Ginger Rogers the celluloid star, Walter Pidgeon the correspondent, Lana Turner the yearning steno, Van Johnson the boyish flyer?

The situations are just about as cut and dried, some of the lines are far from inspired, and I don't think you'll be surprised at any of the events.

One of the best bits is provided by Keenan Wynn, as a cub reporter; Mr. Pidgeon is easy and smooth, altho provided with some mawkish dialog; Miss Rogers is much as usual and wears some weird apparel; Phyllis Thaxter seems to be still suffering from the ill effects of "Bewitched," and Miss Turner and Mr. Johnson make a good looking team. In fact, the whole picture is pretty good looking, and undoubtedly will be box office, even if it isn't particularly bright.

Lovely Lingerie



Lovely, handmade lingerie makes an ideal Christmas present. If you wish, you might make the attractive bed jacket, style No. 2744, for your favorite friend. The pattern is designed for sizes 14 to 48, and size 36 requires 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material. A lace trimmed slip and pantie set, style No. 2836, also will be appreciated. This pattern is designed for sizes 14 to 48. Size 36 requires 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material and 1¼ yards of lace to make the slip; 1 yard of 39 inch material, and 1⅜ yards of lace to make the panties.

Landon Hoyt III. of the coast guard, who flew from Charleston, S. C., for a nine day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Landon Hoyt Jr. of Winnetka, will end his visit today to return to his station.

News of Births

Mrs. Marcus D. Richards is spending Thanksgiving in Chestertown, Md., where the arrival of her new granddaughter is giving an extra reason for celebrating to the household of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert L. Watson II. [Marie-Louise Richards] of Comegys Bight farms, Chestertown. The baby, who was born Nov. 17, has been named Helen Gillette for Mrs. Richards. Mr. and Mrs. Watson and the baby and her 18 month old brother, Gilbert III., will come to Winnetka to spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Richards and with Mr. Watson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius B. Watson.

Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Robert K. W. McCoy's reasons for celebrating Thanksgiving today are manifold, for Comdr. McCoy returned to Chicago yesterday from Okinawa, just five days after his second son was born in Passavant hospital. The baby, who has been named Peter Breaux, and his 2 year old brother, Robert Jr., are grandchildren of Mrs. Chauncey Blair of Chicago, Henry Daniels of Cleveland, and the Frederick McCoys of Evanston. Comdr. McCoy will be released from the naval reserve immediately and go on terminal leave.

Other Holiday Notes

Pre-turkey dinner toasts will be shared today by some of the D. Wendell Fentresses' friends who will gather from noon to 2 p. m. in the Evanston home of Mrs. Fentress' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Haskell Miles. Mr. and Mrs. Miles will give the party to celebrate the fifth wedding anniversary of their son-in-law and daughter.

The Saddle and Cycle club will serve Thanksgiving dinner for members and their children from 1 to 7 p. m. today. Some of those with reservations include the John Roots, the Rev. and Mrs. Dudley Stark, Gov. and Mrs. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Whipple Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sudler, Gen. and Mrs. Thomas Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Woods Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Brooks.

Sharing the Thomas A. Connorses' Thanksgiving dinner will be a Belgian friend, Pierre Bonvoisin, who is here on business for a week.

INSTALMENT XVI.

PISTOL MISSING

Fagged, reluctant, Dr. Bruce accepted Maud's invitation. Avis went to help prepare his breakfast. The cook hissed a fuller tale of the Bandys' departure in her ear. "Wild 'osses," she declared, "wouldn't 'a' kept 'em. Not arter wot 'appened larst night."

"You mean about—about Albert?"

More ominous wags of the head. Lucky if the billeting officer didn't get to hear of it, locking a 2 year old up in all that darkness and muck. "One of 'em done it; but which? Cause, you see, t'other one came popping along sudden like and give young 'Eather a narsty turn."

"Miss Erica came down?"

"Round 10. Keys in 'er 'and, and —s'sh, you're wanted above."

Head seething with new and horrid doubt, Avis reached the dining room to find the usual breakfasters assembled, but Robin not down. Maud asked Avis to tell him he must join them at once!

Three minutes later, forgetting the ill-lit steps into the dining room, Robin blundered and fell ignominiously asprawl. For an infuriated moment he sat rubbing his foot, his face white with anguish overtopping his wrath. "Twisted an ankle?" the doctor asked, going to his assistance. "Let's have a look." But with a curt growl Robin stumped to his place. Then Miss Bolles spoke.

"Doctor, I have a communication to make. I want you to hear it—and these others as well. It may, I hope, form an excuse for my unfortunate—I may add unprecedented — behavior last night. Yesterday evening, prior to entering my own front gates, I received a most unnerving shock. An attempt was made to end my life."

The doctor alone broke the incredulous stillness. "How?" he demanded. Maud's answer was concise. As she was cycling homeward in the lee of the Turret's side wall, a bullet had thundered close by her head. She was jolted off her bicycle. Three paces to the left smoke had hung over the hedge. Her first impulse had been to investigate. Common caution had prevailed.

"Yesterday evening. There was rabbit shooting, wasn't there?" Bruce asked. There was, Maud answered shortly.

"Altho"—slowly—"I did not consider this a stray shot from a sporting rifle. The report had a deadlier volume, not to speak of the aim being taken from the slight break in the hedge. However, I did approach Fuller. I have his positive oath that for a full 20 minutes he had not discharged his gun. He went with me to examine the field side of the hedge. There are no discernible footprints. The inner border is all grass. And then I found this."

With a movement she disclosed a brass object.

"Cartridge case," Bruce murmured. "That means an automatic."

Maud silenced then the words all her audience were about to utter. Why had she kept quiet over this occurrence till now? Because she had decided first of all to see Fuller and make sure. Something she had learned only this morning had forced her hand.

"Last night," she said distinctly, "the younger evacuee child was locked in an old passage in my basement—a passage for obvious reasons unopened for over 40 years. There are pitfalls, I believe. The child might easily have stumbled to his death."

Now at last Bruce was asking if a key had been left in the passage door. The key, Maud retorted, had never been left in the lock or lying carelessly about. It was here — she jingled her bunch—among the many keys she never permitted to leave her possession.

"All 17 of my keys were in my handbag last night and again this morning. Yet——" The ugly flush deepened—"I know now that during the interval they were borrowed. Yes, Robin, you and Miss Marriott were compelled to take them in order to release the child. It is overwhelmingly evident they had been borrowed before."

"No, don't interrupt," Maud commanded. "You are naturally puzzled to understand how I can be ignorant of these incursions into my room. Mortifying, tho it is, I must state plainly that last evening I was—not myself. It is true I am little acustomed to spirits, yet it is still quite incredible to me that the exceedingly small dose of brandy my godson persuaded me to take by way of warding off what he supposed to be chill could have so utterly stupefied me as—as to cause me to fall asleep, heavily, without even disrobing, in my bedroom chair. I need hardly say it was a unique, not to say humiliating event."

The speaker continued. "You may as well hear it all. This cartridge case. . . . My father on his death left various firearms, of which I disposed. Except for one small, pearl mounted automatic pistol. This I've retained, always till now safely locked in an interior compartment of my own private desk. Last evening I had a particular reason to look for it. My father's pistol is no longer there."

Robin said gruffly, "Last night you left that desk unlocked, I know, because——"

"Quite so," broke in Oscar Moravian mildly. "I preceded Mr. Grier downstairs with his own object of turning off the radio. I took the liberty at the same time of filling my fountain pen."

Maud ignored him, breathing thru pinched nostrils. "I see. My negligence over the desk will, I believe, amply support my statement with regard to my impaired faculties—but——"

Violent explosions cut her short. Mr. Moravian had a fit of coughing. He bolted, suffocated, from the room. Like a shot Robin leaned forward. "Want to know what the blighter was really up to?" he blurted. "Ask Avis, she was there. Ploughing, like a rat, thru your letters, bills, the devil alone knows what. Suppose he'd got the gun and I stopped him from sneaking it back?"

To Avis' mystification, Miss Bolles seemed coldly annoyed. "I can perceive no reason," she squelched, "for Mr. Moravian's wishing to end my existence. Indeed, why any sane person——"

"Your late cook?" Bruce hazarded, Bowers, he would recall, had journed north several days ago. "Besides, I saw the old pistol no later than yesterday morning. It has come to my knowledge since then that a second individual recently in my employ has come into the possession of a pistol. Furthermore, that at about the hour of my evening return this person was at my front door."

"Doctor, I am painfully embarrassed as to how to proceed. My condition last evening can, I feel positive, be accounted for only by the administration of some sedative drug. That must be for you to determine. If, however, it was some one's deliberate design to make use of my keys . . . Whatever the aim, it was accomplished, and with the imprisonment of the Bandy child confronting us, it becomes my duty to speak. It is incomprehensible that a sane mind could conceive——"

"A lunatic, you assume?" Bruce's voice had an edge. "One lunatic? Or are you postulating two?"

Fish and Wildlife Service Chief to Give Film Talk

Continuing its fall series of free nature and travel programs, the Chicago Academy of Sciences, 2001 N. Clark st., will present Frank Dufrense in a movie illustrated talk on "Alluring Alaska" at 3 p. m. and again at 4:15 p. m. Sunday. Mr. Dufrense, chief of the information division of the United States Fish and Wildlife service, spent 24 years in Alaska as executive officer of the Alaska game commission.

Household Forum

By Louise Bargelt

E. J., Chicago—To keep my Christmas tree green longer, I make a solution of 5 grams of citric acid, 6 grams of malic acid, and 3 quarts of water. I add 15 grams of calcium carbonate, and then place the tree in jar or crock which holds this mixture. I add water as the tree absorbs the mixture. This solution is a big help unless your tree is hemlock.

Mrs. Edna S., Hibbing, Minn.—If you are your own decorator and want a "rough textured" effect from a plastic paint you are applying to a wall, use a rough, 4-inch wall brush and apply in a semicircular sweep.

Immaculata Alumnae Association to Have Homecoming Dec. 9

The Immaculata Alumnae association has set Sunday, Dec. 9, as the date for its annual homecoming celebration. Open house will be held from 1 until 5 p. m. in the high school at 640 Irving Park rd. and the traditional candle lighting ceremony will take place at 3:30. At this service, one member from each of the graduating classes carries a candle representing her class.

Closing devotionals will be conducted by the Rev. Charles Gallagher of the St. Catherine of Siena parish who has several alumnae sisters of the Immaculata. Members gathering for the fete are urged to bring with them nonperishable foods to be distributed to the needy and canceled postage stamps for missions.

Miss Regina Maloney is chairman of the homecoming committee, and Miss Irene Lacey is president of the alumnae society.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 21—Reggie Allen of Philadelphia, who's just out of navy uniform, will be the Hollywood head of all Arthur Rank's interests. Reggie knows his stuff. He not only managed the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra and Stokowski on tour but also headed the story department at Universal studio. Welcome home, Reggie. . . . Arthur Rank will do Sir Walter Scott's "Rob Roy" in the story's original setting in Scotland. Stewart Granger, unknown here but popular in England, has the lead.

The Lady Said No

Ingrid Bergman, one of our nicest girls and finest actresses, said no to David O. Selznick. She will not play "Katie for Congress." And, altho it might be of concern to other players, I don't believe the money situation is the reason, because I hear she gets around $175,000 a year. That's the price he gets when he rents her out for one picture. This year she's made two. "Notorious" is her last under the Selznick banner. . . . In winding up the Hollywood Canteen, I'd like to praise all those who have donated their time and talent so freely, from Bette Davis to the darlings who kept the dishes clean. Most of our stars were only too anxious to appear for the boys. But here are three who never did: Jimmy Cagney, Greta Garbo, and Charlie Chaplin.

It Must Have Been Good

In our town Santa Claus lane is a closed shop according to the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce. You might have liked to see Betty Grable, Judy Garland, Lionel Barrymore, Van Johnson, or other stars of like caliber on opening night, but the C. of C. wouldn't invite them. . . . Mrs. James Hilton's story, when she divorced her famous husband, was unlike the kind of things he writes. Living with him seemed to have none of the gentleness of "Mr. Chips." . . . Bob Taplinger is becoming our male Elsa Maxwell since he started entertaining all the visiting gold braid from the navy. That was a delightful one he tossed for Gene Markey and Myrna Loy the other night. . . . Joe Breen of the Hays—correction, Johnston—office has approved the script of "Forever Amber." He tells me it's a dilly, and there's one guy I believe. . . . No truth whatever to the report that Donald Nelson is even thinking of retiring from the independent producers.

Who's Who in Pictures

Henry Fonda's second picture at R. K. O. will be "That Girl from Memphis." In it he plays a lad brought up by an evangelistic family—some of whom are pretty narrow minded—so when he meets a "shady lady" he falls for her. . . . Paulette Goddard comes home from New York Jan. 7 for "Strangers in Love." . . . Peggy Ryan is wanted for a spot opposite Ray Bolger in his Broadway play. . . . Bing Crosby meets his boss, Henry Ginsberg, in New York on Sunday, and together they'll go over to Philadelphia for the opening of "Nellie Bly," which Eddie Cantor is producing. Bing's song writers did the music for it. . . . Dennis Morgan will sing at Capt. Clark Sykes' wedding Friday night, which takes place in the Morgan home. "Cap" hails from Texas. . . . Mrs. Bob Hope's crack at the Dorothy Lamour shower when the Bing Crosby gift was unveiled was a honey. Present was a silver mug. Dolores asked if it was a trophy awarded one of Bing's horses.

CHRISTMAS

is so much MORE than a day

Thanksgiving today . . . Christmas tomorrow! Yes, Christmas is here now, and every day of the busy month ahead ☆ It's in the music of cherished carols hovering like a benediction over bustling crowds ☆ It's the wide-eyed wonder and unfaltering faith of children, and their merry secrets, so hard to keep ☆ It's the gleam of candles, and the shine of red satin against fragrant evergreen ☆ It's the sweet joy of planning and sacrificing for someone you love ☆ It's the remembrance of friendships . . . the thankful-hearted anticipation of families reunited.

Then suddenly comes the beautiful day itself . . . with its simple, beloved ceremonies of tree-trimming and stocking-hanging on Christmas Eve . . . its laughter and light-heartedness . . . its moments of wistful solemnity and nostalgic memories . . . its prayerful renewal of faith in all that's good . . .

Yes, Christmas is more than a day—for you, and for us ☆ Here at The FAIR, it's meant months of special buying and thoughtful planning, until tomorrow you'll find our shelves bulging with lovely new things, and many old favorites absent during the war ☆ We sincerely hope that the gifts you buy here, and the spirit you feel here, will make Christmas 1945 a memorable one for you and your family.

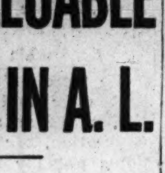
RAMS SEEK WEST TITLE; MEET LIONS TODAY

NEWHOUSER IS MOST VALUABLE PLAYER IN A. L.

Tiger Hurler Wins 2d Year in Row

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

What the members of the Detroit Tigers knew most of the season was made official yesterday when the American league's most valuable player for 1945 was announced.



Hal Newhouser

The baseball writers committee of 24, three in each of the league cities, fitted the mythical crown to the head of Hal Newhouser, the 24 year old lefty, who contributed 25 victories to the Tiger climb that was climaxed by the winning of the world series from the Cubs.

Newhouser drew a total of 236 points to take the title for the second time in succession, equaling what Jimmy Foxx did in 1932 and '33. Foxx also copped the honor in '38. It was won twice by Joe Di Maggio, Lou Gehrig, Hank Greenberg, Mickey Cochrane, and Walter Johnson, but none of these did it in successive seasons.

Mayo Second in Voting

Apparently most of the committeemen were convinced even before marking their ballots that the honor belonged to a Tiger, an attitude indicated by the fact that second place went to Eddie Mayo, the second sacker, who returned to the majors only because of the war created player shortage. Newhouser was named No. 1 on nine ballots and Mayo first on seven for 164 points. Yankee George Stirnweiss drew four firsts, Dave Ferriss of the Red Sox two, George Myatt of the Senators one, and the veteran, Joe Kuhel, of the Senators one.

The way in which the points were distributed proved more or less vividly that one season in baseball can make a great difference. A year ago Newhouser won by one point over his teammate, Paul Trout, the garrulous right hander. Trout had more than his share of pitching difficulties during the season as might be judged by the fact that in this year's voting he attracted only 17 points for 17th place.

Tresh Tops White Sox

The Cubs won the National league's most valuable award with Phil Cavarretta, but the closest the White Sox could come to matching their home town rivals was with 33 points picked up by Catcher Mike Tresh for 11th place.

Newhouser lost only nine games during the season and his most important victory came on the last day of the season when he stepped in as a rescue man against the Browns and clinched the pennant. He followed with two world series victories over the Cubs after the latter had whipped him in the opening game. The point score follows:

Hal Newhouser, Tigers, 236; Ed Mayo, 164; George Stirnweiss, Yankees, 161; Dave Ferriss, Red Sox, 148; George Myatt, Senators, 98; Vern Stephens, Browns, 94; Roger Wolff, Senators, 78; Lou Boudreau, Indians, 7[illegible]; George Case, Senators, 60; Paul Richards, Tigers, 35; Mike Tresh, White Sox, 33; Joe Kuhel, Senators, 29; Roy Cullenbine, Tigers, 26; Hank Greenberg, Tigers, 25; Nick Etten, [illegible] 21.

Tony Cuccinello, White Sox, 18; Dizzy Trout, Tigers, 17; Dutch Leonard, Senators, 1[illegible]; Leroy Schalk, White Sox, 13; Jeff Heath, Indians, 10; George Binks, Senators, 9; Bob Muncrief, Browns, 8; Al Benton, Tigers, 6; Rick Ferrell, Senators, 6; Bob Johnson, Red Sox, 6; Mark Christman, Browns, 5; Roberto Estalella, Athletics, 5; Frank Hayes, Indians, 5; Roger Cramer, Tigers, 4; Wally Moses, White Sox, 4; Eddie Lake, Red Sox, 2; Russ Christopher, Athletics, 1; Skeeter Newsome, Red Sox, 1; Rudy York, Tigers, 1.

MUSINA MAKES CARNERA QUIT IN 7TH ROUND

MILAN, Nov. 22 (AP)—Primo Carnera, 39, former heavyweight champion, was stopped in the seventh round tonight by Luigi Musina, claimant to the European heavyweight title. Carnera, who entered the ring at 260 pounds, was completely outclassed by his 187 pound opponent.

Musina floored Carnera twice in the first round and continued to punish the former champion with accurate punches until Carnera quit in the seventh. It was scored as a technical knockout.

[Musina, then a 175 pounder, twice represented Europe in the International Golden Gloves fights sponsored by The Chicago Tribune. In 1937 he beat Herman West and in 1939 he defeated Ragon Kinney of Chicago's Golden Gloves teams.]

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD

ELROY Hirsch, the former University of Wisconsin half back whose professional contract is held by the Chicago club of the All-America conference, has been the big reason for the success this fall of the El Toro Marines eleven. . . . The owner of a National Football league club recently expressed doubt about the financial stability of the Chicago organization in the new league. . . . John L. Keeshin, who will operate the Chicago team, has donated $1,467,701 from his sports earnings to Chicago charities in the last four years. . . . The N. F. L. owner meanwhile has been struggling to keep his property out of the red. . . . If he continues to make headway, he may earn as much in the next 25 years as Keeshin has given away in the last four. . . . A little whistling in the dark may help, but it won't dispel the fact that there are two or three clubs in the All-America whose owners have more wealth than the entire resources of the National league. . . . It may cost the National league a million dollars or more to learn that for every dollar they can muster the All-America will produce two. . . . Benjamin F. Lindheimer of Chicago has purchased a home in Beverly Hills, Cal., where he plans to spend at least four months of each year. . . . Lindheimer is one of several millionaires who have an interest in the new Los Angeles professional football club. . . . You will be reading soon about other newcomers to the organization whose ranks already include Daniel Rice, Norman Church, L. B. Mayer, Leo Spitz, Bing Crosby, Pat O'Brien and Don Ameche.

Lt. Bill Osmanski, former Bears full back, was confined to quarters in Japan for three days last month for speeding 25 miles an hour. . . . He was accustomed to moving faster than that in grid togs. . . . Bob Meyer, Indiana's starting center against Michigan early in the season, will watch the Indiana-Purdue game Saturday from the bench. . . . Meyer suffered a leg fracture at Ann Arbor and only recently was released from the University of Michigan hospital. . . . His leg is still in a cast. . . . Lynn Waldorf never has demonstrated his talents as a coach more effectively than he has with this year's Northwestern squad. . . Four service veterans will be the nucleus of Wisconsin's basketball team this winter. . . . They are Bob Cook, Exner Menzel, Ted Deppe and Norris Olson. . . . All were reserves on the Badgers' 1943 squad. . . . The largest fixed salary ever paid to a jockey is the $500 per day that Ted Atkinson will draw as the contract rider for Radioman Jay Paley during the coming Santa Anita meeting. . . . Among the new cities in Chicago Golden Gloves this winter will be Pittsburgh, Denver, Dayton, Clinton, Ia., and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. . . . Roger [Moose] Brown, Fenwick High school's star half back, picked his own nickname. . . . He's an admirer of Ed [Moose] Krause, former football and basketball player at Notre Dame.

The Thanks of the Republic They Died to Save

Dear Madam:

I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the Adjutant General of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle.

I feel how weak and fruitless must be any word of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom.

Yours very sincerely and respectfully,
A. Lincoln

Thanksgiving, Post-War

The war is done, and boys return
By thousands now to share this day
Within the shelter of their homes
Instead of foxholes far away.

In mansions or in humble flats
The story will be parallel,
The vacant chair refilled again
As grateful hearts know "all is well."

But over there they lie in sleep
Their sacrifice makes possible
The peace today that millions know.
—Hilda Butler Farr

Give Thanks

Give thanks for the victory, thanks for the faith
Of the multitude standing behind our men.
Give thanks for the toil and the prayers of those Who never wavered and faltered when
The sky looked black and the storm advanced.
And the devils of war and deadly disease
Had garnered a toll of our blessed youth.
O land of the brave! Your tasks are these:

Stand closely beside the rest of the world,
United against oppression and greed;
Subdue all the forces that create war;
Encourage the life that God's offerings breed.
For those who push ever on, in our ranks,
Toward permanent peace, give thanks; give thanks.
—Morrison Doc's Wife

Thanksgiving, 1945

This year none of us need look far
To find the things we are greatful for,
The war is ended, peace at last,
For which we yearned those drear years past.

From every heart will well a prayer
That homeward ships from "over there"
Bear cargo of all precious frate,
The boys for whom we pine and wait.

This year none of us need look far,
Past and gone, the scourge of war—
No longer alien soil they roam,
Their steps now turn toward the lights of home!
—Jazbo of Old Dubuque

Thanksgiving

We thank thee, Lord, for the pleasant things
That come to us day by day—
The sun that shines and the bird that sings,
The flowers that border our way,
The air we breathe, the food we eat,
The pleasure to take and to give,
The homes we enjoy, the comrades we meet,
And the nation in which we live.

We praise Thee, Lord, for the bitter things
That come to us day by day—
The faded leaves and the broken wings,
The tears we shed on the way;
There must be a purpose, rich, sublime,
To problems that stir the soul,
Crosses to carry, hills to climb—
Dear Lord, we thank Thee for all.
—W. J. Griffith

Let Us Give Thanks

Just one short year ago it was our prayer
That God would heed and mercifully spare
The lives of those we love, and make to cease
The scourge of war and bring the blessed peace.
The guns are stilled. And shall we now give way
To dire forebodings of a future day?
Let us give thanks. May gratitude outpour
For a land unravished and for homes secure;
For lads full schooled in every cherished art
Of peace, who yet played well their valiant part
When there was need; for a people unified
When threat was grave and trials multiplied;
For freedoms saved and dangers thrust behind;
That we have served the welfare of mankind.
Shall we not trust that He, whose kindly will
Has led us on, will henceforth guide us still,
That we may prove that God has yet in store
Far better days that still lie on before.

OAK PARK WINS FOUR ALL-STAR SQUAD PLACES

Coaches Help Make Tribune Choices

All-Suburban

THE TRIBUNE'S All-Suburban league prep football team has been compiled on reports furnished by coaches from Evanston, Oak Park, New Trier, Waukegan, Proviso, and Morton High schools. The league honor roll follows:

ENDS—Karl Rustman, Oak Park; Litt Clark, New Trier.
TACKLES—Frank Stanley, Oak Park; William Olson, Evanston; John Brawka, Proviso.
GUARDS—Gerald Hodan, Morton; Joe Simcic, Waukegan.
CENTER—Joe Iosco, Proviso.
BACKS—Robert Kritzer, Oak Park; Bob Handke, Oak Park; Mel Pfeifer, Proviso; Tony [Sonny] Gordon, Waukegan; Roger Drew, New Trier.

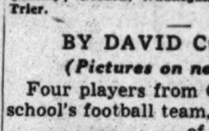
Four players from Oak Park High school's football team, 1945 champion of the Suburban league, won places on the All-Suburban eleven compiled by THE TRIBUNE on information furnished by coaches of the six schools participating in the football campaign.



Mel Pfeifer

Proviso of Maywood, defeated by the Villagers, 9 to 0, in the title game, placed three performers on the honor team. New Trier's Terriers, 1944 champions, and Waukegan, each placed two. One player from Evanston's Wildkits and one from Morton of Cicero complete the list.

Thirteen players, including an extra tackle and back, were named on the team. The extra selections were made when candidates for the positions finished in a tie in the final point compilation.

Kritzer, Handke Named

Coaches participating in the selection of the team were J. L. Rothacher, Evanston; Glenn Holmes, Oak Park; Leo Singer, Waukegan; Walter Aschenbach Jr., New Trier; Louis Slimmer, Proviso, and Buck Wright, Morton.

Two of the positions won by Oak Park players went to Bob Kritzer and Bob Handke, who paced the Villagers in their title drive. Kritzer, a senior left half back, who weighs 153 pounds and is 5 feet 10 inches tall, was one of the leading scorers in the circuit, tallying four touchdowns in league play. Handke, a quarter back, also is a senior and weighs 160 pounds. Both are 17.

The three other backfield positions went to Mel Pfeifer, Proviso, leading scorer in the league; Tony [Sonny] Gordon, Waukegan, and Roger Drew of New Trier.

Scores Six Touchdowns

"An excellent performer," said Coach Holmes, in naming Pfeifer as one of the choices for the honor team. Pfeifer, 17, topped the scorers with six touchdowns.

Drew finished second among Suburban league scorers, amassing 27 points for New Trier with three touchdowns and nine extra points.

Waukegan's Sonny Gordon, altho injured in the latter part of the season, paced the Ponies with his kicking and running.

Karl Rustman, Oak Park, and Litt Clark, New Trier, were named as ends. Coach Slimmer of Proviso named both as outstanding in league play. Rustman, a senior, weighs 185 pounds and is 6 feet 1 inch tall. Clark, a reserve on the 1944 New Trier team, also is a senior and weighs 172 pounds altho only 5 feet 7 inches tall.

Iosco Voted Center

The three tackles selected were Frank Stanley, Oak Park; John Brawka, Proviso, and William Olson, Evanston. At guards are Gerald Hodan, Morton, and Joe Simcic, Waukegan mainstay, who played 60 minutes in every Pony contest except against Proviso.

Practically a unanimous choice for center was Joe Iosco, 17 years old, Proviso, who has ambitions to attend the University of Illinois.

The coaches also expressed the opinion that the league's other members, Thornton and Highland Park, also had players of all-star caliber, but these were not eligible for selection since the schools did not participate in the league schedule, altho they met several of the schools.

[All-Catholic and All-City league teams will be named soon.]

NEW ANGLE ADDED TO AN OLD RIVALRY

NORTHWESTERN

Capt. Ralph Serpico (left), Illinois tackle, will lead the team into Dyche stadium, Evanston, Saturday in quest of "Sweet Sioux" (center), new symbol of Illinois-Northwestern university football rivalry. Directing the Wildcats' defense of the euphoniously named graduate of a cigar store advertising job will be Jim Farrar (right), the N. U. quarter back.

Sweet Sioux Soliloquizes on N.U.-Illini Gridiron Feud

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Chief Sweet Sioux, the heap big wooden Indian who is going to become the annual trophy for the football series between Northwestern university and the University of Illinois, became quite articulate yesterday afternoon during a chance meeting with the old boy in Evanston's Fountain square.

[Chief Sweet Sioux is the official name of the new Illinois-Northwestern football trophy. The idea of the trophy was originated by Tom Koch, sports editor of the Daily Northwestern, and a contest to name it was held on both campuses. The judges were two athletic publicity directors, Walter Paulison of Northwestern and Charles E. Flynn of Illinois, and the sports editors of Chicago newspapers.]

For nearly an hour, the chief rambled on, unmindful of the sorry weather. He allowed he was quite touched by the sentiment which led to his choice as a symbol of the rivalry between the Wildcats and the Illini, who will kick off in Dyche stadium at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. However, he refused to predict the outcome of the game, 39th in the long feud between the two schools.

Remember First Game in Chicago When Michigan Beat Racine, 1-0?

"No, that wouldn't be fair," he said, gnawing on a cheroot, "because I'm going to have to spend time at both schools, and I'm going to be impartial. They're both dandy institutions and each has produced some mighty fine athletes. Why, I can remember Northwestern's first football game. It was played back there in 1888, against Lake Forest.

"Ha, you look suspicious about me seeing a football game back in 1888. Son, you forget that I was carved in 1833, the very year that Chicago was incorporated as a town. Why, long before Northwestern even had a team, I saw the first college football game ever played here. It was at the old Chicago White Stockings baseball grounds on the lake front between Randolph and Washington sts. The game was a little different in those days and Michigan beat Racine college, 1 to 0. When was it played? Why, I can remember the date as well as if it were yesterday—May 31, 1879."

The chief was asked if he happened to be around for the inaugural battle of the Northwestern-Illinois series.

That Was Great Game When Huff and Illini Tied N. U., 16-16

"You bet I was. 'Twas on a Wednesday afternoon in the 1892 season. I hitchhiked down to Champaign, making the last leg of the journey in a surrey. That was one to remember, for the late George Huff of Illinois was the star of the game, even tho it wound up in a 16 to 16 tie.

"Those were the days up here in Evanston. The old Purple had some really great footballers, but the one that stands out in my memory was the late Jesse Van Doozer, who played in the early '90s. Other stars I recall were Alvin H. Culver, Harry Hamill, and Ransom Kennicott.

Score 22 Points in Last Half, Final Count, 0-0; Guess How!

"The second game between the Wildcats and the Illini really was a funny one. That was decided up here in 1893, the year of the first Chicago world's fair. If you want to check the records, you'll find it wound up in a scoreless tie, even tho 22 points actually were scored in the second half. You see, they had to call the game on account of darkness, and officials decided to revert the final score back to the halftime count, which was 0 to 0. That's the way they did things in those days.

"Then there was another important game in this series. That would be in 1894 when Illinois ran like crazy for those days, and piled up a 66 to 0 score. The Daily Northwestern of that time chided the faculty, and the latter decided to put the game on what it called a 'more substantial basis.' There were no more 66 to 0 scores, but in 1913, the Illini did run off by 37 to 0. That's another to remember, because it marked the first Big Ten game in which Bob Zuppke appeared as Illinois coach.

Chief Talks Turkey; Hopes to Help Wildcats Eat One, Too

"And don't forget the years in which Red Grange played for Illinois and, a little later, a fellow named Pug Rentner was at N. U. Why, nobody ever heard of Pug until the 1930 Illinois game, but he soon let 'em know by running back a kick-off for 98 yards and passing for two other touchdowns. Yes, it's a mighty fine series, and I'm right proud I'm going to have a regular part in it. It always has been a close one, too, for while Illinois has won 19 of the 38 games, the Wildcats have captured 16 and tied three.

"Well, I'll be seeing you Saturday at 1:30. Got to be getting along to the Northwestern practice now. The boys are going to work out two hours tomorrow morning and I'm going to join them for turkey in the afternoon. Too bad about Stan Stasica and Lou Agase of Illinois. Looks like they're too injured to play. But Lynn Waldorf is having his troubles in the arnica league, too, so it should turn out to be a real thriller."

The New York Rangers, who see little in Thanksgiving day to be thankful for, will battle the Blackhawks in Chicago Stadium tonight. It will be the third meeting of the teams this season and the Hawks will be trying to add another victory to their previous 5 to 1 and 5 to 4 triumphs.

This is the fourth Thanksgiving day the New York team has been in the National Hockey league cellar and from the depths come the sepulchral voices of Manager Patrick and Coach Boucher bewailing the schedule maker's villainy which has the New York squad on the road for five straight games starting with tonight's affair.

Leading Scorer Has 4 Goals

A glance at the scoring statistics shows the reason for the Rangers' position in the current race. Their leading scorer is Ab De Marco, who has hit the nets four times in nine games. In the nine contests the New Yorkers have accounted for less than two goals per game.

According to dispatches from the east, the Rangers are afflicted with, and seemingly can't overcome, third period paralysis. In a number of their recent games the Blue Shirts have been even with or ahead of their opponents going into the third period, only to lose.

Lose Hextall and Warwick

Their star right wing, Bryan Hextall, is in the hospital and will be out of the game for another month. Grant Warwick, another of their top-notch forwards, had 16 stitches taken in his forehead after a collision with Mike McMahon, Montreal's husky defense man, last Saturday. He was left at home.

PROVISO BASKET TEAM DEFEATS LA GRANGE, 53-32

The Proviso varsity basketball team defeated La Grange, 53 to 32, last night in Maywood in a practice game in which the Pirates scored 27 free throws. Don Blacius, guard, scored eight consecutive times in eight free throw attempts. Lineups:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 21.—Football comes before turkey tomorrow in an old fashioned morning game, the likes of which the National league has not held for many years. When it's 10 a. m. in Chicago the Cleveland Rams and the Detroit Lions will start a contest which will determine if the Western division race is to end abruptly or continue indefinitely.

The strategic position is all Cleveland's. The Rams will be no worse than tied with the Lions even if they are whipped. If the Rams win they will have clinched their first divisional title in history. Even if the Lions draw abreast of the powerful young Ohio team they will be called upon to beat Green Bay a week from Sunday while the Rams have a comparatively easy foe, the Boston Yanks.

Chances for a Briggs stadium record football crowd in excess of 50,000 were reduced tonight by a "colder and snow flurries" weather forecast.

Rams Beaten by Eagles

By winning, Cleveland will have eight victories in nine games, with one to play. Detroit, in defeat, would have five victories and three losses, with one to play. The Lions find themselves in such a precarious position because last Sunday they were upset by the New York Giants, 35 to 14.

Inability to defend against passes has been the Lions' weakness, a shower of aerial bombs devasted them in the Green Bay game. Later in the season, Sid Luckman of the Bears hurled four touchdown passes against the second placers in Wrigley field. Almost unaccountably, the Lions won that one with a last quarter spurt. Last Sunday the Giants scored three times thru the air against the Lions.

This will be the first time they have seen Bob Waterfield, a story book quarter back with a California background and a film star wife. Waterfield pitches in almost the same strata of a Luckman or Sammy Baugh. The Rams have a running attack, too, which meshes with Waterfield's pegs.

Cleveland Squad in Shape

The Rams have played like champions all season. They came from behind to whip such teams as the Packers, Bears, and Giants. They scored almost at will last Sunday against the Cardinals in Chicago. Adam Walsh, the Rams' first year coach, said today the team is in good physical condition.

Coach Gus Dorais of the Lions expects to stand pat on the same offensive lineup he used in the New York game. The question of which of the four left half backs will handle most of the running and passing is undecided.

Cotton Price, who passed for a pair of late touchdowns against the Bears, has been cut from the squad. Chuck Fenenbock and Dave Ryan, a rookie from Hardin-Simmons and Pittsburg [Kas.] Teachers, have been used considerably at this position. Last Sunday, Dick Webber, from St. Louis university by way of Fort Benning, made his debut as a tail back. Another newcomer at this position is Dick Brumley from Rice.

Mercury, Crowd Estimates Drop

Detroit's top football crowd is the 48,118 which saw the Bears beat the Lions, 27 to 21, two years ago. Detroit club officials provided for an attendance potential of 58,000 tomorrow by arranging to place on sale, in addition to the remainder of 42,000 reserved seats, 11,000 bleacher seats and 5,000 standing room tickets two hours before game time. Then came the unfavorable weather forecast, and a slash in crowd estimates.

STRIKE!

And you'll see plenty of tenpin variety when 144 of the nation's leading bowlers compete for the fifth annual national individual match game championship on the alleys of the Auditorium Service Men's Center from Saturday, Dec. 1, thru Sunday, Dec. 9. Prices:

FIRST TEN SESSIONS (five afternoon and five evenings). $1.20 for all seats other than boxes. Boxes, $2.40. The same prices will prevail the afternoons of Dec. 6 and 7.

EVENINGS of Dec. 6, 7, 8 and 9, and MATINEES of Dec. 8 and 9—$1.20, $1.80 and $2.40.

MARINER HALAS COMES BACK TO UNHAPPY BEARS

Coach Sees Team Drill for Steelers

The trim, bespectacled man in the uniform of a navy commander stood in the shelter of Wrigley field's grandstand yesterday morning watching the Chicago Bears go thru one of their most vigorous workouts of a thus far unhappy season. Altho he remained quiet during the drill there was a gleam in his eyes indicating that he might like to be out there in the rain with the rest of them.

The officer was Comdr. George Halas, making his first appearance on the familiar north side premises since he saw his Bears whip the Washington Redskins, 41 to 21, in the now historic game of Dec. 26, 1943.

George has been somewhat busy in other parts since that championship victory of two years ago. He had entered the navy as a lieutenant commander in November, 1942, and was stationed in Norman, Okla., as military and physical training officer. He then spent 20 months in overseas service in the Pacific, serving as welfare and recreation officer for the 7th fleet and finally in the same capacity for the entire Pacific fleet, on Adm. Nimitz's staff.

Halas Twice Decorated

During his overseas hitch Comdr. Halas standardized the fleet plan for installation of recreational facilities in connection with the development of bases and established such areas, completely equipped for all types of games, at virtually every fleet operating base and shore establishment in the Pacific. He was twice decorated for his work, recently receiving the bronze star medal from Adm. Nimitz.

Asked whether he planned to return to active coaching duty next season, George was rather diffident.

"Y' know, I began coaching this team back in 1920 when they were known as the Decatur Staleys, and, except for 1930, 1931, and 1932, when Ralph Jones did a fine job for us, I was at it every year until I went into service. It's a tough job, this coaching, and I wonder if I want to go back in there. Don't forget that Hunk Anderson, Luke Johnsos, and Paddy Driscoll have done a magnificent piece of work the last couple of years."

Perkins Joins Team

Halas and the rest of the coaches were highly pleased with yesterday's workout for Sunday's game against the Pittsburgh Steelers in Wrigley field. Among the veteran Bears who were in service and who will be available for full duty next season are George McAfee, Bulldog Turner, Bobby Swisher, Lee Artoe, Joe Stydahar, Ken Kavanaugh, John Drulis, and Hugh Gallarneau. Attracting considerable attention yesterday was Don Perkins, recently released by Green Bay, who looked sharp in his full back debut.

HAGBERG PLANS SEA DUTY; NEW COACH FOR NAVY

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 21 (AP)—Oscar E. Hagberg, Navy football coach, may return to sea duty after the end of the football season and his successor will not be chosen until after the first of the year, the academy announced today.

Academy Superintendent Vice Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch, in a statement today, said Hagberg would be "available for assignment to sea duty upon completion of the present football season."

He added, "the selection of his successor as coach of the Naval Academy football team has not and will not be determined until after the first of the year."

Hagberg is in his second season as coach. Navy elevens have won 13 games, lost three and tied one during his tenure.

Marquette to Face St. Louis Eleven Today

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 21 [Special]—Renewing a 39 year old feud, the Marquette and St. Louis university football teams will clash in a Thanksgiving day feature in Walsh stadium tomorrow.

Marquette enjoys an advantage of nine victories to three losses in a series that originated in 1906, and which also includes two scoreless ties. The Hilltoppers and the Billikens last met in Soldiers' field in Chicago in 1936 with the Milwaukee team winning, 32 to 6.

By winning tomorrow Marquette would complete its season with a record of five victories, four defeats and a tie. Coach Tom Stidham's players hope to collect at least 16 points to become the highest scoring Marquette squad since 1917. Lineups:

Marquette		St. Louis

CHICAGO RACING GROUP DONATES TO KENNY FUND

Thorobred racing's drive for funds for the Sister Kenny Foundation will open today, Maj. Ednyfed H. Williams, president of the National Association of State Racing commissioners and chairman of the racing division of the campaign, said yesterday.

Already $53,492 has been raised, $10,000 having been contributed by the Chicago Business Men's Racing association, operator of Hawthorne, and $43,492 by Rockingham Park in New Hampshire. The Rockingham contribution was announced yesterday by Bing Crosby, national chairman of the Kenny Foundation's 1945 fund appeal, from Hollywood, Cal. It represented the net receipts of Rockingham Park's charity day Nov. 14.

Williams, chairman of the Illinois racing board, also announced that Frank E. Mandel, a member of the board, has been appointed secretary of the racing division for the Kenny fund. The organization's goal is $5,000,000.

INJURY PLAGUE PASSES UP OHIO, IRISH, HOOSIERS

BY WILFRID SMITH

The success of a football team frequently can be gauged by comparison of its varsity personnel at the start of the season and at the time of the concluding game. By this measurement, the victories of such teams as Notre Dame, Indiana, and Ohio State are explained.

When the opening game arrives, the squad theoretically has been prepared during the summer and fall practices. Occasionally, personnel will be changed because of improvement of the substitutes. This year some changes were made because of return of service men. Changes must be made, of course, when varsity talent is eliminated by injury.

Notably Free from Injuries

The three teams previously mentioned have been notably free from injuries, which also is a factor in their successes. Bill Leonard, Irish end, was injured before Notre Dame's opening game with Illinois, but later returned to share right end duties with Dick Cronin. The latter now moves to left end in place of Bob Skoglund, who has been transferred by navy order. Phil Colella was the first regular seriously injured after the start of the campaign, and he missed the Northwestern game. Frank Ruggerio, full back, has carried on since the Navy game despite his badly cut chin.

Indiana, undefeated and within one step of its first Western conference championship, has been notably free from injuries altho the Hoosiers opened against Michigan without John Cannady, whose knee had been hurt before the start of fall practice. Indiana also has benefitted most after the start of the campaign from returning veterans.

Hoosiers' Strength Grows

Bob Meyer was Indiana's center at Michigan Sept. 23 when the Hoosiers whipped the Wolverines, 13 to 7. Nick Lysohir, a freshman, was at full back in place of Cannady. Frank Ciolli and Joe Sowinski were the guards. Harold Brown returned from service and took over at right guard. Pete Pihos, one time great Hoosier end, also reported and was assigned the full back position. When Cannady recovered he went to center. Thus, Indiana today is far stronger than it was two months ago.

Ohio State's lineup has been remarkably constant. Bob McGinnis, left guard, and Robin Priday, quarter back, had just returned to the Buckeyes before their opening conference game with Iowa. Shortly afterward they received varsity ranking. Dick Fisher is in the same category, for it was obvious he would be Ohio State's starting right half back. Paul Sarringhaus was the only veteran unable to hold his position, which eventually went to Freshman Harold Daugherty.

Michigan Loses Many Stars

The other outstanding midwest team is Michigan, which will win the Big Nine title Saturday if victorious over Ohio State and Purdue defeats Indiana. The Wolverines have whipped Northwestern, Illinois, Minnesota, and Purdue. Each victory has been by at least a two touchdowns margin. Yet Michigan has been hardest hit of all by injury.

Michigan's strength has been its trio of half backs, Pete Elliott, Walt Teninga, and Henry Fonde; the steady line play of Bob Johnson, Dominic Tomasi, and Gene Hinton, and development of Stuart Wilkins, guard, and Len Ford, end. That Michigan even has opportunity for conference honors is a tribute to its coaches.

GOV. GREEN WILL SPEAK AT DINNER FOR ILLINI TEAM

Members of the University of Illinois football squad will be dinner guests of the Illini Club of Chicago Saturday night for the first time since 1941.

Gov. Dwight H. Green will be the principal speaker at the banquet in the Edgewater Beach hotel at 6:30 p. m. The dinner will follow the football game between Illinois and Northwestern university in Evanston. Women have been invited to attend.

HOLY TRINITY TO HELP CULVER END SEASON TODAY

Culver, Ind., Nov. 21 [Special]—Culver Military academy's football team, champion of the Midwest Prep conference, will meet Holy Trinity High school of Chicago in its final game of the season tomorrow. Seven members of the squad, including Dick Davis, Culver, Ind., will end their prep careers against Holy Trinity.

Change St. Louis Soccer Lineup for Game Today

The St. Louis Natural Set-Ups soccer team which will play a picked squad from the Slovaks and Necaxas in Sparta stadium this afternoon will present a changed lineup, according to word from St. Louis last night. The latest roster:

Russians Beat British Soccer Squad in Fog, 4-3

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP) — Russia's touring dynamo soccer team defeated the British Arsenal club, 4 to 3, in Tottenham stadium today in an international match played in a fog so thick the 54,620 fans in the stands could not see the players on the field.

MICHIGAN BANKS ON EX-BUCKEYES IN OHIO BATTLE

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 21 [Special]—Michigan's hopes for football victory over Ohio State here Saturday depend in no small measure on the performance of a former Buckeye gridiron letterman. He is Howard Yerges, who will be charged with directing the Wolverine offense from the quarter back position he assumed when Joe Ponsetto was injured, three weeks ago. Yerges, a navy trainee, earned a letter at Ohio State before being transferred to Michigan.

Starting the game with the 175 pound Michigan quarter back will be Tony Momsen, 17, Toledo freshman, who took over at center when Harold Watts was lost thru navy transfer; Tackle George Johnson of Columbus, O., another navy trainee who would have been at Ohio State had it not been for military orders, and Stu Wilkins, Canton, O., freshman guard. The other two Ohioans, both of whom will see action, are End Ed McNeill, also of Toledo, and a high school team mate of Momsen, and Jim Foltz, another Toledoan, who will see action at full back.

BUCKEYES STUDY PICTURES

Columbus, O., Nov. 21 [Special]—The Ohio State football squad worked out in the rain again today and attempted to improve their offensive tactics, especially in the handling of a soggy ball.

The Buckeye coaches also are concerned over defense. Old pictures of Ohio State-Michigan games were dusted off and shown to reveal trick plays used by the Wolverines in former encounters.

Seven Buckeyes tomorrow will make their senior tackle, an annual ceremony during the season's last practice session on home grounds. Players concluding Ohio football careers include Capt. Bill Hackett, Dick Fisher, Thornton Dixon, Jack Redd, Paul Sarringhaus, Paul Maltinsky, and Don Steinber.

BADGER CENTER ILL

Madison, Wis., Nov. 21 [Special]—Hal Faverty, University of Wisconsin center who has started all the Badgers' football games this season and has been practically a 60 minute performer, is in the hospital suffering from a severe cold and may not be able to play Saturday when Wisconsin plays Minnesota in Minneapolis.

The Badgers worked out on a snow swept field this afternoon. Coach Stuhldreher expects the same kind of playing conditions in Minneapolis. The drill today was the last stiff one of the week.

GOPHER CRIPPLES RETURN

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 21 [Special]—Some of the gloom around the Gopher practice field lifted today when Hudson Mealey, full back, and Date Pulver, guard, returned to action after missing the Iowa game last Saturday.

Coach Bernie Bierman immediately put Pulver into the first string lineup along with four other newcomers, Pat Rooney at right half, John Kutscheid at guard, and Tom Reinhardt and Woody Swentek at tackles.

Figures reveal that if the Gophers draw more than 25,000 fans in the Wisconsin game Saturday, the home crowd total for the game will be the second best in history. If the expected 40,000 attend, the total will be 388,180. In 1941, 402,566 watched the Gophers.

PURDUE EXPECTS PASSES

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 21 [Special]—Building a defense against the aerial assault that is expected to be launched Saturday by Ben Raimondi and George Taliaferro, Indiana passing aces, took up most of Purdue's drill time this afternoon.

Coach Cecil Isbell warned his backs that it will require unremitting alertness to cover potential receivers in view of the accuracy of the Crimson duo. Isbell stepped into the passing spot at times to give his backs a taste of the aerial offense they will be forced to combat.

The squad will leave here Friday evening after dinner and spend the night in the Indianapolis Athletic club, continuing the journey to Bloomington by bus on Saturday morning.

HOOSIERS WORK INDOORS

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 21 [Special]—Rain forced Indiana's Hoosiers inside the fieldhouse for their drills today, as Coach Bo McMillin kept bearing down on the squad to get its formations in better shape for Saturday's Big Nine title game with Purdue's Boilermakers.

IRISH STARS ARE FIT FOR TULANE GAME SATURDAY

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 21 [Special]—Notre Dame coaches reported the Irish in excellent physical condition for the Tulane game Saturday in New Orleans after the squad was sent thru its final drill this afternoon on rain soaked Cartier field.

Phil Colella, left half back, Joe Gasparella, reserve quarter back, and Pete Berezney, right tackle, are reported ready for action after injuries suffered in the Army and Navy games. The Irish concentrated on defensive formations against Tulane plays and concluded with a brief kicking drill.

Joyce, Barnum Finish Boxing Drills Today

BY FRANK MASTRO

Willie Joyce, Gary lightweight, and Joey Barnum, talented Los Angeles boxer, will finish training this afternoon in C. Y. O. center gymnasium for their 10 round return bout in Chicago Stadium tomorrow night. Each will engage in light loosening up exercises.

They concluded the hard phase of drills yesterday, Joyce sparring two rounds with Stanley Berg, west side junior welterweight, and Barnum going three with Bill Parsons, Danville, Ill., welterweight. After the workouts Joyce weighed 137½, one pound more than he intends to carry tomorrow, while Barnum was at 139.

Barnum's handlers yesterday predicted their protege would score a knockout tomorrow. Joyce, however, never has suffered such an embarrassment in 85 bouts during an eight year campaign.

Joyce's record in 13 battles this year is eight triumphs, a draw with Barnum in a previous meeting last month, and four defeats. Willie's conquests earned him recognition by the National Boxing association as third foremost 135 pound contender. In the four setbacks he has suffered, Joyce's most damaging was the one dealt him by Allie Stolz in Madison Square Garden on Nov. 12.

Barnum plans to fight as a welterweight, so even if Willie is defeated he probably will not lose any more ground in his fight for a lightweight title engagement with Ike Williams, N. B. A. recognized champion, in the Stadium in January.

56 Pass Tests for CYO Ring Meet Monday

Stanley Sheely of St. Elizabeth parish light-heavyweight, who was a middleweight finalist in the National A. A. U. tournament last spring, last night became the 199th boxer to qualify for competition in the 15th Catholic Youth organization meet opening in C. Y. O. center gymnasium Monday night.

Sheely successfully passed his medical examination last night in the C. Y. O. gym, along with 55 other candidates, in the second test conducted by D. W. Lloyd Kenny. One hundred forty-three qualified in the first examination last week. The third and last physical examinations will be held tomorrow night.

In addition to Sheely, qualifiers last night included Jack McBurnie, navy dischargee from St. Attracta, Cicero; Pvt. Yashito Yashino, Fort Sheridan, and Joe Costello, St. Columbkille.

WILD TURKEYS IN ILLINOIS NOW ONLY A MEMORY

BY BOB BECKER

Thanksgiving day placed the wild turkey in a prominent position in Illinois homes years ago when the native wild birds were served for the big noon day meal, but domesticated turkeys, venison, various species of ducks and pheasants now get the spotlight.

Illinois used to have a big wild turkey population in its forests. Today the march of civilization has eliminated them here and in most states, for the bronze backs go when the heavy forests are cut down.

Kaskaskia Now a Channel

We were in a county last week that once had heavy bottomland timber and an abundant wild game population, for we hiked thru the fields not far from the Kaskaskia river bottoms to look for coveys of quail. Today the old Kaskaskia [near Vandalia, Ill.] is restricted to a narrow channel by dykes, and soybeans and corn now are raised where once there were dense forests. However, enough timber remains to make the coon hunters happy; the boys still find some of these animals with their night hunting hounds.

Southern Illinois appears to have an edge over the northern part of the state this year in a comparison of the relative abundance of quail and rabbits down there with the number of pheasants and rabbits north and northwest of Chicago.

Good Quail Crop

On our quail hunting we teamed it up with Dr. E. F. Greer of Vandalia and Lyman Barr, Highland Park. The boys in the southern part of the state told us they had a good quail crop before we started hiking behind Felicia Huntstone, the setter, Doc Greer's big white pointer named Sport, and the late Frank Greer's pointer, Penny. It didn't take us long to find out that they were right, and that the southern Illinois quail hatching session was better than our northern Illinois pheasant producing weather this year.

We'd hate to think of the struggle a quail hunter would have in some parts of southern Illinois if he tried to hunt quail with a dog that chased rabbits. The cottontails bounced away from us in nearly every thicket and fallow field while we were after quail.

A FIGHTING MAN BORN TO ARMY: THAT WAS PATCH

Son of Captain, He Bore Colors in Two Wars

"He's got a temper like the devil before dawn," fellow army officers used to say about Lt. Gen. Alexander McCarrell Patch Jr., who died yesterday in San Antonio, Tex. Whatever it was that motivated this wiry sixfooter, it carried him thru two wars and to distinguished achievements in his chosen career of fighting man.

"Sandy" Patch, dubbed with the inescapable Scot nickname, was born at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., Nov. 23, 1889, the son of Capt. A. M. Patch of the cavalry. He attended Lehigh university and in 1909 was appointed to the United States Military academy from Pennsylvania.

Upon graduation in 1913 he was commissioned a lieutenant in the infantry, served on the southern borders of Texas and Arizona, and later saw action in Mexico.

World War I. Career

During the greater part of World War I. he served in France with the 1st infantry division, participating in the Aisne-Marne, St. Mihiel, and Meuse-Argonne offensives. Selected to attend a British machine gun school, he later commanded a machine gun battalion and subsequently was made director of the American general headquarters machine gun school.

After World War I., Patch held various posts in the United States, including three terms of duty at Staunton Military academy as professor of military science and tactics.

As World War II. approached he was promoted to the rank of brigadier general and placed in command of the infantry replacement training center at Camp Croft, S. C. Shortly after Pearl Harbor he was put in charge of an infantry expedition to the Pacific and commanded the American forces that occupied New Caledonia.

Then came the bitter fighting of Guadalcanal. After the initial invasion by marines, Gen. Patch's troops moved in and finally captured the island. The troops won a distinguished unit citation and Patch was credited, in a citation accompanying the navy distinguished service medal, with "brilliant tactical generalship" which resulted in crushing defeats to the enemy despite handicaps of jungles and mountains.

Returns after Victory

After the Guadalcanal victory early in 1943, Gen. Patch was recalled to the United States and for a year commanded the 4th corps.

In March, 1944, he was made commander of the 7th army in Europe and led it when it hit the beaches of southern France on Aug. 15. In the highly successful operation that ensued, Patch's men drove the enemy back almost 600 miles, all the way to his prepared fortifications on the Siegfried line. By his lightning dash to Strasbourg, Gen. Patch became the first army commander to successfully pierce this natural frontier as he placed his forces in position for the attack against Germany's last barriers of defense.

During this fighting, Gen. Patch narrowly escaped death on April 18, 1944, when the small liaison plane in which he was flying was attacked by a German fighter.

Son Dies a Hero

A few months later the general's son, Capt. Alexander Patch III., was killed in action in France. The young officer, who died Oct. 22, 1944, was posthumously awarded the distinguished service cross and the silver star for extraordinary heroism.

Elevated to lieutenant general after his invasion of France, Patch's victories for a second time brought him an assignment to return home to impart his knowledge to new troops. In the summer of 1945, he was assigned to command the 4th army at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., where he had charge of training thousands of troops for expected duty in the Pacific.

When the Pacific fighting ended, Gen. Patch was sent to Washington as head of specially constituted army boards at home and abroad to begin immediate planning for the army's post-war organization.

He died Nov. 12 in Long Beach, Cal., of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile the day after he returned from two years' service in the Pacific. A sister, Ensign Nan Dickson, and a brother, Lt. Bruce W. Jr., also survive.

Fred W. Waterman

Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 21 [Special] —Fred W. Waterman, who retired in 1933 as president of the National Tube company, died today at 76. A graduate of the University of Illinois, he spent nearly his entire career in various capacities with the United States Steel company. When United States Steel began erecting a $21,000,000 plant at Gary, Ind., in 1923, Waterman was placed in charge of construction and later became general manager of the plant.

Joseph Michaels

Joseph Michaels, 73, chairman of the board of the Hyman-Michaels company, 122 S. Michigan av., died yesterday in his home, 1220 Sheridan rd., Highland Park. He had been associated with the iron and steel company for more than 50 years, and was chairman of the board for five years. Services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from North Shore Congregation Israel, Glencoe. Mr. Michaels is survived by his widow, Belle, and three sons, Everett, Joseph E., and Lt. Ralph, U. S. N.

Charles Peters

Charles F. Peters, 76, of 712 E. 91st st., a retired locomotive engineer, died yesterday in the Illinois Central hospital of injuries suffered last Monday when he fell from a ladder while trimming a tree at his home. Mr. Peters was retired seven years ago after 47 years of service with the Illinois Central railroad. The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in the chapel at 9108 Cottage Grove av. He is survived by his widow, Minnie; four daughters, and five sons.

William O. Ludewig

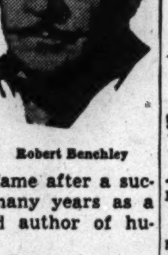
Dr. Francis W. Aston

CAMBRIDGE, England, Nov. 21 (AP)—Dr. Francis William Aston, 68, chairman of the international committee on atoms since 1935 and winner of the Nobel prize for chemistry in 1922, died here last night.

R. C. BENCHLEY, HUMORIST, DIES OF HEMORRHAGE



Robert Benchley

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Robert C. Benchley, 56, whose gift for humor brought him success as a writer, motion picture actor, and radio star, died today of a cerebral hemorrhage at Columbia Presbyterian medical center. He became ill at his Scarsdale, N. Y., home about a week ago.

Benchley gained Hollywood fame after a successful career of many years as a dramatic critic and author of humorous books.

His "How to Sleep," one of numerous motion picture shorts which he wrote and acted in, won an academy award in 1935 for the best short subject of the year. Benchley entered pictures in 1927 when he made a film of "The Treasurer's Report," a skit which he wrote and which Irving Berlin included in the "Music Box Review" of 1923.

Hollywood legend credits him—despite his denials—with originating the saying: "Now to get out of these wet clothes and into a dry martini."

WIFE DIVORCES A. S. H. BENDER; GAINS $151,000

Mrs. Caryl C. Bender, 40, of Mokena, Will county, yesterday won a divorce before Judge Frank M. Padden in Superior court from Alexander S. H. Bender, 45, president of the Dealers Transport company, an automobile trucking firm, whom she charged with cruelty.

Under an out of court settlement announced by Attys. Stephen Love and Benjamin B. Davis, representing Mrs. Bender and her husband, respectively, she will receive $136,000 and $15,000 worth of household furniture, and custody of a son, Alfred, 15. A married daughter, Alcarla, resides in New York.

Mrs. Bender testified that on Christmas day, 1943, she was putting up some decorations when her husband struck her, causing her to fall from a stepladder. Last July 26, the day the couple separated, she said he struck her during an argument and left the house. They were married in 1922.

Puts Holes in Cookies, Raises Price—OPA Sues

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday temporarily restrained the Superior Biscuit company, 1623 Lake st., from selling cookies at prices in excess of office of price administration ceilings. The OPA is seeking a judgment for $45,000 as triple damages against the bakery, charged with selling at 18 cents a pound cookies for which ceilings were 10 to 12 cents. The company argued that the costs were raised when it began putting holes in the cookies.

LOSES $100 TO 3 IN HOLDUP

Three men who held up Thomas Cusimano in his poultry store at 4055 Armitage av. yesterday obtained $100, he told police.

DOMINICANS SAY IRON MAN CURBS CIVIL LIBERTIES

Mail Tampering Charged by Americans

BY STANLEY JOHNSTON

[Chicago Tribune correspondent who has just returned from a tour of Latin America.]

Signs of unrest are evident among the inhabitants of the Dominican republic who charge that President Rafael Trujillo is denying them the right of free speech in a systematic campaign of oppression. Their charges are supported by Americans with business interests there and by the dictator's political enemies.

In addition to being accused of imprisoning political opponents and forbidding free assembly, Trujillo is reported to be operating a secret censorship of mail entering and leaving the country even tho the war has ended.

American business men in the Dominican republic complain that government agents tamper with their mail. They are refraining from criticizing Trujillo and his administration in letters for fear they will be expelled from the country.

Private Papers Scanned

Government employes compel visitors to hand over private papers for scrutiny upon entering and leaving Dominican territory. They go so far as to search baggage for such papers.

Trujillo's critics have circulated this story as evidence of the manner in which he stifles opposition:

A group of students from other Latin American countries came to Ciudad Trujillo, the capital, to study economic and political conditions. They were taken on a "conducted tour" and regaled with tales of the dictator's achievements.

That night, as the students were sleeping in a hotel, pamphlets were furtively slipped beneath the doors of their rooms. The pamphlets said Trujillo was a tyrant and that the Dominican republic was far from being a democracy.

Dominican Students Seized

A few hours later Trujillo's police arrested a number of Dominican students and accused them of circulating the derogatory papers. The youths were beaten. Among them was the son of a judge of the supreme court. It was reported that the judge, who was identified as Dr. Tulio Franco, was locked up secretly without benefit of trial as punishment for his son's alleged misdeed.

Dominican business firms are vexed by what has been described as political blackmail on the part of Trujillo. Last year he began pressing business men for donations for his campaign for reëlection. The election is scheduled for 1947 and Trujillo so far has no opposition. Ellis Briggs, who in 1944 was the United States ambassador to the Dominican republic and is known to be hostile to the Latin "iron man," cautioned American firms against contributing to the campaign fund. Briggs is now chief of the state department's Office of American Republic Affairs.

Briggs is not the only representative of a foreign nation who has expressed a dislike for Trujillo's regime. Romulo Betancourt, provisional president of the new Venezuelan government, recently announced that his country would not recognize Trujillo, labeling the dictator's henchmen "assassins of liberty."

Profit from Free Milk

One of Trujillo's pet projects is the distribution of milk among the poor. Dominicans charge that the president, whose annual income is estimated to be close to $6,000,000, derives a profit of 2 cents a quart from this form of relief by forcing municipalities to buy the milk from his dairies.

Meanwhile, reports of new border clashes between Dominican troops and Haitians are spreading. Tho the government controled press has made no mention of disturbances, there have been reports that Trujillo's soldiers have shot and killed Haitians who sneaked across the border at night to steal food and cattle.

In 1937 it was charged that 8,000 Haitians were massacred on Dominican territory in three months. The Haitian government at the time attributed the killings to trouble precipitated when the Dominican government, after revoking permits of Haitian laborers to work in Dominican canefields, ordered a roundup of Haitians for deportation.

THE QUESTION

What does Thanksgiving day mean to you?

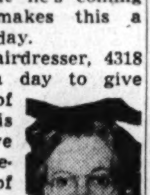
WHERE ASKED

Various locations.

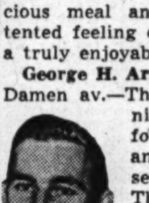
THE ANSWERS

Raymond Sheehan, 10, student, 3017 Clark st.—That's the day we should give thanks to God for having turkeys, ducks, chickens, and lots of good things to eat. Thanksgiving day is mostly for giving thanks for things. But it's a day, too, when I don't have to go to school and I have time to play and do the things I want to do.

Mrs. Beverly Pawlow, housewife, 4845 N. Christiana av.—To me it means being with my family and those close to me. This year it means having many of our boys home from the wars. My husband is in Japan, but knowing that he's coming back makes this a happy Thanksgiving day.

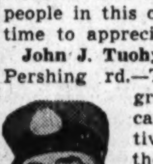


Mrs. Ella Pehl, hairdresser, 4318 Sheridan rd.—It's a day to give thanks and to think of the opportunity in this country that we have to choose our own religion. It's a day of homecoming at our house. Tho it entails a lot of work, the luscious meal and contented feeling on that day make it a truly enjoyable holiday.



George H. Arndt, student, 3505 N. Damen av.—This year it will be a nice Thanksgiving day for me. I'll be home and that's where it seems I should be on Thanksgiving. I'm out of the army and many of the fortunate boys are also back. This holiday has always been a happy time, when we realize we have much to be thankful for.

George T. Murphy, lawyer, 8742 Throop st.—Thanksgiving day this year has a special glow about it. My son will be home and I'm so thankful that the war is over. When I think of the war it reminds me of the country as a whole and of the freedom that all the people in this country enjoy. It's a time to appreciate these freedoms.



John J. Tuohy, mail carrier, 2913 Pershing rd.—This day means a great deal to me because all of my relatives are home from the wars and the countries are at peace. I think this Thanksgiving is the best we will have for many years because we are more conscious of the things that we have to be thankful for.

2 Ex-Felons Held to Jury on Charges of Burglary

MEAT RATIONING ROW TAKEN TO TRUMAN BY OPA

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP)—The office of price administration was reported today to have appealed to President Truman for resolution of a dispute with the agriculture department over meat rationing policy.

Officials in a position to know of the interagency differences told reporters that Price Administrator Bowles had sent a letter to Mr. Truman outlining OPA's position.

These sources, who ask that they not be identified, said they understood Bowles asked for:

1. A White House study of whether rationing of meats, fats, and oils should be continued.

2. A statement, if it's found the program should go on, giving the reasons.

Disputed for Two Months

OPA is reported by these officials to have been trying for two months to persuade the agriculture department to issue a statement to support its stand that rationing of meats and fats must continue. They said OPA had been willing to accept this view, but has held that the public is entitled to an explanation.

The agriculture department, which has jurisdiction over food rationing, has argued that the reasons already have been made clear.

Gets Many Questions

Agriculture Secretary Anderson has said publicly that foreign requirements for meats and fats necessitate continuance of rationing in this country. Anderson has stated it may be possible to take meat off the ration list "after December," but that the fats and oils program probably will have to be continued in 1946.

Bowles is reported to want this said in a formal satement, possibly by Mr. Truman himself, because of questions coming from the public and the trade.

Another difference between the two agencies is whether rationing of fats and oils should go on after meat rationing is ended.

CITY'S BUDGET HEADED FOR BIG INCREASE IN 1946

Chicago's corporate purposes fund [operating expense appropriations] for 1946 will far outstrip the 1945 appropriations of $64,647,944, it was learned yesterday.

For several weeks City Controler Upham has been working with members of his staff to cut down departmental requests for funds.

Much of the 1946 increase, it was said in the city hall, will be caused by pay raises for employes who are members of labor unions, by appropriations to pay salaries for returning war veterans, by funds set aside for civic improvements, and by a large appropriation for emergency housing.

Controler Upham is expected to have the department estimates compiled and his slashes ready for council action at a meeting set for Dec. 3.

POLICEMAN SHOOTS 2 WHO HALT HIS AUTO IN MYSTERY ATTACK

Two men were shot in the abdomen by Policeman Robert Martin of the Des Plaines st. station late last night after they had dragged him from his car in a mysterious attack at 103d st. and Normal av. Both men were wounded by the same bullet. They were taken to St. George's hospital, where police identified them as Charles Gendrich, 31, of 9205 Normal av., and Peter Baekeloo, 32 of 10635 Edbrooke av., house movers. Both were seriously wounded.

Martin, who was on the last day of a furlough, was driving with his wife and two children to their home at 7420 S. Peoria st. when Gendrich and Baekeloo unexpectedly crossed the path of his car. He stopped quickly to avoid hitting them.

Then, he later told Capt. Barth Moran of the Gresham station, the two ran to the sides of his car and opened the doors. One dragged him by the hair to the street. Martin said he broke away, drew his gun, warned he was a policeman, and fired a single shot when one of the men lunged for his gun. The bullet apparently hit Baekeloo first, passed thru his body, and struck Gendrich.

POLICE ORDERED TO STAMP OUT AUTO THIEVES

Mobilization of police in all districts to round up automobile thieves in Chicago was ordered yesterday at a conference of Police Commissioner Allman and State's Atty. Tuohy with heads of police districts and bureaus.

Chief of Detectives Walter G. Storms, Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney; Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief of state's attorney's police, and other ranking officials of the police department and the state's attorney's office spoke at the meeting.

Automobile thefts already total almost 2,900 this year, and the number may exceed the record total of 3,100 cars stolen in the city last year, Tuohy said.

URGE LASTING GROUP TO SEEK LABOR PEACE

Parley Is Recessed Until Monday

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP)—President Truman's labor-management conference today received a proposal for a semi-permanent national advisory committee on industrial problems and pointed its deliberations toward a possible adjournment next week.

The executive committee voted to tackle the controversial question of whether fact finding agencies should be employed when collective bargaining and conciliation fail.

The 17 day old conference, which recessed tonight until Monday, had "really started to tangle with long-range problems," Secretary George W. Taylor told a news conference.

Proposed by Johnston

However, with early adjournment as a target, observers believed that any definite provisions for finished arbitration machinery might necessarily be left to the semi-permanent agency, if and when it is organized.

Members of the steering committee, thru Eric Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, recommended that a group comparable to the conference executive committee be established to meet periodically or on call. It would "assist in effectuating the results of this conference," Taylor said, and would consider "various types of machinery to which disputants could go voluntarily for assistance" in settling differences.

Members of the executive committee approved the proposal in principle, Taylor added, but delayed formal action pending discussions over the holidays with labor and management headquarters.

Committee to Supervise Groups

Taylor said that the executive committee had determined to take a more active part in speeding the conference. It had been reported earlier that President Truman had been asked to jog the conferees by giving them a "yardstick" of the job he expected them to do. Henceforth, the committee will more closely supervise the subcommittees and assist where possible in reconciling differences.

This decision appeared a direct result of the issuance and prompt withdrawal of one subcommittee report which recommended a grievance procedure which would prohibit strikes, lockouts, or other interruptions to normal operations and provide voluntary arbitration as a final step. The recommendations were withdrawn after disagreement over their wording.

The collective bargaining subcommittee, unable to reconcile its differences, issued a management report and a labor report showing contrasting views on the subject of penalties in the event of contract violations and on labor's demand for union security clauses in all bargaining agreements.

REYNOLDS BUYS ALUMINUM UNITS IN CHICAGO AREA

W. G. Reynolds, vice president, announced yesterday that Reynolds Metals company had purchased the manufacturing properties and good will of the Aluminum Products company, with plants in La Grange and Lemont, to expand its home products business.

Aluminum Products, established in 1910, manufactures aluminum ware, pressure cookers, and many other household items. Reynolds plans to spend several hundred thousand dollars for additional facilities and equipment in the plants purchased.

Carl W. Goerling has been appointed manager of Aluminum Products. William R. Hastings, president, will be assistant manager when released from the army. W. A. Hastings, chairman of the board, will retire.

Rye Tumbles as Distillers' Use Is Curbed

December rye broke 5 cents a bushel, the permissible limit, yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade and on the Minneapolis and Winnipeg exchanges. The drop was attributed to announcement distillers of beverage alcohol in December would be limited to 25 per cent of the average quantity of rye used in September and October.

The close in Chicago was at the bottom at $1.86½, off 10¼ cents from the high on Tuesday. May lost 4½ cents to finish at $1.77⅝. The new crop months were unchanged to ⅛ cent lower.

Oats Market Rallies

Oats showed a heavy undertone most of the day, but rallied late on buying led by a professional trader and closed unchanged to ⅜ lower. Wheat was unchanged to ⅛ lower with December and May at ceiling prices. Corn held at the ceilings in limited trade. Barley closed 1⅛ to 1¾ lower.

Weakness in the cash rye demand affected trading in the December option. Omaha offered rye equal to 2½ cents above December compared with sales earlier in the week at 5 cents over the future. A car of No. 4 rye sold at $1.81, or 9 cents under December. Minneapolis quoted cash rye easy to 2 cents lower than December.

Wheat Becoming Scarcer

Brokers reported cash wheat is becoming more difficult to buy, altho prices are at the ceiling. The army bought 800,000 sacks of wheat flour, equal to 1,800,000 bushels of wheat, and additional large orders from other government agencies and from European countries were expected.

No purchases of cash oats in the northwest were confirmed, altho houses with northwestern connections sold futures steadily. Shipping sales aggregated 350,000 bushels. The Canadian export tax on oats will be lowered 1 cent a bushel, effective today. There was talk that Canada may prohibit export of oats shortly.

CANNON MILLS

I should like statistical information on Cannon Mills company.

T. T.

Towels account for about 60 per cent of the total sales of this large cotton textile manufacturer, and sheets and pillow cases for about 25 per cent. Tire and rayon fabrics, yarns, draperies, and other goods comprise the remainder. Production is fully integrated, starting with the spinning of raw cotton.

Partly because of the war time shortages of cotton textiles in the civilian markets, Cannon Mills' sales outlook is favorable. Current output, however, is reported below requirements because of insufficient labor. Sales increased from $45,411,000 in 1939 to double that figure in 1943. There was a recession to $85,508,000 in 1944 but the effect on profits was partly offset by a reduction in the provision for income taxes and contract renegotiation.

Earnings a share on 987,800 shares were: 1944, $3.29; 1943, $3.91; 1942, $4.62; 1941, $3.16; 1940, $3.88. The average profit in the four years ended with 1939 was about $3.14. The business was established in 1887, and each year since its incorporation in its present form in 1928 as a consolidation of a number of mills has shown a profit and paid a dividend. The stock this year has sold at a new high record.

Dividends were $2 yearly after 1939 until 1945. This year cash payments have totaled $1, plus 5 per cent in stock. There is no funded debt or preferred stock. Net working capital last Dec. 31 was $34,099,000.

REVISION OF TAX LAW URGED TO AID SMALL FIRM FINANCES LATER

Only about one-fifth of the country's small businesses plan to borrow money to finance reconversion, but the situation later may not be so favorable under present tax laws, Joseph K. Wexman, assistant economist of the Committee for Economic Development, said last night.

"This situation indicates that small firms as well as large corporations retained a good proportion of war time earnings," he said in an address at the University of Chicago. "All size groups shared in the rise of working capital."

"The peace time situation," however, is likely to emphasize "weaknesses from the standpoint of small business" because of the tax structure, he said.

Wexman said the solution would not be a tax law clearly designed to help small business, but one which would aid business generally. Such a law would assist all companies by encouraging planning, the chance taking type of investment, and reinvestment of earnings in the business without tax penalty in the early stages, said Wexman.

Plans for New Products Told by A. O. Smith

The A. O. Smith corporation, Milwaukee, has undertaken a large expansion program and will introduce new lines of products, W. C. Heath, president, disclosed yesterday in his annual report.

The corporation, a manufacturer of chassis frames and parts for automobiles and trucks and of other industrial and consumer products, had net income of $4,535,867, equal to $9.09 a share, in the fiscal year ended July 31. Earnings in the preceding year were $4,355,667, equal to $8.73 a share.

The expansion program calls for expenditure in the next nine months of 5 million dollars, a substantial part of which will be used to build and equip a plant at Kankakee, Ill.

"Due consideration was given to the desirability of establishing a better balance between so-called capital goods as compared with consumer durable goods," said Heath in discussing new products.

Manufacture of home coal stokers is scheduled to start early in 1946, and other products include items relating to the railroad equipment industry and to the farm.

In the experimental stage is a glass lined and coated steel silo designed to be emptied automatically from the bottom.

The measure would authorize the judiciary committee to investigate to learn the extent to which large corporations are obtaining control.

Int. Business Machines to Vote on 5-4 Stock Split

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—International Business Machines corporation stockholders at a special meeting Jan. 8 will vote on a proposal to increase authorized capital stock thru a 5-for-4 split. Thomas J. Watson, president, said directors had decided on this program as a substitute for the previous practice of declaring an annual stock dividend.

Better Tire Tubes of Butyl to Be Made After Jan. 1

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21 (AP)—Better inner tubes for passenger car tires will be available after the first of the year, the civilian production administration said today. Beginning Jan. 1 manufacturers may use butyl, which CPA described as "the special purpose synthetic rubber credited with retaining air better than natural rubber."

Court Upholds Act to Permit Transit Unity

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK

One of the barriers to completion of the plan for the purchase and operation of the surface and elevated lines by the Chicago metropolitan transit authority was removed yesterday when the Illinois Supreme court ruled that legislation creating the authority was valid and necessary.

Investing groups that offered tentatively to lend the authority 90 million dollars for financing of the Chicago venture into public ownership conditioned the offer on approval by the court.

The findings, incorporated in an opinion by Justice Clyde E. Stone, stated that "the need for adequate transportation in the Chicago area is not only evident but pressing" and added, "It appears impossible to finance the rehabilitation of existing facilities either by the city or by private funds."

State Aid Held Imperative

The opinion also said that the legislature had concluded "the assistance of the state was imperative to protect the health and welfare of the public," and it was not for the courts to say this was improper or that a public purpose did not exist.

Validity of the legislation had been challenged in a friendly suit filed in Circuit court by State's Atty. Tuohy. That court supported the legality of the law and the Supreme court upheld its views. The authority's case was presented by its chief counsel, Werner W. Schroeder.

The main question involved, Justice Stone wrote, was whether the act created a municipal corporation for a public purpose. The answer was affirmative.

Philip Harrington, chairman of the authority board, said the decision was gratifying and that the board would hold a special meeting tomorrow to consider expansion of its program for modernization of the properties to be acquired.

Lines Under U. S. Court Control

Both the "L" and surface lines are in bankruptcy and under control of the federal District court. They must be purchased thru that court. The offer is 75 million for the surface lines and 12 million plus for the "L." Certain assets of each are to be retained by the present owners and the distribution to the surface lines may reach 88 million and to the elevated 14 to 15 million.

The investors must vote on any offer submitted by the court with a certification as to fairness. Two-thirds of the investors must accept or the offer will be null.

The Supreme court also validated the powers of the Illinois superhighway commission to build toll highways linking the state's largest cities. This commission was created in 1943. The decision reversed the Sangamon county Circuit court.

QUICK SURPLUS DISPOSAL URGED BY SYMINGTON

Government surplus goods should be sold as fast as possible to get the best possible price, but speed is more important than price, Surplus Property Chief Symington said yesterday at a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the La Salle hotel.

"Price, fair value, is important, but delays should be avoided wherever possible, and this should apply equally to production tools, plants, and machines as well as to consumers goods," he said. "If we don't sell now, the return we will get later when the peace economy is at full production will be nothing against what we could obtain now when the demand is so great."

Symington contended the big inflationary pressures which exist today can only be relieved by production, by bringing to the market all goods possible, including surplus war properties.

Commonwealth Edison Electricity Output Dips

Electricity output of the Commonwealth Edison group of companies last week, excluding sales to other electric utilities, totaled 187,668,000 kilowatt hours, a decrease of 4.6 per cent from a year ago.

STRIKE SPREAD TURNS STOCK PRICES LOWER

MARKET HOLIDAY

All markets and banks will be closed today for the Thanksgiving day holiday.

New York, Nov. 21 (AP) — After reaching peaks for 14 years in preceding sessions, the stock market lost fractions to about 3 points today on heavy selling set off by news of increasing strikes. General Motors closed 1⅛ lower after employes in all its plants walked out. Other auto shares, including Chrysler and Studebaker, were depressed.

Announcement that Montgomery Ward workers would strike next week forced Ward's shares down 2⅛. Steels, rubbers, retail stores, aircrafts, utilities, rails, metals, and miscellaneous industrials retreated.

Decline Partly Technical

Altho the old axiom in Wall st. is not to sell on strike news, it was pointed out that the list set new highs since 1931 yesterday. Part of today's decline was viewed as a technical reaction to the lengthy rise.

Shamrock Oil and National Supply managed to make 1945 highs and there were other scattered plus signs. Bendix Aviation ended 4⅝ points lower after the company cut the common dividend to 50 cents from 75 cents.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite was off 1.1 points at 74.7. Industrials, rails, and utilities were off substantially on average. Turnover totaled 1,910,000 shares against 2,180,000 Tuesday.

RAIL LOANS IRREGULAR

New York, Nov. 21 (AP)—Numerous railroad bonds lost 1 to 3 points today, but others were strongly supported and ended up nearly as much.

The Milwaukee group was singled out for selling. The 5s of 1975 lost 3¾ at 85, the adjustment 5s gave up 1⅞ at 31⅛ on sales of $1,399,000. The convertible 4½s lost 2⅛ at 86¾.

American Telephone 3s lost 2½ points at 148½.

CHICAGO LIST LOWER

Prices were lower on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in a turnover of 52,000 shares. More active issues were Chicago corporation, down ⅛; Middle West and Central and South West Utilities, each down ⅜; Asbestos Manufacturing, down ⅛, and Automatic Washer, up ¼.

MEAT ANIMALS SUPPLY IS CUT; PRICES STRONG

Receipts of meat animals dropped yesterday at all packing centers because of today's holiday. Supplies sold quickly at steady to higher prices. Larger percentages of cattle and almost all hogs sold at price ceilings. Lambs equaled the highest level since Aug. 3 in a market mostly 15 cents higher.

Twenty of the principal stock yards received only 165,000 cattle, hogs, sheep, and lambs, a cut of 53,000 head or 24 per cent compared with last Wednesday.

Warns Too Liberal Time Sale Use May Cause 'Boom, Bust'

Too liberal extension of instalment buying credit may cause a "boom and bust," the Northwestern National Life Insurance company, Minneapolis, said yesterday. The company's opinion was based on a study made by its family economics bureau.

"With an enormous backed up demand for goods and services, and more than 100 billion dollars in consumer cash savings overhanging the market, the additional stimulus of overliberal instalment credits can be very dangerous," the bureau's report said. "Excesses of consumer credit have puffed up previous booms, while the payoff load upon the consumer in the ensuing declines has increased the severity of such depressions."

Credit Rising Since 1943

The report said that total consumer credit reached a record high of 9½ billion dollars in the fall of 1941, of which approximately 6 billions was instalment credit. War time credit regulations and the virtual disappearance of new automobiles, refrigerators, and other goods usually purchased on instalments had reduced total consumer credit by nearly one-half and instalment debt by more than two-thirds by the end of 1943.

Since then there have been some increases, altho war time restrictions remain in force.

"Should such restrictions be removed, business itself should voluntarily enforce equal or more severe restrictions," the report suggested. "Otherwise the stage will be set for an inflation of consumer credit far beyond its former peak of nearly 10 billions to a probable total of 15 billions or more within the next few years. When this point is reached, look out for trouble."

Beneficial If Wisely Used

Before World War II. the automobile trade generally was held to account for approximately half of the consumer instalment sale debt, furniture stores for one-fifth, department stores for one-eighth, household appliance stores for one-tenth, and jewelry stores for about 3 per cent.

"The instalment purchase plan has conferred many benefits on society when wisely used," the bureau said. "The plan has greatly extended home ownership, it has helped to iron out seasonal peaks and valleys and therefore seasonal unemployment."

Diner's Menu of '81 Heaven to Gourmand

A hungry man's paradise was the railroad dining car of the early 1880's. A Burlington railroad menu found yesterday in the road's executive offices showed that ration pointless era to have been the golden age for the gourmand and the gourmet.

Lonely traveler of early '80s

This is what met the eye of the lonely traveler far from the home turkey as he sat down to Thanksgiving turkey on a crack Burlington train of 1881:

Saddle rock oysters on shell, followed by a choice of these soups, green turtle, Brunoise, Chicago gumbo, or crab bisque.

Then the Eating Starts

Then came broiled lake trout, baked blue fish, broiled Spanish mackerel, and brook trout breaded a la Anglaise. Followed, leg of mutton, caper sauce; buffalo tongue, piquant sauce; chicken, celery sauce, and turkey, oyster sauce.

Next came loin of beef; saddle of Southdown mutton; stuffed loin of veal; spring lamb, mint sauce; turkey; cranberry sauce; ham, champagne sauce; spring chicken, giblet sauce; rib ends of beef.

The choice became more delicate, with beef tongue; pheasant, larded aux truffes; lobster salad; mayonnaise of chicken; spiced oysters, and pate de foie gras.

Gathering strength the menu, which was heavily larded with French phrases despite the western atmosphere of the car, next presented the following: Filet de boeuf pique, aux champignone; lamb currie with rice; sweetbreads larded, aux petite pois; fresh mushrooms, stuffed; filets of chicken, aux truffes; timbal of macaroni; apple charlotte, a la Parisienne, and mutton kidneys, grille, Madeira sauce.

The gourmet had his day in the next group offered: Saddle of venison, with jelly; young prairie chicken; canvas-back duck; loin of antelope; English snipe; broiled woodcock on toast; quail, stuffed and larded, and broiled teal duck with olives.

Plum Pudding or Kisses?

For desert there was: English plum pudding; lemon meringue pie; C. B. & Q. pudding, hard sauce; Latour Blanche jelly; apple pie; cranberry pie; fruit cake; macaroons; French kisses; fruit jelly; vanilla and strawberry ice cream; Neapolitan cream; figs, apples, oranges, nuts, raisins, grapes, bananas and pears.

A note read: "Choice wines, liquors and cigars imported direct by the Burlington company."

And another said, "Breakfast and supper to order. All meals 75 cents."

People and Events

W. L. Dickinson, who has been handling the sale and purchase of vegetable oils for Durkee Famous Foods, Chicago, a division of the Glidden company, Cleveland, has resigned to become a partner in Doyle & Dickinson, Board of Trade building, Chicago. The firm handles feed ingredients.

Allan F. Bonnalie, who served in the last two wars, has been named president and general manager of Lineas Aereas Mexicanas, South America, a subsidiary of United Air Lines, W. A. Patterson, president of United, announced. Bonnalie started his aviation career in 1911.

Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain and recent purchaser of the Merchandise Mart, will address the Economic Club of Chicago Dec. 5. His subject will be "Today's Challenge to American Business."

The Association of National Advertisers elected Paul S. Ellison, director of advertising and sales promotion of Sylvania Electric Products, chairman of the association's board of directors. He succeeds Charles C. Carr of the Aluminum Corporation of America.

Dr. William I. [illegible]arber, former research chemist of Swift & Co. and the Witco Chemical company, has joined the staff of Bjorksten Laboratories, industrial chemists.

PULLMAN SALE PLAN DEFENDED BY RAIL GROUP

Contends One Road Rule Is Avoided

The group of 30 railroads which seeks to purchase the Pullman company's sleeping car business has provided adequate safeguards to prevent the control of the organization by the Pennsylvania and New York Central lines or by other large roads in other parts of the country, a spokesman for the group said yesterday. He also said all Chicago operation would remain unchanged.

The Pennsylvania and the New York Central will be the two largest stockholders if the special three judge federal court in Philadelphia approves the sale of Pullman to the railroads, but their holdings, even jointly, will not give them control, it was explained.

Two Lines Own 30 Pct.

Under the railroads' participation formula the Pennsylvania will own slightly more than 15 per cent of the stock and Central slightly more than 14 per cent, a total of about 30 per cent. The formula is based on the number of Pullman cars each road operated in 1940. The relation of this number to the total number of Pullmans operated on all lines that year determines the proportionate investment of each railroad.

Another precaution against domination by one or two of the larger roads is contained in article VII., paragraph 7, of the purchase proposal. This provides that in case of any major action to dissolve the rail-Pullman organization the group favoring such action may include either the Pennsylvania or the N. Y. C., but not both. Such a move also would require approval of the owners of 33 per cent of the stock.

Makeup of the board of directors is proportionate. The plan is to divide the country into three sections, east, west, and south, each section electing three directors. The other six will be elected at large.

Avoid One Road Control

The railroad motion to intervene in the proceedings before the special court said:

"It is contrary to the public interest to permit any one railroad, or those in control of the affairs of any one railroad, to acquire control of or manage the sleeping car business of the other railroads."

The railroad spokesman said there is not the "slightest intention" of moving the general offices or any physical facilities from the Chicago area.

Pullman, Inc., parent of the Pullman company, has accepted the railroads' proposal to purchase the sleeping car company for approximately 75 million dollars, but the offer must be reviewed by the court on Dec. 10.

Uncle Sam Gets Paid First

The federal estate tax is usually the heaviest charge against an estate and must be paid before the balance of the property is turned over to the heirs. This tax (unchanged by the new revenue act) ranges from $31,500 on an estate of $200,000 to $270,300 on $1,000,000—the rates are progressively higher on still larger amounts.

Many fail to make adequate provision for this tax and other obligations, and the resulting forced sale of assets frequently causes substantial loss to the heirs.

The purchase of government bonds and life insurance are among the methods of providing for heavy estate taxes. We shall be pleased to discuss with you and your lawyer the most economical arrangements for your estate.

Planning Your Estate, a reprint of an article in Trust and Estates magazine, will be mailed on request.

EX-AID BLASTS UNRRA WASTE, INEFFICIENCY

Holds Black Market Got Relief Goods

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21—A former employe of the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration denounced that agency's operations as "corrupt" in testimony before a house committee today.

Meanwhile UNRRA was under fire from two senators for alleged sale of its relief supplies by foreign governments for their own benefit.

In the house Raymond E. Lindgren, Evanston, Ill., a former deputy director for UNRRA in Europe, said he resigned Oct. 31 after four months' work because of "disgust with corruption, inefficiency, and waste."

Testifying before the foreign affairs committee, the witness linked UNRRA employe with black market operations in France running into "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

Army Investigated

Lindgren said that in August, while he was in Granville, France, an UNRRA branch post, large quantities of the agency's trucks, food, sheets, and other items disappeared "into the black market." Included, he said, were 127 three ton trucks and more than 1,000 sheets.

Altho a report on this has never been made public, Lindgren continued, the black market diversion was "so bad" that the army criminal intelligence division moved into Granville to investigate.

The investigation resulted, the witness said, in removal of nearly all the top UNRRA officials at Granville.

Lindgren also said he was reliably informed that the British brigadier general, in charge of UNRRA in the British zone in Germany, "openly advocated" that the "United States, Britain, and Germany immediately team together to fight the Russians."

Former Chicago Publisher

He also denounced the paucity of Americans working for UNRRA, and told the group that of 15 key posts in Salzburg, Austria, only one is held by an American.

Lindgren served for three years in the army air forces before joining UNRRA in June, 1945. He was formerly in the publishing business in Chicago.

Senators McKellar [D., Tenn.] and Thomas [D., Okla.] made the charge that foreign nations are profiting from UNRRA, following an appropriation subcommittee hearing on a 550 million dollar appropriation bill for the agency.

McKellar declared food supplies are being turned over by UNRRA to various governments, which "sell the food for their own currency." McKellar did not name the nations involved, but said he is seeking a "way to stop this" by legislation.

Open Slogan Contest to Stop Horn Blowing

A slogan contest to stop unnecessary horn blowing was announced yesterday by the Chicago Motor club in coöperation with the Chicago Noise Abatement commission. Slogans, of not more than seven words, may be mailed to the contest department of the motor club at 66 E. South Water st. before Dec. 10, and a $100 ward bond prize will be awarded Dec. 20.

QUIT CHASING AROUND
Looking for a factory? It's astounding to see sane businessmen adopting tactics that bring only despair. You don't hire a dozen doctors, lawyers or auditors; you pick one good man for each job. So it should be when buying or renting factory space in this crazy market.
Why not choose an expert to help you, one who personally scours the city to locate and analyze hundreds of properties to get what YOU want? Let me do the hard work. Whether you are big or small, write me in confidence and I'll show you how to save your temper, time, nerves and money

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

FLOWER SUPPLY THIS CHRISTMAS TO EQUAL 1944'S

Florists Ask Buyers: Put Orders In Early

BY JUNE GESERECK

Flowers, the symbol of happiness, will be especially fitting gifts for loved ones on this first peace time Christmas since 1940.

The supply of flowers, Chicago growers say, will equal, but not exceed, the number available at Christmas time last year, when late buyers frequently had to be satisfied with fewer selections. The florists warn those who wish to express Christmas greetings with flowers to place their orders as early as possible, thereby assuring the best for the least money.

Solution of Gift Problem

Popular gifts of flowers are cut floral arrangements in a pottery vase, for which there always is use in every household, or a corsage to wear to church or to a holiday party. Cut flowers may be sent appropriately to shut-ins, the folks back home, and to social and business friends. Numerous gift problems may be solved at once by merely leaving a list of names and addresses with the florist, deciding on the price for each order, and leaving the rest of the worry to the florist.

Roses, the traditionally best loved flower of Americans, sell out first and therefore should be ordered early. Most of Chicago's roses were reserved last year for a flood of orders cabled or mailed by overseas service men to be sent to their families and sweethearts. In the same catagory were orchids, most of which were reserved for fighters' orders. A last-minute scarcity in roses is predicted, altho growers say that civilians probably will get a larger share this year. Orchids still are the rarest of floral gifts.

Chicago, the nation's leading producer of roses, has known a scarcity of roses because growers pinch the embryo blooms from bushes, thereby sacrificing one bloom in order to hold off the blooming of the plant until the Christmas season. This operation lengthens the stem of the Christmas roses, which probably will run from about $7.50 to $12 per dozen if they are available.

Roses Combined with Others

Roses will be combined with other varieties of flowers in a majority of the gift orders this Christmas. One of the prettiest combinations is that of roses with giant white snapdragons, which join together to make a tall, graceful bouquet.

Other Christmas arrangements, which will be priced from $5 to $10, will be carnations, calendula, stevia, sweetpeas, and—blooming ahead of their spring season—tulips and jonquils. Red euphorbia is another favorite; the delicate blossoms are members of the poinsetti family.

All white bouquets always are appropriate and popular with every one because of the ease with which they may be arranged against any backdrop. The dependable all-whites are white crysanthemums, carnations, gladioli, and the dainty but hardy pompon mums. White lilies are out of season and the few white roses and lilies-of-the-valley must be reserved for Christmas brides, florists report.

Carnations at $5 to $7.50

Carnations will be priced at about $5 to $7.50 per dozen. A corsage of three to five carnations, available if ordered well before the Christmas rush, will be $3.50 to $7. Gardenias and limited numbers of camellias will be available as exquisite Christmas gifts, fashioned expertly into corsages. Florists offer this tip in the care of gardenias, corsages of which will be priced from $3 to $10: cover the blooms with moist cotton and keep them in the florists' box in your refrigerator.

Boxwood clipped from southern hedges arrived early this year and centerpieces and other holiday decorations can be ordered early from florists, who won't have time to work on such ornamentations during the Christmas rush. Centerpieces of boxwood, with forest evergreens and red winter berries, will be arranged with accessories to sell for from $5 to $25.

Lingerie and Robes Spell Delight

TOY GUNS AND TANKS POPULAR WITH BOYS AS CHRISTMAS GIFTS

There's a make-believe soldier in almost every family these days, and as a result toy replicas of war equipment are high on many juveniles' gift lists.

There's the solid wood army jeep, a sturdy toy for the toddler to pull as he learns to walk. Kindergarten-age boys would be enchanted with its lifelike appearance. The jeep sells for $1.50, as does the army gun truck with canvas cover. Selling for $1.49 is the solid wood tank, topped by a brave little American flag, that was modeled after the American tanks that carried troops over rugged terrain.

The 8 to 12 year old boy will count his Christmas a merry one if the Christmas tree yields one of the wooden robot plane-launcher guns that collect a crowd of youngsters wherever they are sold. The gun, operated on the bow principle, catapults wooden planes into the air, where they soar about before gliding to the ground.

For little boys who still are fighting Indians, a perfect gift is the Indian tom-tom, with which they can make enough noise to keep any growing youngster happy.

EYE ON BUDGET? GIVE HER MULES AND NEGLIGEE

Moire mules that would please any woman without unbalancing her husband's budget are priced under $9. With their rosettes of lace on the toes, they are the perfect complement for a black velvet negligee trimmed with a deep, bias ruffle of powder blue moire ribbon. The ribbon is used from the waist down the side front closing and all around the bottom of the skirt. The same ruffling makes the ends of the three-quarter length sleeves. And a coral pink geranium makes the romantic trim at the side front waist fastening. As negligees go, this is reasonable at $39.95.

Ballet Slippers Ideal as Gifts for College Girls

Ideal gifts for dinners at home or for chats beside the fireplace are ballet slippers. They came right from the stage into the hearts of college girls and smartly groomed career girls. The slippers are in shocking pastels, color-riot plaids, and in flower-sprinkled beauty that passes for hand embroidery. They emphasize that candidly young look. They sell for about $4.

NIGHTGOWN NOW IS A CREATION; EACH HAS NAME

There was a time when the average woman regarded glamorous lingerie as something to see in the movies. For herself, an occasional ribbon ruffle or lace frill was enough. But things are different now.

A nightgown isn't just something to sleep in. It's a creation with a name. Such are the "Saint" and the "Sinner," billowy bits of practically nothing at all designed by Mme. Tewi and described as nightgowns.

Satin Stars on Sleeves.

The saint is white, of course, and fashioned of sheer rayon shirred up so demurely close to the neck that two little plackets are necessary to slip it over the head. Satin stars are sewed on the angel sleeves and near the hemline. A white cord belt tied in front and ending in long tassels completes this celestial robe. This costs about $60.

The sinner is about $2 cheaper—and O, so opposite. It's black chiffon held up by a lace yoke and ending in a lace ruffle which journeys around the hem and then curves up at the knee. On the right side of the yoke a black satin hand with red satin fingernails reaches toward a red satin apple appliqued on the left side of the yoke. This hand technique is repeated at the knee.

Plastic Mules for $13

Something new to go with such a nightrobe as the sinner is a pair of ruby plastic mules with ribbon crisscrossed for the toes. These are sold for about $13. These jeweltone mules also come in emerald and sapphire. Fur scuffs in white seem suitable for the angel robe and cost about $3.50.

Beloved by women for looking glamorous of an evening at home are the hostess gowns. One combines warmth and beauty in a fabric of wool and rayon flannel which is made long and slim topped by a smart cape collar lined in striped material which is used also for a decorative bow at the hipline at the left front. This comes in a lavender shade and in aqua and chartreuxe. It costs about $90.

Robes in Classic Design.

Mother and daughter can be gotogethers in robes tailored in the classic coat design. Both are quilted, and mother's comes in peach, white, powder blue, or floral design on white. Daughter's is cerise. One attractive combination with the smaller cerise garment, which is lined in blue, is the mother's blue robe, which is lined in a pink floral design. Prices are $25 and $15.

Stores have exquisite handmade lingerie in white with ecru colored lace. Slips, panties, nighties, and negligees can be found all of a single design motif. And for practical uses, there are tailored slips priced to fit the buyer's purse.

A Gift That's Tops!

Metal Hurricane Lamp Pleasing and Inexpensive

Aluminum hurricane lamps make beautiful Christmas gifts. They are priced at only $9.95.

NEAT SLACKS ARE SLICK GIFTS FOR YOUNG GIRLS

The war lifted slacks right out of the niche of occasional togs to standard wardrobe equipment. Slacks went to war jobs as well as to market. And now slacks are used for every activity. They're velvet and glamorous for the hostess, plaid and colorful for sports, and plain and workaday for chores.

For evenings at home or lazy Sunday afternoons in college dormitories, a pair of black velveteen slacks would be adored by any girl or woman. They're well tailored and reasonably priced at about $13. To go with them, there is a green and black knit sweater with the popular ledge shoulders. The sweater yoke is green, while the black body of it is lighted by a topaz studded belt. For luxurious lounging, this outfit can be worn with a pair of comfortable red fuzzy slippers which are lined in leopard cloth.

A Smart Ensemble

Red wool plaid slacks make a smart ensemble with a green wool turtle neck sweater for $3.95, and a leather belt which is heavily studded in stones of several colors for $10.50.

Stocking caps are back, and a long red wool tube gathered into a long white tassel is a good gift for high school or college girls or for their older or younger sisters. A reversible hood comes in a red plaid-green wool combination and other color duos for $5.50. This is the price of the stocking cap also. A wool jersey cap trimmed in bells is available in all colors for $7.50.

Something New, the Shapka

Debutantes and dowagers alike should be pleased with the shapka, a new tie-on head covering which can go to business or to the theater with equal ease and, best of all, stays in its place in Chicago's gustiest breezes. Shirred in back into a snood-like fullness, the front fits smooth over the crown of the head, and the whole is held on by securely tied bands. Models are made in sueded black jersey and in velvet. Prices are $2 to $14, the higher figures denoting such finery as nail heads or sequins for trimming.

There was never a girl or woman who couldn't find good use for a fresh new blouse. One find is a handsome white madras blouse with a wide eyelet embroidery yoke down the front. It is $10.

AIM TO FLATTER A WOMAN? GIVE AN EVENING BAG

Indications are that Christmas will go formal this year. Luxury gifts that had little place in war time holiday plans are sparkling again in shop windows.

Women's evening and dinner bags are made of shining satin set off by golden nailheads, gleaming sequins, or by multitudes of tiny beads. Others are flat plastic boxes dressed up with monograms.

Wide Price Range

These gifts, subtle flattery to every woman, can be had in a range of prices starting at about $5 for envelopes made of a shining black material with gold polka dots or for handsome Roman striped satin bags.

A little, sausage shaped bag in ginger shade satin, trimmed with beads in the same color, sells for less than $40. Also priced under $40 is what connoisseurs of such finery would call a buy—a medium large envelope solidly covered in hand applied caviar beads. This may be had in black or brown.

Smart for All Occasions

Smart for almost anytime when a woman wants to look her best is a monogrammed tortoise box carry-all. The case is priced under $25. Monograms are extra.

Other handsome and luxurious evening purses include a white satin number trimmed in silver sequins. This costs less than $15. It also is available in black. Another in white or black satin, also priced under $15, has gold nailheads or colored ones.

A tortoise shell ring holding a black bag trimmed in beads is priced under $15.

1945'S JEWELRY BEARS A TOUCH OF KING MIDAS

It's Golden and Glowing Instead of Bizarre

BY GLADYS PRIDDY

King Midas' touch is on this year's jewelry. Necklaces, earrings, bracelets, and brooches are golden and glowing, fashioned into delicate designs of flowers, snowflakes, simple filigree. Jewelry is feminine and beautiful and no longer bizarre and startling.

Golden beads, in double strands, or flat bands of gold are made in longer lengths to lie at the base of the throat, and they are described as goosenecks, the successors to the dog collar.

Necklaces for Less Than $9

One good looking necklace is two strands of beads of gold plating on brass. This is priced at less than $9. The same thing in gold plated or gold filled sterling ranges up to $17.50. This versatile necklet can be worn with pin or clip ornament fastened in front or at the side, or added to by entwining an extra strand of pearls or colored beads. The contrasting necklace can also be worn plain, as a third strand. Matching gold earrings for this piece sell for under $5.

An inch wide neckband of sterling silver dipped gold is sold for less than $30, and the half inch width for less than $20. Corrugated earrings shaped like beach umbrellas are in 14 karat gold and at $30 are suggested as ideal to go with the goosenecks.

A fine spun gold mesh is edged at the lower side in tiny pearls and adjusts around the throat to make a dainty collar. This sells for about $35. A golden orchid set with sapphires and rhinestones is priced at less than $60 and the matching earrings at $35.

Aquamarines highlight a snake chain bracelet of gold which is fastened with a square ruby clasp. A matching pin and the bracelet are each priced under $50.

War Garden Influence

The young man seeking a special gift might find a set of monogrammed gold earrings pleasing to his purse as well as his girl. They may be had, with the monogramming, for less than $6. For slightly larger earrings, the price is about $9. The material is sterling silver with gold plating. Wide wedding bands to match the new golden pieces may be had in corrugated and plain designs at $30 and up.

A set of three birds [they're pins] comes at $15. The years of war gardening have invaded the jewelry designs, too, and gold pins and earrings follow the graceful foliage outlines of carrot tops. The familiar three leaf clover and the laurel leaf are used also.

Carrot tops, clover, and laurel pieces are all sold for less than $10. Designers have turned to the familiar again for exquisite snowflake figures made into scatter pins and earrings of rhinestones and pearls set on sterling. Prices are $32 and up.

Rhinestones and pearls are used again for ornamenting a chatelaine on gold plated sterling. The old compromising question—for love or money—is put together in a pin featuring a scales-like cross-bar with cupid dangling from one end and two dollar sign marked coin discs at the other.

A rigid band of silver lighted by star-shaped stones is called the "stardust necklet" and comes at $43 for sportswear. There are matching earrings and bracelet. The fashion command for a well wrapped neck is solved by one store in a heavy piece of many strands of gold and green beads. This piece is $65 and a handsome gold pendant at the same store is under $40.

Finally, a bit of captured beauty to set any woman dreaming lies in the shower pearl earrings set into sterling dipped gold. The great burst of pearls is repeated in a matching pin which is sold for less than $30, while the earrings are half as much. Jewelry, like furs and purses, must have the federal excise tax added to the prices.

Acceptable Accessories

Miss Estelle Atwell with sunburst pearl earrings ($14), matching pin ($30), eight button ginger brown handsewn doeskin gloves (about $10), and broadcloth purse of quilted design with tortoise shell frame ($55).

GLOVES RETURN IN PROFUSION TO GLADDEN WOMEN

Perhaps gloves were designed originally for the highly practical purpose of keeping hands warm, but this year the fine materials and details of shirring, bows, cutouts, and stitching are handsome reminders that beauty need not suffer for utility.

Headliners in the glove parade are old acquaintances which were missing from counters in the war years. They are the 16 button French kid gloves which, in themselves, suggest romance, gala parties, and special occasions. They're black, brown, and white and beautifully made. The price is $20.

Soft Capeskin Numbers

Another discovery is a stock of soft capeskin gloves of generous length to protect easily chapped wrists. These have such decorative details as single corded shirring up the backs or diamond shaped cutouts in the cuffs. Prices are around $12 and $20.

Hand sewn doeskin comes in black or brown for $5.50. There is a novelty kid glove with a perky bow at the back priced under $9, and for the same figure there is also a full six button length pair of gloves with swank, flared gauntlet cuffs. Another style is rimmed by a single corded seam stitched for a few inches at the back of the palms.

Rich Looking Doeskins

For the woman who loves good accessories and prefers to have one set that is "just right" rather than several less expensive outfits, there is an eight button hand sewn ginger brown doeskin that is rich looking and handsome with any color. She may wear these gloves with black or brown equally well, or any other shade she may choose.

Something to Match

CRYSTAL GIFTS IN BIG VARIETY READY FOR YULE

Crystal and glassware to delight the heart of any beauty lover is on display in wide and varied stocks this holiday season and promises to be one of the most popular fields in giftware.

A pastel flower motif highlights clear crystal, old fashioned glasses that are retailing in one shop at $5 per dozen, while a similar set sells for $16 per dozen. Highball glasses, priced at $20 per dozen, are decorated with a painted design featuring a hunting scene, an excellent gift for any woman to give to her husband for his miniature bar.

Another gift to please any man is the set of large beer steins bearing a painted design of boot, spur, and whip. The steins retail at $12 per dozen and would be dandy for any man who entertains at occasional stag parties.

FABRIC PURSES TOPS IN STYLE AND FINE GIFTS

A woman's world is in her purse when she goes shopping or on business. Thirteen pockets in a man's suit make him a walking file cabinet. But a woman has only her pocketbook for carrying ration books, money, beauty supplies, shopping notes, letters and bills, hairpins, clippings, keys, combs, spectacles, fountain pen, pencil, address book, railroad ticket, handkerchief, and the street car transfer she never can find.

That's why a purse is always a wonderful gift for a woman. It's part of her uniform. For the same reason, the purse must suit the lady's needs, her fancies, and the color and fashion of her wardrobe.

Fabric Purses Popular

This year's selection of purses runs to fabrics, altho there are some fine genuine shoe calf items available after several years off the market. There also are some handsome Mexican alligator and goatskin bags. The trend is to sizes smaller than the giant carryalls of recent seasons.

Black is the predominant color, and rich looking black broadcloth pocketbooks are combined with clear, amber colored tortoise shell frames. Other fabric purses are made of faille, priced $5 and up, and corde at $8.50 up.

A find for the shopper is one store's offering of black shoe calf leather bags at $10.50. These are styled in envelope and satchel shapes and, as noted, represent a return to the counter after several years in which they were not available.

Handles Shaped Like Horseshoes

Good looking broadcloth purses mounted on tortoise shell frames sell for $8.50. One of these models also uses tortoise shell for handles which are shaped up from the frame like a pair of elongated horseshoes.

The Mexican alligator purse is made into a roomy envelope bag and priced under $50. Another of the same material is leather lined and priced at about $75. It comes in rich ox blood color as well as black and brown. The Mexican alligator is also worked into clever novelty shapes—one purse is a miniature postbox. Another is a cookie jar with a tortoise shell lid, and a flatter, fatter box is called a butter jar. These purses are lined and fitted in leather.

The rounded and elongated silhouettes are in good taste. Flatness is new, but the roomy pouch, the box bag, and the over-the-shoulder style remain in favor, also.

Lining Quilted in Red

In the newest fashion and carrying an extra bit of style that separates the merely good from the chic is a flat broadcloth purse with a rose design quilted into the fabric. This purse hangs long and narrow from a pair of tortoise shell bars that make the frame. The lining is black satin quilted in red, a detail that even makes the backing of the oversized mirror that is part of the fitting. The price is about $55.

All pocketbooks have an excise tax in addition to their prices. The wise shopper will start early in making his selection of a purse—if he intends to buy one—since that item must be so many things to the woman who receives it. It takes psychology and discrimination to choose a pocketbook a woman will find practical as well as complimentary to her wardrobe and herself.

FOR OUTDOOR GIRLS: JACKETS, SWEATERS, SHIRTS, SKI SUITS

Pretty, practical gifts for the outdoor girl are in abundance this year, altho many of the items are available in limited quantities.

Popular wind breakers, some with detachable hoods, come in vivid colors or in natural tan and are priced from $10 upward. One jacket of poplin has a detachable flannel lining and sells for $25. A matching hood can be purchased for $4.50. Twenty-two dollars and 50 cents will buy an alpaca lined poplin jacket for the girl who skis or skates.

One ski suit, with a reversible waist length jacket of poplin and gabardine and ski pants of contrasting navy, sells for $35. Ski caps in vivid colors are priced around $2.25. Handsome ski sweaters are available, as are flannel shirts, for campus or outdoor wear.

EXHIBIT TO SHOW YULE GIFTS THAT CRIPPLES MADE

Proceeds Will Benefit Handicapped Group

Handcraft articles for Christmas will be shown all next week by the Illinois Association for the Crippled in the club woman's bureau on the 9th floor of Mandel Brothers' store.

This will be a shop where each purchase, whether it's a potholder or a stuffed elephant, will be a threefold blessing. The item becomes a pleasing gift; the profit goes to the homebound worker who made it; the remainder of the proceeds reverts to the organization to carry on work for the crippled.

200 Types of Articles

There will be 200 different kinds of articles, ranging from toys and Christmas tree ornaments to dish cloths and knitted infants' wear. The Christmas tree ornaments are new this year and certainly different.

Made by a 17 year old boy, the only child of a widow, the decorations are great balls of ruffled tarlatan frosted with glitter. They come in pastel shades and in white, and they are priced at 20 and 30 cents each, depending on size.

A Coöperative Effort

Doll beds with bedding are a coöperative effort. They are made by an elderly man, painted by a neurotic case, and the spreads and pillows are fashioned by a bedridden woman. There will be fringed table linen produced by one armed persons. The toy wheel barrows, as well as the rockers on the rocking horses, will be the products of a man who is a double amputee. He works in a shop just off the kitchen of his home.

A boy who is an arthritic patient has managed to buy such articles as a hospital bed and other conveniences to lighten his mother's task of caring for him by making the hot mats which will be on sale for 30 cents.

There also will be an assortment of stuffed animals—giraffes, elephants, Scotties, ponies—for less than $2. Dolls will be available for the same price and higher. A hand knitted baby sweater will cost $2.50, and a hand knit sun suit $4.

Volunteers to Staff Shop

A staff of volunteers will keep store hours in the shop. The sale, which is the seventh annual event, will be started by members and friends of the association at a dinner at 6:30 p. m. Monday in the Ivory room in Mandel's.

Whatever articles are left will be offered for sale in Santa's attic, room 1100 at 116 S. Michigan av., the association headquarters, from Dec. 3 on until the supply is exhausted.

Mrs. Morris Fishbein will be chairman of the opening dinner, and Mrs. George Williamson and Mrs. Ben Cohn, co-chairmen of the volunteer sales force.

Set of Towels Trimmed with Roses a Home Gift

Towels have been somewhat scarce lately, but one State st. store has an excellent gift set of white towels trimmed in appliqued cabbage roses. The price is $5.30 for bath towel, hand towel, and wash cloth. Matching shower curtain and window drapery are around $10 each.

Yule Gift Suggestions for Women

Long French kid gloves ($20), the first on the market since the war, and evening bags ($5 and up), which would make delightful gifts.

[TRIBUNE Photos]

CHRISTMAS TIES AND GALLUSES PAINTED BY HAND

Somber colors and lackluster patterns no longer fetter the gentleman who yearns for a spot of brightness in his attire. Shirt and suit may be plain, indeed, but the ensemble is no longer dull when there's a hand painted necktie to top it off. The Christmas groups of hand paints on all silk are as colorful as Joseph's coat.

Designs are evidently anything that popped into the artists head at the moment. A dog hangs over the back fence, apparently eyeing the neighbors; wild ducks fly; fish flip flying fins, or little boats sail—all on the necktie widths. The hand-paints on all silk are $5 and $7.50. Injun prints on rayons are $2.50.

Don't think the hand painting ends with the ties. There are also suspenders which make good backgrounds for artistic imaginations. One pair of black satin galluses is ready for the business of holding up a pair of pants while also being two narrow strips of hand painted palm trees and sailboats. The suspenders are priced from $2 to $5.

Zippered Stadium Boots Guard Young from Colds

At least one worry is removed from parents now that it's fashionable for the younger set to protect their feet in warm, woolly boots. The over-the-shoe weather protectors that would be good gifts include the zippered stadium boots for about $10 and the lower cut Sun valley style boots for $8.95.

Gifts for Foreign Folks Call for Very Best: Food

All who want to send a Christmas gift to a dear one in a European country will find a solution of their problem in one store that ships cases of food to Norway, Sweden, Finland, Denmark, Belgium, France, England, and Holland. One 145 pound box contains the highest quality staple foods, including meats, coffee, and tea. It sells for $45. A smaller box, weighing 125 pounds, sells for $39.95. The price includes insured delivery to port of entry.

FRAGILE BEAUTY DISPLAYED IN VANITY PIECES

Fragile beauty is at a peak this year in the handsome variety of items offered by Chicago stores as gifts for milady to use on her vanity table. Delicate colors and dainty designs combine to make many vanity pieces a "must" for the woman who takes pride in the appearance of her boudoir.

A pair of milk white crystal Victorian lamps, with hand painted floral designs is an unusual and appropriate gift for a wife. They retail for $22 a pair. A crystal based vanity lamp, with hand made shades in bell or drum shapes, sells for $29.75 a pair.

Powder Box Set

The popular milk white crystal also is used in the creation of a three piece hand decorated powder box and perfume set. The powder box and two companion perfume bottles are ornamented with gold, blue, and pink. The set is priced at $20. Hand blown crystal perfume bottles may be purchased for $11 a pair, while bubble crystal bottles are being sold for $26 a pair.

Another vanity set that makes an ideal Christmas gift is one that includes a powder box of blue, pale green, or coral porcelain and two matching perfume bottles. The set sells for $14. The powder box alone retails for $6 and each of the perfume bottles is priced at $4.

Another Beautiful Set

Another dresser or vanity combination is a milk white glass overlaid porcelain tray, topped by a mirror. It would be a treasured item for a woman to own. A matching dressing mirror, banded by the flowered porcelain, and a companion picture frame, complete the set. The frame, which is ideal to hold a portrait, is priced at $7.50, while the mirror is $23. The tray retails for $15.

One shop features a beautiful clock for the vanity. It is of porcelain, trimmed in a floral pattern of gold and pastel, and sells for $16.

The difficulty this year is not in finding an appropriate vanity gift for a lovely woman, but in making a choice from among the wide variety of articles available.

Super gift for boy

A super gift for a boy, or for the whole family, is a handsome table tennis table, which divides in the center to make two complete game tables. The table retails at $50 and would be in almost constant use.

Fur Capes Gorgeous

Miss Minnie Wolf wearing stone marten cape stole priced at $3,695, plus federal tax.

THIS ALUMINUM COASTER SET IS JUST DUCKY

Aluminum is back in the news this holiday season and gifts produced from this material have achieved a new smartness, combined with utility, that makes them a "must" on every Christmas list. Aluminum items vary in type and price, offering a wide selection for every one, no matter what the condition of their pocketbooks. One particularly good looking coaster set looks far more expensive than it really is. Unbreakable, nontarnishable aluminum coasters have a clever duck design.

Take Your Evening Guests to Races—in Living Room

A new trick for entertaining guests of a winter evening is to take them to the races. A game called Turf has a variety of races and one race lasts 20 minutes. Five selected races make an evening's fun. The price is $2.95.

DIAMOND SALES ZOOM TO PEAKS OF LATE 1920S

The diamond industry is experiencing a boom in sales unknown in the trade since the high prosperity days of the late '20s, a survey of dealers and dealer associations indicated yesterday.

For the industry as a whole the number of "weighings"—each of which is considered a sale—at the New York Diamond club is considered an index.

Show Large Increase

For the first 11 months of this year the number of weighings is more than 14,000 in excess of those made in the first 11 months of 1944. This year the total is 48,109, as compared to 33,746 in 1944.

The Diamond club is the diamond trade's stock exchange, members gathering there to purchase stones from brokers or wholesale dealers.

Diamond dealers assign various reasons for the current boom, but most agree that the increased sales reflect to a certain extent the same thing the silk shirt of World War I. did—a desire to own and display a symbol of wealth and position.

Even greater sales are hoped for, dealers asserted when more diamond cutters are back at their benches. The shortage of cutters has been acute since Germany invaded Belgium and Holland, where in peace time nearly all diamonds were cut.

Cutters Receive High Wages

One estimate placed more than 20,000 diamond cutters in Amsterdam alone in prewar days. At that time there were only 500 to 700 good cutters in New York and these commanded an extremely high rate of pay because of their strong union.

During the war New York offered refuge to a few of the handful of cutters who managed to escape the invasion of the Netherlands, but most of them settled in England, Palestine or South Africa.

The supply of diamonds, both industrial and ornamental, was not seriously affected by the war, dealers reported. As before the war, nearly 90 per cent of the supply of rough diamonds were mined in Africa and dealers were able to obtain all the rough diamonds they could afford.

GAIETY OF WRAPPING FOLLOWS TRADITION, WITH NEW IDEAS

As gay as the Christmas season itself are the wrappings that are being sold this year to enhance holiday gifts. They are in every design and shade appropriate to the season.

The holly pattern on wrapping paper retains its traditional popularity, complemented with red berries and scarlet ribbons to accent the color motif. You may tie a small bunch of real or imitation holly in the knot of the ribbon.

Another festive wrapping paper pattern will be the candlewick imprinted holiday greetings in gay colors on a field of white. This particular pattern offers a wide choice of companion ribbons and ornamentations.

FOR GAMESTERS: CHESS MEN OF CARVED WOOD

A collector's item for chess devotees is an oversize set of men beautifully carved of African eucalyptus. The set, with an oversize, inlaid playing board, is about $400. Other items are imported chess sets. The always conventional poker chests have been varied into good looking boxes of beautifully tooled leather in maroon, blue and black with matching or contrasting interior padding. Filled with unbreakable chips, these are $28.25. The designer claims these chests, which look like jewel cases, appeal especially to women.

Elephant Bib Sets Help Keep Baby Neat at Table

Keeping baby dainty at meals is a happier task when there's an elephant bib set to assist. Place mat, napkin, and bib ensemble of cotton crash are $2.25 a set, and they can be ordered with any name. One store has these names in stock: Billy, Bobby, Dick, Jackie, Jimmie, Johnnie, Tommy. Other names must be ordered.

SPORTS CLOTHES TO HAVE APPEAL THIS CHRISTMAS

Gifts for Men Returning from War Suggested

Men returning from service, as well as those who have been around all the time, may be feeling the various shortages enough to appreciate some sports clothes this Christmas.

A rayon and wool gabardine shirt, well made and rich looking, would be flattering to most men. It's in a maroon shade and matches the maroon stripes on a gray, sleeveless pullover which would go well with it. The shirt, which is available also in all high colors, is priced at $10. The slipover, a new item this year and made of wool and rabbit's hair, is sold for $7.50. This garment has two pockets and it is made of material that holds its shape.

All Wool Shirt for $12.50

Hound's-tooth check in blue and brown or brown and white is made into an all wool shirt which sells for $12.50. A cardigan sweater, so convenient to get into when a little extra warmth is needed, is a good gift for $11.50. It is a light tan color.

Mukluks, those chamois soled pieces of footwear that look like a case of indecision as to whether they're stockings or slippers, were originally intended to be slip-on warmers for skiers' cold feet. But news travels fast and now they're high on the list of what to give a tired business man for evening foot rest at home. The wool tops are knitted into gay patterns. The price is around $13.

Selections of Socks

Few men are over supplied with good socks. The conservative man should be pleased by selections of imported wools and lisles. A short elastic topped lisle is priced at $2, while a sheer, full fashioned model of half hose with hand clocking costs $2.50. Full fashioned imported wools are sold for $2.95, and there is a range of imported all wools running from $1.50 to $4.85. The last price buys good looking socks handmade in Canada. Also on hand are half hose made in the English style with the fashioned foot seams on the sides.

A LADY'S BOON: TRANSPARENT GARMENT BAGS

An important gift for housewives who take pride in tidy closets are the plastic film garment bags that come in almost every size for every article of apparel. When clothes are encased in these bags, milady can see at a glance what she wants to wear. The transparent bags have metal frames, double hooks, and 36 inch zippers. They are washable and long wearing; in green, rose, or blue colored tops. A 42 inch size, which holds light garments, sells for $3.65. A 60 inch bag, which also holds eight garments, retails at $3.95, and a 16 inch garment bag of 54 inches is sold for $4.50.

Badminton Set Is Gift to Please Entire Family

A badminton set is an ideal gift for the entire family, for it comes complete with rackets for four players, presses for rackets, shuttlecocks, and rules and containers. This set is priced at $15.

Suggestions in Men's Gifts

Top: Brown and white hound's-tooth check shirt of Peruvian alpaca ($12.50) inside wool cardigan sweater ($11.50). Bottom: Maroon rayon and wool gabardine shirt ($10), and new wool and rabbit's hair slipover sweater in gray and maroon stripe ($7.50). At right are mukluks with wool tops and chamois soles ($12.95 a pair).

[TRIBUNE Photo]

He'll don evening clothes with pleasure if he gets such accessories as these as gifts: Top hat, $15 to $20; stick, $10; white capeskin gloves, $3.50; white rayon crepe scarf, $7.50; mother-of-pearl studs and links with gold filled mounts, $5; white pique tie, $1.

SWANKY TABLE MATS TO CHEER MILADY'S HEART

Young couples setting up their own households [if they can find a few rooms for themselves] will need table mats. And the older, busy housewives, who often combine housekeeping with jobs and other activities, appreciate bright, easily cleaned mats for the dining table.

Gay prints on composition paper that cleans by simply wiping with a damp cloth are durable and decorative at 40 cents apiece. Early American lithograph scenes may be had in plastic mats at four for $2.75. Currier and Ives prints at 45 cents each, and another series, showing the wild flowers of Illinois, is on composition paper at four for $1.98. Generous size cotton napkins for the wild flower group are 50 cents each.

A waffle weave cotton set for bridge or tea is edged in eyelet embroidery and includes four napkins for $8.95.

1945 YULE CARDS UNIQUE, JOLLY, AND POPULAR

One of the strongest American traditions is the sending of greeting cards at Christmas time, and early sales this year indicate that the practice is increasingly popular. With so many families and friends separated by the war or by war conditions, greeting cards achieved new importance in conveying from one to another the heartiest of good wishes.

Numerous designs adorn new Christmas cards. Scenic designs are great favorites with shoppers who prefer a quiet dignity in their greeting. Others select cleverly designed cards with Santa Claus, animal cartoons, or alleged self-portraits to carry their Merry Christmas salutations.

Cheerful Sketches, Jolly Verse

Again high on the list of favorites are the cheerful sketches of children, angels, or pixies that ornament several popular lines of Christmas cards. The accompanying verses usually are comparable.

Many amateur photographers are making their own Christmas cards this year, using snapshots of baby or self-photographs to illustrate the greetings. Others are writing Christmas notes on special note paper, while still others are designing their own cards on bright colored paper and with contrasting ink.

There still are two schools of thought whether to have names printed on Christmas cards. Those who favor having the names engraved or printed argue that it gives the cards more distinction, more dignity. Besides, they say, it is so much easier than to pen them.

Here's Another View

The other school contends that cards should be carefully chosen for each recipient and that the sending of Christmas greetings is important enough to demand a signature on each card.

One popular box of 21 cards contains a selection in which each card depicts a Christmas tradition. The box sells for $1, as does another selection of character studies, consisting of a unique collection of little characters that every one will love. The French-old cards are deckedged and have colored borders.

Washable table mat of composition paper (40 cents). Many patterns are available.

KNEE WARMERS, BEDSOCKS NEW FOR CHRISTMAS

Cold feet will be unknown to the woman or girl who wakens Christmas morning to find that some one has given her a pair of bedsocks.

Knit topped, soft leather soled slipper-socks make for new warmth at college snack sessions where informality is the rule. One pair, with gayly colored full-knit tops retails at $2.95, while another type with more intricate decoration is being sold for $3.95.

And once in bed, feet would be warm in knitted bedsocks that sell for $2.95, even if the furnace did go out early one winter morning. These bedsocks are popular among many college girls for wear under rubber boots during heavy rain or snowstorms.

Another dual use bedsock is one of pastel fine knit that now is selling at one department store for $1.15. They keep feet warm in bed, as well as in mocassins or saddle shoes when they serve as bobby socks. A lower priced foot warmer is this pair that has 100 per cent cotton backs and has an inside of 50 per cent wool and 50 per cent rayon. They sell for $1 a pair.

Knees no longer will be chapped by cold winter winds if the bobby-socks wearing college or high school girl receives a pair of fine knitted knee warmers for Christmas. The warmers come in a natural color and retail at $1.15.

Boxing gloves for boys

Boxing gloves are a choice gift for very young men. Four gloves for boys from 6 to 10 years are priced at $8.50, and at $9 for boys from 10 to 15 years.

WAR YEARS SPUR HAPPY ART OF LETTER WRITING

The last few years, attended by war, have scattered families and close friends into far places and thereby revived for many the happy art of letter writing. Christmas stationery is beautiful and practical.

For the Chicagoan or the visitor who would like a handsome and useful souvenir, there is a box of paper decorated by engraved scenes of the city. There are five subjects—the Art institute, the Jackson park yacht basin, the aquarium and planetarium, Buckingham fountain, and a garden setting in Lincoln park. There are five sheets of each of the five subjects. This box is $2.50.

Prices Range from $1 to $10

Another ensemble is a box of note and letter size paper in pale blue with white hand border. It is sold for $2.50. Good assortments of stationery are priced from $1 to $10.

Boxes of Christmas note paper, which is becoming increasingly popular, are priced at 50 cents, $1, and $2.50. These are decorated with engraved inscriptions, borders, and Christmas motifs.

A pickup gift in the stationery line is a telephone users' doodle pad. Sixteen pages of unfinished doodles challenge the veteran doodler's skill in finishing them. There is space for telephone messages. The price is 75 cents.

Come in Four Sizes

Address books are priced from $1 to $7.50. The top figure brings a looseleaf book. The little records are leather bound and come in four sizes. Scrapbooks, perhaps, have never been so full as in recent years, and once people have the habit of keeping them, they don't give up easily. Good looking leatherette scrapbooks are $1 and $2, and a group of leather covered ones are $4 and up.

Fountain pens are back for Christmas, and a popular set comes at $14.75 for pen and pencil and another at $64 for the two articles.

MEN'S FORMAL WEAR BACK IN LIMELIGHT FOR HOLIDAY SEASON

The busy war time days that made business suits proper for any occasion are apparently over if the displays of men's formal wear are true indications. Top hats and white ties have come out of the packing boxes and into the showcase lights.

Despite their protests, many men enjoy formal clothes, and one Christmas idea would be to see that their formal wardrobes are filled out. White capeskin gloves are available at $3.50. Handsome white rayon scarves of crepe are $7.50. A white pique tie is $1.

Studs and links of mother-of-pearl with gold filled borders come at $5 for the set. A stick pin may be had for $5, $7, or $10. A top hat is $15 or $20.

TOYLAND GIFTS HELP PROMOTE SELF RELIANCE

'Do It Yourself' Types Prove Popular

Self reliance is the theme of almost every section of department store toylands, whether the specialty is marionettes or construction sets.

Sales clerks in toylands say that the popularity of the "do it yourself" type of toy is largely due to its use for teaching skills and coordination.

Very young ladies may learn to be tidy housewives with the junior laundry sets that will help them to keep their dolls' clothes clean. The sets range from about $1 upward. A typical laundry outfit, which retails for $1.98, includes a washtub, washboard, wooden iron with cloth cord, a collapsible ironing board, clothespins, clothes dryer, clothes basket, and a basket stand.

Chemistry Sets in Demand

Chemistry sets long have held a high spot in poplarity among Christmas gifts for boys. The sets, which range from $1 upward and include varying quantities of chemical equipment, are quite professional in appearance and should delight the young scientist. One set that retails at $2.50 includes test tubes, brushes, chemicals, measuring instruments, a test tube rack, and other essential items.

Wooden construction sets, just the thing for making bridges, towers, etc., are especially popular among very young men who own electric or wind-up trains. A typical set retails for $3. Another popular construction set is one which teaches youngsters to weave baskets. All material for the weaving is included in a typical set, retailing for about $2.

Tea Sets of Plastic

Sissy could serve high teas for her dolls with the plastic tea set, including a service for four, which sells for $1.95, and while having fun she can learn the correct way to set a grown-up table. Clerks point to doll dishes, which range from about 69 cents upward, as one of the gifts little girls most like to find under their Christmas tree.

For either boys or girls is the stencil set which retails at $1.19, and includes five crayons, 50 sheets of drawing paper, and 30 two-way stencils. Youngsters can make their own cut-outs with this set or just have fun coloring the stenciled forms.

Little artists delight in a water color set which sells for 50 cents and includes brushes and all the basic colors. For youngsters who show talent a good gift choice is a small set of oil paints. Sets are priced from $2 upward. A child's size easel retails at $2.25.

Sets Vary in Type

Rainy days will be happy days for the child who receives a leathercraft set for Christmas. These sets are sold with equipment which varies in type and may include leather and ties for a coin purse, a billfold, or for colorful leather jewelry. A coin purse set retails for 35 cents. A simple embroidery set, with material for making four napkins and a luncheon cloth for a doll table, sells for 95 cents and would delight the mother of many dolls. With the set goes embroidery thread, embroidery frame, and needles, as well as four sets of pink celluloid eating utensils.

Also a favorite of girls is the little modiste set which includes a model doll, a sewing form, cloth, thread, needles, and patterns. It sells for about $2.79 and is an ideal Yule gift for a 10-14 year old girl who wants her dolls to be the best dressed in the block.

Plane Sets Hold Stage

The popularity of airplane construction sets increases each year among boys of all ages. A simple wood set, on a small scale, sells for 35 cents and is the perfect surprise for a Christmas stocking. For a future air lines executive, the 45 inch wingspan model with an air cooled motor is just the gift to be given by Santa Claus, or by doting parents who have $41 to spend.

The whole family can have fun with a wooden circus that comes in pieces and must be painted and put together. Pert clowns and vicious looking animals can achieve many ridiculous expressions when painted. The boxes in which the set is packed are ready to be turned into sturdy cardboard cages. The set retails at $1.98.

Fancy jewelry can be made by an 8 to 10 year old girl who receives a bead making set for Christmas. The set sells for $1.59 and includes beads of every size and color. For the smaller girl there is a set which sells for the same price, but includes larger beads.

For the convalescent or invalid, no brighter Christmas gift could be found than the junior horticulture set which retails for $1.50. The set includes four brightly painted flower pots, and morning glory gourd and tomato seeds, as well as nutrient chemicals and fertilizer.

NEW DOLLS FILL DREAMS OF ALL LITTLE GIRLS

Prices Start at $1 and Go Way Up

Childhood offers no more delightful experience than that of the little girl who opens her Christmas packages to find a new doll.

Baby doll or grown-up doll, cotton stuffed, or composition, no matter what type of doll she receives, the little miss is excited beyond words at a new addition to her family. Manufacturers have outdone themselves this year to present dolls to fill the dreams of every girl. They have even remembered her little brother, who likes to sleep with something cuddly in his arms.

Quadruplets in Dolls

Tots stand enraptured before the toyland display of doll quadruplets, dressed in soft white flannel nightgowns and nestled in a beribboned bassinet. The complete set, four dolls, bassinet, and clothing, retails for $34.50 and could easily be used as a gift for one lucky little girl or as a present for four little sisters, each of whom could have one of the "quads" for her very own. Any little mother would be happy tending these live-looking baby dolls.

At the other extreme is the grown-up "going to a party" doll, who struts in the adult splendor of a fur cape, formal dancing gown, and other dressed up accessories. She's 22 inches tall and has lifelike closing eyes. The price tag says she sells for $28.95. A highlight of this beauty is her realistic wig.

A Doll Bride

Another dressed-for-a-party doll is a 24 inch tall composition doll in a pastel net formal gown. She has sleeping eyes and a wig. The price is $15.95. A 27 inch tall bride doll is exquisitely garbed for a wedding. Her arrival in a Christmas box would delight the romantic soul of a girl who has just passed her 10th birthday. The retail price of the doll is $28.95.

Not to be ignored are the beautifully made dolls' clothes which are sold in most toy departments for ordinary sized dolls. There are fur coats, ski-suits, sunsuits, party frocks, afternoon dresses, and the loveliest of nightwear. There also are miniature trunks in which the clothes may be packed when the dolls' little mother takes her "children" on a trip to grandma's.

Character Dolls Gain

For older girls or for their mothers are the character dolls which annually gain in popularity as gifts for collectors. The price range of these dolls runs from about $2 well on up the price scale, depending upon the handicraft that went into their making.

Some of the character dolls represent foreign nations. There are dolls dressed in the gay garb of a Mexican peon and in the costume of an El Salvador drummer. Guatemala is represented by a pottery maker, and there are tiny counterparts of Frenchmen, Chinese, and practically every nationality. A highlight of the character doll section is the exhibit of Avis Lee's replicas of famous folk, including Abraham Lincoln and his debating opponent, Stephen A. Douglas. Hetty Green, Annie Oakley are other dolls from the pages of United States history.

Cotton Ones Are Popular

New popularity for cotton stuffed dolls emerged during the war, when material restrictions limited the production even in dolls. Today, the doll that tiny tots snuggle in their arms when they are put into their cribs has achieved new stardom in the hearts of older girls.

There is a pert blond rag doll dressed in overalls, selling for $2.49. The cotton stuffed body is almost lifelike in its softness, and the painted canvas face and yellow yarn hair give it a saucy expression that is irresistible. Another cotton stuffed doll with a canvas face is a cheerful blond-yarn haired doll all dressed up in checked dress, panties, and sunbonnet, with white shoes and socks. She sells for $2.95 and would just about fit the top of a Christmas stocking.

Great Big Dolls, Too

Smaller cotton-stuffed dolls sell for $1, while life-sized stuffed dolls, with gay clothes, yarn wigs, and canvas painted faces sell for a little less than $10. These large dolls are 36 inches tall and certainly would relieve the loneliness of a little girl who yearns for the companionship of another child. This doll could scarcely look more lifelike if she could speak and walk.

For youngsters who live in city apartments and still yearn for landlord-forbidden pets, the gift of a wool alpaca deer would be ideal. This faun-colored deer is 18 inches tall. Hidden within it is a music box that, when wound up, produces the tinkling strains of tunes beloved by children. The 18 inch deer retails for $15.95. Smaller sizes are comparably lower in price.

To Be Cuddled by Toddlers

A 25 inch lamb, just made to be cuddled by toddlers, sells for $17.95, while one of his younger brothers, about 18 inches tall, sells for $6.50. The smaller lamb has pink felt hoofs, ears, and nose, and over his black button eyes is cocked a wreath. These are cozy companions for the youngsters and make perfect properties for camera fans who specialize in photographing their youngsters.

A real sheepskin horse will answer at least one plea from many little boys who want a pony for Christmas. This toy horse already is champing at his make-believe bit to belong to a little cowboy or Indian. It sells for $11 plus 20 per cent excise tax, making a total of $13.20.

Cotton-stuffed elephants, dogs, cats, rabbits, teddy bears, and various other animals still hold an important spot on toy counters. The price range starts at about $1 and there is a toy to suit all tastes and pocketbooks.

WOOLEN GLOVES PROVIDE COLOR FOR CONTRASTS

Glove news for men this year is woolly. The gloves come in assorted colors, and men like them to make bright contrasts with their overcoats. The wools are priced from $1.75 to $3.75. Pigskin and cape leathers are from $4 to $8.50 in one collection, while another store has them, including some Scotch and English imports, in a range from $3.50 to $10. Mufflers are standbys for men's gifts, also. There are imports in this year's collections including one two tone yellow and brown reversible pattern made in Switzerland and priced at $7.50. Scotch plaids are $2.50 and $5 for all wools, and plain scarves made of South American wool are $3.50.

FUR MITTENS, DAINTY, RUGGED, IN ABUNDANCE

Icy winter blasts will have slight terror for the lucky girl or woman who receives warm mittens or gloves for Christmas; the stocks in Chicago stores indicate that the handwear is warmer than ever this year.

Snow white rabbit fur mittens with green or red leather palms add just the right dash to a day time winter ensemble for a member of the younger set. These warm mittens will make happy those who receive them for Christmas. They retail for $2.99. An all-rabbit fur mitten, in white, black, brown, or tan, is perfect for dressier occasions and sells for $3.50.

For school, shopping, or a sleigh ride, the perfect handwear is a fleece lined leather mitt that comes in natural, red, or green. The mittens sell for $1.99 per pair. A sheared sheepskin mitt, rough stitched for that rugged look, is reversible and may be worn with the wool against the hand. Such mitts also are $1.99 per pair.

A gauntlet length mitten of white bunny fur retails at $4. Another popular gift item is a white knit mitten and cap set—$6.50 for the mitts and $3.50 for the beanie type cap.

To Please Girl: Gabardine Jacket, Slacks, and Skirt

A jacket and slack outfit in aqua rayon gabardine comes at $17.95, and a matching skirt completes the all-around costume and costs $7.95. The jacket has the popular cardigan neckline. Schoolgirls, co-eds, and women of all ages would find this an attractive and practical suit.

IT'S NO LONGER A TASK TO FIND GIFTS FOR BABY

A Wide Assortment in Stores This Year

The uncle with a brand new niece or nephew need no longer feel apprehensive about Christmas shopping for his youngest relative.

Department store toylands and baby shops offer a wide assortment of baby gifts, from tiny trinkets for the little one's first Yule stocking to expensive super-gifts of clothing or furniture for the nursery.

Perfect for the bath or for teething of the infant are the brightly colored rubber animals which retail for 10 cents each. A friendly looking dog and a roly-poly pig make a perfect pair of playmates for the little one who soon will see his first Christmas.

Carriage Gymnasium

Another ideal gift for relatives or friends of the baby's parents are the gay carriage gymnasiums which are selling for about $1.50. The vari-colored objects fastened to the gymnasium cord may be attached to baby's buggy, crib, or playpen. They give his eager hands something to clutch at and engage bright eyes that are just recognizing objects.

A rugged gift, beloved by babies and parents alike for its durable qualities, is the oil cloth animal that is being sold this year for about $1. Spring lambs, colts, and other favorite animals are fashioned of white oil cloth especially for babies. The animals can be cleaned with soap and water, a quality greatly desired by mothers who worry about the cleanliness of toys that Sonny throws out of his playpen or carriage.

Less Expensive Gift

One of the less expensive of most popular gifts for baby is the ever beloved ball, this time in heavy celluloid of gay or pastel colors. The ball, which varies in price from about 25 cents to 69 cents depending upon size, contains rattle stones, which enchant the baby as they scratch about the inside surface of the ball.

A more expensive, but important part of baby's growing-up process, is a high chair. Some can be adjusted to serve day time play needs. The chairs, which come in red, blue, or pink leatherette, sell for $18.95 and $21.95.

Proud grandparents could solve two gift problems, that of Christmas and christening, by bestowing on baby his christening robe, which is available in fine batiste, handsome and trimmed in lace. They are priced at $19.95 and $39.95 for the traditionally long dress and matching petticoat. Their appearance marks a return after a war time absence.

HERE ARE GIFTS THAT DELIGHT THE CHILDREN

Nothing delights the hearts of youngsters quite as much as their own junior sized furniture, whether for doll parties or for quiet meals in their own nursery.

Ideal for both purposes is the red topped polished wood table that comes complete with two leatherette upholstered chairs. The set retails for $22.50, and should serve the needs for very young ladies from about 3 to 8 years.

As good for little boys as for their little sisters is the leatherette upholstered rocker, priced at $11. Almost essential is the ever popular blackboard. A typical model, which may be opened into a desk, retails at $3.75. An elephant lamp for the children's room lends delight to going to bed. The lamp sells for $6.95.
